HITLER FLAUNTS MIGHT OF NEW WAR MACHINE

Reviews Army on His 49th Birthday.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 20.—Reichsfuehrer Hitler, described as a military genius by Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, celebrated his 49th birthday today by reviewing Pan-Germany's new armed forces in a parade in Unter den Linden.

The parade disclosed that German military leaders have increased the offensive power of the army and improved its equipment in an attempt to weld it into an efficient machine best adapted for open warfare. Nazi military experts believe open warfare will be the form of future conflicts.

Ten Thousand Men in Parade.

The parade of 10,000 men, 800 horses, and 500 tanks and other military vehicles was led by an Austrian infantry battalion from Linz.

Wearing brand new German uniforms, the Austrians were the only infantrymen who marched in rather lackadaisical cadence. They were not allowed to goosestep like the others. The Germans explained that the Austrians have not been able to master the famous goose step since the annexation of Austria a few weeks ago.

The machine guns of the Austrian battalion were carried by small wiry horses bred in the Austrian Alps. Nazi military leaders asserted the horses are far superior to imported mules hitherto used by the German mountain artillery which from now on will be equipped with the Austrian animals.

The Austrians were followed by German infantry. It was equipped with a new machine gun, the "MG 34" which, with 900 rounds a minute, has double the firing speed of the machine guns used in the past.

Both Light and Heavy Guns.

The Germans claimed the new machine gun is the first two-purpose machine gun introduced into the armies of the world. As a light machine gun it fires from the shoulder with the barrel placed on a forked rest. With a few simple manipulations the forked rest is removed and the gun is placed on a tripod, thus converting it into a heavy machine gun. As such it weighs only a little more than half as much as the old heavy machine gun.

The reduction in weight was achieved partly by the introduction of air cooling instead of the former water jackets. This requires changing the barrel after 250 rounds are fired.

The cavalry regiments, trotting briskly to the snappy tune of an ancient cavalry march, showed that this branch of the service also has been adapted to the requirements of modern warfare.

Cavalry Rides Bicycles.

While only three cavalry regiments in the old sense remain in the army —they are stationed in East Prussia since the conditions of the roads in that region make mounted units indispensable—other cavalry regiments are only partly mounted on horseback. The rest ride bicycles.

Together with armored cars equipped with radio, the mixed cavalry regiments form "reconnaissance groups" of which one is attached to each of Germany's eighteen army corps. In wartime the "reconnaissance groups" are split up among infantry divisions.

Thousands of spectators gasped and then cheered when hundreds of tanks clattered past. Their appearance disclosed that Germany has made tremendous efforts to catch up in tanks, which she was forbidden to build under the Versailles treaty.

Build 18-Ton Tanks.

Previously only light two man tanks armed with two machine guns were shown to the public. Today there appeared medium sized five men tanks which, experts estimated, weighed at least eighteen tons, and perhaps more.

They moved along in a formation like five points on a dice. The tanks were armed on the right side with what appeared to be a 77 millimeter gun on a single pivot. A machine gun protruded on the left side. It is understood Germany will not build larger tanks for the time being.

The Germans maintain that super tanks of seventy or more tons, which have been built by the French and Russians, are nothing but unwieldy "fortresses, useless in open warfare."

12 MILLION IDLE, SENATE TOLD IN RELIEF REPORT

WPA Is Absolved of Waste, Graft.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 20.—[Special.]—A preliminary report of the senate committee on relief and unemployment, filed today by Chairman James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.] estimates that 12 million workers are totally unemployed and that one-seventh of the entire population of the United States, or more than 18 million persons, are receiving public assistance of some kind from the federal, state, and local governments.

The report says the federal government's expenditures for work relief and other forms of public assistance aggregated 2 billion, 891 million dollars in 1937 and 14 billion, 200 million from 1933 to 1937 inclusive.

The preliminary report puts off recommendations for long range relief pending further study and favors reliance for the next several months, perhaps for the entire fiscal year beginning July 1, on the federal, state, and local programs now in operation.

Report Absolves WPA.

Generally speaking, the report absolves the Works Progress administration of graft, waste, and inefficiency, fulfilling Republican predictions that the investigation would be another whitewash, but in many respects it sharply criticizes the Roosevelt administration's relief policies.

The most startling disclosure resulted from an investigation in five large cities, New York, Atlanta, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, and Omaha in which 63 per cent of the WPA workers interviewed admitted having other employment.

The report recommends a restriction on the WPA appropriation for the next fiscal year—President Roosevelt has demanded 1 billion, 250 million dollars for the first seven months —requiring greater and more uniform contributions from local sponsors of WPA projects. Senator Byrnes long has advocated great contributions from local public agencies sponsoring WPA projects and the Roosevelt administration, through Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, has consistently opposed the proposal.

The Byrnes committee urges that in addition to "security" wages, the federal government's share of the cost of WPA projects be limited to $5 per worker per month for materials and supplies.

Two Refuse to Sign.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. [R., Mass.] and Senator James J. Davis [R., Pa.], members of the Byrnes committee, refused to sign the majority report and will express their views in a minority report. Senator Lodge characterized the majority proposal that a long range unemployment and relief program be deferred until conditions are "more normal" as "bankrupt statesmanship."

"It is not going to give much comfort to the millions of unemployed in the United States to be told that nothing can be done for them at this time," said Senator Lodge.

Senator Lodge was not surprised by the committee's gentle handling of the WPA, for his demand that former employés be called and given an opportunity to testify concerning their knowledge of politics in the distribution of relief billions, had been ignored. Senator Byrnes told

Ol' Diz Has a Kind Word for Cubs and Diz

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., April 20.—Dizzy Dean today told the world what he thinks of the Chicago Cubs, Manager Charley Grimm, Trainer Andy Lotshaw—and himself. His announcements were issued from the rubbing table in the Cubs' dressing room after his $185,000 arm had won its first victory for his new teammates.

In his monolog Dizzy demonstrated that his oratorical powers haven't been affected in the least by his new environment.

"I knew I was right today as soon as I started to warm up," he said. "Garbark was catching me. He had to go over to the dugout and get a sponge for his glove. And by the way—did you see Ole Diz hit that one in the second? Well, that's one game in the bag and now I need 29 more. I'm going to win 30 this year, just to show some of these guys who said I was through."

What a Manager!

A reference to Grimm yanking him after the sixth inspired him to new heights of approbation.

"Charley Grimm is the only manager in baseball who'd take me out of a game like that to give me a rest. He's the greatest manager in the game."

[At a luncheon given for the Reds Monday, Dean had referred to Bill McKechnie of Cincinnati as the greatest manager in the game.]

"I'll be all set to start Sunday in Chicago," Dizzy went on. "And will I show them something there? I only used my fast one twice today—and each time the catcher had it before the batter swung. Both of those pitches were for strikeouts."

What a Ball Club!

Dizzy grew expansive under the influence of his own oratory and included his teammates in his eulogy. "What a ball club these Cubs are! What a ball club! I don't see how you can lose if they hit like that all the time. They're the greatest bunch I've ever been with. Why, they pulled fielding plays out there behind me today that the Cardinals couldn't learn to make in a hundred years. Billy Herman came up with two that would have been sure hits in St. Louis."

Dizzy seemed afraid he'd leave somebody out of his panegyric.

"This," he announced while old Doc Lotshaw prodded and punched, "is the best rub I've ever had. You'd never get a treatment like this in St. Louis. This old arm will be O. K. now. Doc will see to that."

"How does it happen they gave you No. 22," someone put in sarcastically. "Did they figure that was about your caliber?"

Dizzy rose to the challenge.

"Naw," he said. "My fast one looks like a .22 bullet when it goes by the batter."

LADIES, PREPARE FOR VERY WORST—WALLY HAS BOBBED HER HAIR

New York, April 20.—[Special.]—The duchess of Windsor has bobbed her hair.

Duchess of Windsor.

That's the news received by a New York woman today in a letter from Porter Woodruff, American artist. Mr. Woodruff wrote that at a Paris studio dinner given for the duke and duchess by George Sebastian, he saw the bob himself.

Word that the former Wallis Warfield has cut off her long locks will come as a shock to American women who have spent months letting their hair grow so they could imitate her style of hair dress. It's one of the fads which swept the country, along with Wally hats, Wally sandals, Wally purses, Wally scarfs, and Wally jackets.

The Wally coiffure led the list. Her long, smooth, softly waved tresses, knotted at the back of her slim neck, were the envy of thousands of women. Hairdressers burned the midnight oil finding ways to make their customers' hair look like that of the duchess.

Retired Minister Father at 76; Also Has Son, 3

Omaha, Neb., April 20.—[Special.]—The Rev. William D. Stambaugh, 76 years old, Richfield, Neb., retired Methodist minister, and his third wife, 35, are parents of a son born here Monday. The father hasn't seen the child yet, because he has to stay home and care for his other son, Jacob Douglas, 3 years old; Mrs. Stambaugh's two boys, 5 and 7, by her first marriage, and his goats and chickens.

Nazis Send 10 to Hospitals in N.Y. Bund Riot

New York, April 20.—[Special.]—Rioting at the Yorkville casino, on the upper east side where the German-American bund, Nazi organization in this country, was staging a celebration of Chancellor Adolf Hitler's 49th birthday, resulted in the injury of ten persons tonight and the calling of police reserves to protect the meeting.

The latter action was necessary because a large crowd in the street outside the casino, incensed at the sight of the injured persons being brought to the street, sought to rush the assemblage.

All of the injured were wearing overseas caps similar to those worn by American Legionnaires.

Uniformed "storm troopers," on duty in the hall, were blamed by police for the injury of the ten men taken to hospitals.

Picket Lines Gather.

Before the meeting started a large group of pickets who said they were members of the German-American Workers club and of the Young Patriots of the United States appeared in front of the casino. A large throng gathered to watch the pickets.

The casino was filled to capacity, the crowd being estimated at 3,500 persons. Gustave J. Elmer, the chairman, had called the gathering to order. Gray shirted "storm troopers" held posts commanding the aisles and the first speaker, Otto Wegener, proceeded.

Wegener had praised the German seizure of Austria and was demanding that President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull regard Anschluss as an accomplished fact. Then a man rose, shouting at the speaker: "Is this an American or a German meeting?"

Urged On in German.

Cries in German and English, of which the principal one appeared to be "throw him out," rose from the audience. Several "storm troopers" moved in and then a group estimated to number 100 stood up, donning the blue overseas caps of Legionnaires.

A free for all fight developed. Observers noted gray shirted arms rising and falling, wielding blackjacks. The group in overseas caps gave way, fighting their way to the doors, where some were ejected. Finally the entire group reached the street.

Art Institute Shows Tribune Color Photos

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Victory won over the withering words "Boss, it can't be done!" is brilliantly represented by an exhibition of newspaper color photography which Art institute curators are hanging in the museum's beautiful Blackstone hall.

That newspaper color photography is to be exhibited in a great museum whose standards are as lofty as are the Art institute's is history of cheering significance to art craftsmen the world over.

Brushed Aside Before.

It could not have happened five years ago, for the blunt reason that curators brushed aside most of the attempts in that field as "too awful for words."

But now the Art institute makes hearty recognition of the victory over "Boss-it-can't-be-done." Its bulletins on impending exhibitions are never a ballyhoo of excessive enthusiasm, a fact which makes its announcement decidedly significant. The show will open in Blackstone hall next Sunday, and will continue until May 14.

Praised as Pioneer.

Here are phrases from the bulletin: "Exhibition to reveal the marvelous advance in color photography. . . . THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has been a pioneer in this field, securing the finest and most advanced technical equipment which an ever changing market offered. The result of its work is shown in the product of its own studios in the Tribune Tower. . . . Because of recent improvements in high speed photography, moving objects are now being successfully photographed in color—an achievement that was impossible a few years ago. . . . THE TRIBUNE color pictures cover a wide range of subjects, and more than a score of prints of these will be shown in Blackstone hall."

Falls Into Museum Field.

That is how emphatically the institute rallies to a development on which THE TRIBUNE has been working for 20 years.

"I think," said Charles Fabens Kelley, assistant director of the institute, dean of its art school and curator of its department of oriental art, "that it is a function of the institute to interest itself and its visitors in quality production and to encourage people who are trying to produce a finer type of work in any field that comes within the range of the graphic arts.

"From the point of view of newspaper color work THE TRIBUNE examples which the institute is to exhibit are far ahead of anything hitherto done in this new and difficult field."

Mr. Kelley speaks from abundant experience.

"I have," he continued, "worked

JUDGE TO HEAR STORY TODAY IN KNIFE KILLING

School Chums Aid in Defense Plea.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Theodore Danielsen Jr., 16 years old, will take the witness stand in Criminal court today to tell his own story of how and why he stabbed his mother to death. His testimony will be the climax of a trial which Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington, who is hearing the murder case without a jury, said is without a counterpart in books of law.

The trial opened yesterday morning, the state calling thirteen witnesses in a rapid presentation of the evidence before it rested in midafternoon. The defense then began putting its own witnesses on the stand.

Blame Impulse for Killing.

Although a plea of not guilty has been entered, defense attorneys conceded the truth of the tragic story of the murder as told by the state witnesses. The defense contends that young Danielsen gave way to "an irresistible impulse" when he plunged a bread knife into his mother's throat last March 3 in their home at 5316 Lieb avenue.

The first day's testimony was marked by an important ruling by Judge Harrington in favor of the defense. This followed Assistant State's Attorney Morris G. Meyers' objection to defense testimony to the effect that the victim, Mrs. Eleanor Danielsen, 47 years old, crippled by a paralytic stroke, was "given to uncontrolable tantrums."

"This is a novel situation," the court said. "I do not believe you can find its counterpart in the law books. I will allow such testimony on the theory that inheritance of defects [by the boy from the mother] might later become a matter for expert testimony."

Father to Testify Today.

The boy's father, a small bespectacled man, also will testify today. After the slaying Danielsen defended his boy with the cry, "He's all I have left," and yesterday they sat side by side with hands clasped. The elder Danielsen betrayed no emotion except sympathy for his son. Occasionally he clamped his jaws grimly as details of the killing were heard.

The defense announced that it will call as its last witness Dr. Harry G. Hoffman, head of the Criminal court behavior clinic. During the investigation of the slaying he examined young Danielsen and reported that he is normal. Both the state and defense agreed on this point.

Tears, Laughter in Court.

Tears and, strangely, laughter marked the varied testimony yesterday. The tears glittered in Danielsen's eyes and those of women neighbors of the family when the coroner's physician told in technical detail the condition of Mrs. Danielsen's body. The laughter came over the ingenuous testimony of the boy's playmates.

Young Danielsen was the picture of dejection in court. He sat slumped in an armchair at the table in front of the judge's bench, his eyes cast down as he made an effort to repress his sobs.

High School Pupils Attend.

In the courtroom audience of more than 200 persons were 120 high school pupils, members of three civics classes at Morgan Park high school. Their teacher, Edward Meyers, said the occasion was the field trip to the Criminal courts made once each semester so the pupils might see how justice is administered to juveniles charged with felonies.

The school girls, clad in bright sweaters and skirts, many of them wearing socks in place of stockings, and boys, some of whom had wide bat-wing ties, presented a striking contrast to Danielsen. Each time court was recessed for a few minutes, there was a wave of chatter from the pupils. Danielsen did not look at them.

Meyers Outlines Case.

The state's opening statement was made by Prosecutor Meyers.

"This boy had been a truant from his school for a total of ten weeks since last fall," he said. "On March 3, he returned home about 3:30 o'clock. He and his mother were alone in the house. He had been taking piano lessons and his mother was intensely interested in his progress.

"She went into the kitchen and he followed. He began to tell her of his truancy. She became enraged, shook him violently and scratched his face. He said something, what it was is not known. She had been baking a pie and there was a large knife on the table.

"It will be proved that the defendant took the knife and plunged it into her breast and neck. She collapsed and fell to the floor.

Washes Off Finger Prints.

"She was still alive when this defendant walked over and took the knife out, walked to the sink and washed it off. After he had thus removed the finger prints, he again plunged the knife into her neck and left the knife protruding when he went out."

Danielsen's thirty page confession, each page corrected and initialed by him, was received in evidence and then the procession of state's witnesses began. There were six policemen who testified as to the finding of the body and the taking of the confession. The proprietor and clerk of the Lindy hotel at 551 Madison street told of Danielsen registering there an hour and a half after the slaying, and of his arrest there the next morning.

Gasps at Sight of Knife.

As the ten inch kitchen knife, with dried blood on it, was given in evidence, Danielsen drew in his breath, then moistened his lips. He nervously passed his hand over his smooth blond hair when the hotel register was handed to the court.

Three neighbors testified, telling of the finding of the body and of seeing the boy leave the house about 4 p. m. carrying two lether grips, which he had packed with clothing and some mementos.

Max Behm, 5318 Lieb avenue, a bookbinder, was one of the neighbor witnesses.

"When I entered the Danielsen home with the father, and he pointed to his wife's body, the knife was stuck in her throat," Behm said. "I had him by the arm; he was very shaky. Mr. Danielsen went around looking for a note, because he thought she had committed suicide."

Defendant Covers Face.

At this the defendant raised a handkerchief to his face. He squeezed his father's hand so hard that his knuckles showed white.

Testimony by the coroner's physician, Dr. Paul Schmitt, that Mrs. Danielsen evidently had been strangled as well as stabbed made the boy flinch again. And he averted his gaze when a policeman held up official photographs showing the lifeless form on the kitchen floor.

The state rested in midafternoon. There had been no objections and little cross-examination from the defense.

Then began the defense attempt to construct a pattern of testimony showing some of the psychological angles upon which it depends to win lenience for Danielsen. The psychiatrist, Dr. Hoffman, listened intently. The court had ruled that witnesses might hear all testimony.

Playmates Tell of Sports.

First were Theodore's playmates. They testified that he had been active in most sports. He had more sports equipment than any other boy in their Jefferson Park neighborhood, they said, because his father is a sporting goods salesman.

Piano practice, compulsory over a period of years at his mother's command, was a special point in the defense pattern.

"He had to practice every day," said John Bredesen, 15 years old, 5301 Ludlam avenue. "Yes, he had to go home and practice even if he was playing ball. He never complained about it, though. His mother made us stop our games in his basement to hear special music on the radio."

A moment later, Defense Attorney Leonard C. Reid touched on the subject of truancy.

"Did you ever skip school?" he asked Bredesen.

"You don't have to answer that," Judge Harrington told the youth.

Tells All About It.

"Three days, sir," Bredesen replied, notwithstanding the exemption.

There were guffaws as he went on to say that he had answered the telephone when his teacher called, but that he failed to recognize her voice. She spoke to his mother, who sent him to his father's office. He said he had not played hookey again.

A smaller boy, also dressed in his Sunday best, took the stand. He was Thomas Prost, 12 years old, 5322 Lieb avenue.

"Yes, sir, he got in scraps sometimes," Thomas said. "He didn't fight unless an argument got hot, though. Yes, sir, he fought with his fists."

Mother Calls Off Lessons.

Mrs. Maude Bredesen, John's mother, testified that she had so admired Theodore's piano playing that she got the name of his teacher from Mrs. Danielsen.

"My two boys didn't want to practice, though, so I finally dropped it," she said.

Matthias Prost, Thomas' father, commended Theodore's character from the witness stand. The boy was "kind to little children and loved his dog," he said. He was impressed because Theodore had used only soft snowballs in a snow fight with his 9 year old daughter.

Hears Screams in Home.

"Sometimes I heard arguments in the Danielsen home, with the husband urging his wife to calm herself," said Alfred Timmerman, 5225 Ludlam avenue, a bank teller. "She would be screaming. Several times when the boy did not obey his mother immediately, she tapped him with her cane."

Max Behm, recalled to testify for the defense, said Theodore had to practice at the piano two hours a day. The mother was "very, very excitable" and her voice often sounded nearly hysterical, he said.

This led to the state's objections about such testimony and the court's ruling for the defense.

IRENE RESTORES PASTORAL CALM DOWN ON FARM

Mrs. McLaughlin Settles Fight Over Cows.

Lake county's great cow controversy was settled yesterday after an eighty minute wrangle during which every one lost his temper except the cows. They were so bewildered they didn't even recognize their friend, Irene Castle McLaughlin. But this may have been because they had never seen her in riding pants before.

To refresh the memory, Mrs. McLaughlin on Apri. 2 filed charges of cruelty to animals against August Hinterberg, 70 years old, whose farm is on state route 22 near Lake Forest. She accused him of neglecting his nineteen cows, two bulls, and two horses.

A justice of the peace suggested that Hinterberg dispose of the diseased and more scrawny of his stock, keeping only such healthy ones as he was able to care for. He straightway made a deal with Angelo Menoni, Highland Park business man, who agreed to pay $215 for eleven of the best animals.

Gets Worst of Deal.

Mrs. McLaughlin told Hinterberg he had been done wrong, and he refused to deliver. Menoni replevined the cows and Mrs. McLaughlin replevined them right back again. Then every one agreed to meet yesterday at Hinterberg's farm at 11 a. m. and talk it over.

At that hour on the Hinterberg place were Menoni and his lawyer, Paul Behanna, eleven newspaper people, Mr. Hinterberg, and the stock. A call to Mrs. McLaughlin brought the ultimatum that she wouldn't appear until the newspaper people had gone. They therefore took their departures.

Mrs. McLaughlin appeared presently in her riding breeches and smiled cheerily at Mr. Menoni, who did not smile back. He was ready to pay $215 and no more, he said. And he'd pay that only if he got the cows he wanted. Mrs. McLaughlin said to pick out the ones he hoped to get.

Mrs. McLaughlin Starts Flight.

It was while this was going on that Mrs. McLaughlin looked up and saw the newspaper people. They had gone only as far as the bushes that skirted the road. She started to dash across the field, only pausing—while she climbed a fence—to call back that she was going home. The reporters gallantly withdrew for good.

Mr. Menoni now appeared to soften a bit and offered to pay $25 more, if he could have the two bulls and the nine good cows he originally bought. This was finally agreed to and the contract was signed.

Mrs. McLaughlin said she would withdraw the cruelty charges against Hinterberg.

Pioneering Recognized in Coming Exhibit.

on international photograph juries, and in my opinion THE TRIBUNE examples set new standards. Their artistic quality is surprisingly high and their variety good. I find in them a remarkably broad color scale—a wider range of hues and tones than have been attempted previously in color photography by a newspaper."

Like the bulletin, Mr. Kelley emphasized, "the wide range of subjects" in THE TRIBUNE color pictures which he has selected for the Blackstone hall exhibition.

Subject Range Wide.

Wide, indeed, that range is. We give the titles of his selections:

Edwin Abbey's "Galahad the Deliverer" from that painter's series of murals entitled "The Quest of the Holy Grail," in the Boston Public library.

Delacroix's "Abduction of Rebecca," which hangs in the Metropolitan museum, New York.

Four floral pieces depicting white oak blossoms, white hawthorn, red trillium, and "Spring Beauties."

Four motion picture players—Myrna Loy, Norma Shearer, Carole Lombard, and Bing Crosby.

Marion Claire of grand opera.

Sonya Osato of the ballet.

A colonial gown.

A Queen Anne gown.

Two studies of contemporaneous fashions.

Bathing girls.

Abbott dancing girls.

Expects to Add More.

Mr. Kelley expects to add a few more TRIBUNE examples to this list before the exhibition closes.

He was candid about his rejections. "I told THE TRIBUNE," he said, "why I didn't like the things I rejected. Sometimes the registering of the colors did not meet the institute's demands, and sometimes—more especially in the reproduction of masterpieces of painting—THE TRIBUNE'S palette was not in complete exactitude with the palette of the painter.

"The reproduction of the Delacroix, I should add, is very good. Its quality is faithfulness."

All of Mr. Kelley's selections are familiar to TRIBUNE readers through appearance from Sunday to Sunday on the first page of the rotogravure section of the paper.

Calls Movie Stars Difficult.

Of the color pictures of motion picture notables Mr. Kelley said:

"The most difficult being to get a good picture of is a movie star because they are so self-conscious. Your color photographers have more amenable subjects when they go to a live stock show. There they find a grand repose. Nevertheless they have produced some effective color photographs of the petted darlings—I believe that is the phrase—of the movies."

Dean Kelley was sympathetic about the handicaps which THE TRIBUNE'S color men have overcome.

"I think," he said, "that, in addition to resourceful men, you must have some of the most remarkable color cameras in the world. As to the handicaps, the men, owing to news demands which often preclude leisurely work in a studio, have to fight sudden variations in temperature and humidity. In view of that alone, their results are astonishing.

Speaks of Difficult Conditions.

"Of course it is not fair to compare newspaper color reproduction with some of the reproductions obtained by some magazines which have smaller and slower 'runs,' costlier paper, and a finer screen.

"All this makes the exhibition which the institute opens on Sunday doubly interesting and instructive—yes, and inspiring. Color photographers are eagerly awaiting it—and color photography has many devotees in Chicago."

GOV. EARLE MUM ON IMPEACHMENT THREATS OF FOES

Admits Loans of $30,000 from State Contractor.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., April 20.—[Special.]—Charges of widespread graft and corruption in the public works spending program, with Gov. George H. Earle as the storm center, dwarfed all other issues today as the Pennsylvania primary campaign entered its final month.

Earle, who is campaigning for the Democratic nomination for senator, discussed the seriousness of the situation with his leaders in Philadelphia tonight. He chose not to reply to demands of G. Edward Green, chairman of the state Republican committee, that he resign or be impeached.

The governor admitted yesterday that he enjoyed loans totaling $30,000 from Mathew H. McCloskey, building contractor and co-leader of the Philadelphia Democratic forces. McCloskey obtained contracts totaling $9,793,700, or 30 per cent of all the general construction work awarded by the state authority of which Earle was the head.

Earle and Guffey Break.

Airing of this financial reciprocity is an outgrowth of the bitter warfare between Gov. Earle and Senator Joseph F. Guffey, formerly the Damon and Pythias of the Pennsylvania Democratic organization.

Guffey, on the senate floor in Washington this afternoon, took a pot shot at his erstwhile bosom pal when he asked that Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes inquire into the mess. As public works administrator, Ickes poured millions of easy money into the state, a part of which eventually trickled into McCloskey's pockets.

Guffey's slate of candidates, whose campaign appears to have been aided materially by the loan revelation, are Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia for senator and Thomas Kennedy, secretary treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, for governor. The ticket is backed by John L. Lewis, czar of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Earle's running mate for governor against this C. I. O. slate is Charles A. Jones, a Pittsburgh lawyer.

Myth of Wealth Is Exploded.

The common impression that Earle was a man of great wealth and would not need to borrow money was spiked when persons close to his affairs stated that the governor had suffered losses in the declining stock market from time to time and that the terms of his father's will limited his supply of ready cash.

The governor's father, George H. Earle Jr., a lawyer and financier, left an estate appraised at $13,000,000 when he died in 1928. The bulk of this was tied up in a trust, divided into ten parts.

Earle's mother receives the income from five parts of the estate, the remainder going to the five children in equal parts. Thus the governor has been receiving the income from one tenth of his father's trust. According to terms of the will, Earle cannot touch any of the principal, which continues until twenty-one years after the death of his father's last surviving grandchild.

In the opinion of seasoned political observers here, the McCloskey loans, along with Earle's admission that he received them, spells the end to the incipient boom for the governor as a 1940 presidential candidate. There also is conviction in some quarters that the Democrats will not be able to patch up their differences by fall and that the Republicans will recapture the state.

ZOO NAMES BOY BABOON AURORA; IS HIS FACE RED?

A new baby of such brilliant coloring that it was named Aurora was born yesterday to Chief and Sis, mandrill baboons at the Chicago Zoological park in Brookfield.

From the beginning the choice of a name seemed perfect, for Aurora was the goddess of the morning and the baby baboon is as colorful as the dawn's early light. Its nose ridge is a vivid scarlet, with on either side four parallel cheek ridges of a brilliant blue. And behind it is equally colorful.

But then Aurora was found to be a male baboon. Zoo officials frowned, sighed, mused, and cratched their heads, and announced firmly that gender be hanged, Aurora was the only name for him.

"We were a little premature in naming it," apologized Robert Bean, assistant director, "but we think the name still suitable."

Quizzed in Crash

(Story in adjoining column.)

Mrs. Olive Brown, widow of Russell Brown, official of Hoagland & Allum brokerage company, who was found dead a few days before crash. She was questioned as to his bank account yesterday.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Mrs. Esther Brown, acquaintance of another official of the brokerage firm, also was questioned as the investigation of the crash continued.

TWO PUT TRUST IN BROKER FIRM; REVEAL LOSSES

Seek Indictment of Three Officials Today.

As investigators continued yesterday to search the books of the ruined Hoagland & Allum Company, Inc., two more victims who lost their fortunes in the crash told how they had been received by officers of the firm.

Meanwhile Assistant State's Attorney Vernon Thompson was preparing to present evidence to the grand jury today against the three surviving partners, George F. Allum, president; Henry A. Engel, secretary-treasurer, and Olaf Andrew Larsen, vice president. Another vice president, Russell W. Brown, was found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning in his garage a week ago.

Near Breakdown After Loss.

One of the victims who talked is Herman O. Swanson, 43 years old, 4722 North Leamington avenue. According to his attorney, Charles Waldman, Swanson is near a nervous breakdown because of his loss of $79,422.

"Engel bought bonds for me as early as 1922," said Swanson. "Our first big deal, however, was in 1932, when he purchased and delivered $25,000 worth of bonds. Later he suggested trades and I agreed. I never saw any of my securities after that. I was even persuaded to cash in an annuity fund worth $19,762."

Another loser was Mrs. Anna Schick, 70 years old, 441 Briar place, whose $20,000, inherited at the death of her husband, has disappeared.

"Mr. Allum told me once," she said, "that he wished he could find somebody who'd take as good care of his money as he was taking of mine."

Losses Approach $750,000.

Estimates of the total losses of the investors whose stocks and bonds and cash are missing were still between $725,000 and $750,000. Auditors for the Securities Exchange commission and the state's attorney said that securities which the partners have admitted selling without authority were worth about $675,000 and that approximately $60,000 in cash, due to the clients, also was gone.

Assets of the firm are negligible, it was said. Peter B. Carey, receiver appointed by the federal court, said that the office furniture is worth about $1,000. There was no indication, he added, that the total assets would be sufficient to cover the cost of the receivership.

The investigators have announced their belief in the story that the customers' money was used to cover the costs of operating the brokerage firm during a five year period of steady losses. The annual rent and expenses on offices in New York and Chicago was $80,000, and salaries, including those of the officials, about $110,000.

During the day assistant state's attorneys questioned Mrs. Russell W. Brown, who said that her husband had no appreciable assets when he died, and Mrs. Esther Brown, 1835 Juneway terrace, who had been mentioned in an anonymous letter as a close friend of Larsen. The second Mrs. Brown convinced the investigators she was only an acquaintance of Larsen. She attributed the letter to spite.

SPANISH REBELS PUSH NEW DRIVE TO WIN VALENCIA

Two Columns Move South Toward Castellon.

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], April 20.—(AP)—Generalissimo Franco's Galician troops in a surprise attack tonight captured Albocacer, the government field headquarters for northern Castellon province.

Albocacer is only 26 miles north of Castellon de Plana, the largest coastal city between Valencia and Tarragona.

The Galician troops captured the hamlet of Tirig and then moved across the fields to Albocacer. They struck from the northwest, finding only a small garrison, which quickly surrendered or fled into the hills.

Lengthen Hold on Coast.

The southward drive along the Mediterranean coast was launched by an inland column which advanced ten miles from Salsadella to Albocacer and a coastal column of Italians and Spaniards moving southward from Peniscola toward Alcala de Chisvert. Alcala is 20 miles from Castellon and 63 from Valencia.

The rebels now have widened to 38 miles the strip of coastline they hold which separates Catalonia from the rest of loyalist Spain.

Rebel Flag at Frontier.

PERPIGNAN, France [At the Spanish Frontier], April 20.—(AP)—Red and gold banners of the Spanish rebels were hoisted over two more frontier posts on the French border today, giving Gen. Francisco Franco possession of nine out of the twelve main passes between France and Spain.

These posts were at Portillon hill, at the western edge of the Aran valley, and Pont du Roi, the main frontier pass in the valley.

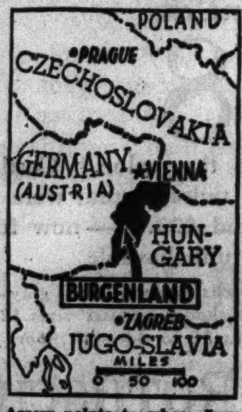
Gen. Solchaga's rebel troops, fresh from their easy conquest of the Aran valley, found that their next objective would be the hardest of the Aragon and Catalonian drives.

Government sources estimated 25,000 loyalist militiamen were assembled near Seo de Urgel to bar Solchaga's way to the vital mountain gate of Puigcerda, 26 miles to the east and north.

Rebels said Solchaga's army, reinforced by troops from the Saragossa base, numbered less than 15,000, but was better equipped and disciplined than the government forces.

AUSTRIAN JEWS FLEE NAZIS; HUNT A SAFE SHELTER

VIENNA, April 20.—(AP)—Hundreds of bewildered Jews from Burgenland province were on the move in border regions east of here tonight, thankful for a night's shelter wherever they might find it, but gloomily apprehensive of the morrow.



Arrow points to where Jews are in flight.

One group of about two dozen was reported to have found refuge aboard a French tugboat in the Danube. Others felt they were temporarily safe on the borderland estate of Prince Elemer Lonyay, at the point where German Austria, Hungary, and Czechoslovakia meet. About 100 were reported there.

Still others, finding themselves unwelcome in Czechoslovakia or Hungary, were trudging back across the border into Germany. Reports from private sources in Burgenland indicated that about 1,500 Jews have left the province within the last week. About 1,000 of them fled to Vienna because of anti-Jewish action. These seemed to fare better on the whole than those who crossed the border—either voluntarily or from Nazi compulsion.

STALIN ORDERS END OF RUSSIAN FARMER PURGES

Edict Viewed as Move to Insure Grain Crop.

MOSCOW, April 20.—(AP)—Josef Stalin today forbade further purging of collective farmers in what some foreign circles regarded as a move to assure production of a bumper grain crop.

The order, one of the sharpest ever to issue from the Kremlin, bluntly prohibited purges in collective farms under any pretext whatsoever.

How widely expulsion of peasants from farms had affected agriculture was not disclosed, but the order indicated many had been turned out by the farms' administrative officials for unsatisfactory work or merely at the command of the farms' chairman.

Fines to Replace Mass Purges.

Such drastic punishment of recalcitrant peasants was forbidden in the future except in extraordinary cases of incorrigibles. Hereafter public reprimands, fines, and transfers to other jobs will be the penalties.

Stalin's order declared much harm had been done by mass expulsion of peasants from farms for trivial reasons on the pretext of purging them as hostile elements.

Foreign experts who have studied the history of collectivization have found the peasants at first were reluctant to give up title to their land under the program to bring agriculture under government control.

In their resistance to the program, many had refused to grow more than enough food for their own use. Because short crops had left peasants without grain stocks, foreign reports of the final collectivization drive in 1933 say millions of peasants starved to death.

243,700 Collective Farms.

Those who escaped the famine, which took from 2,000,000 to 7,000,000 lives, were herded quickly into collective farms. Now there are 243,700 such farms, employing 93 per cent of all peasants and covering 99.1 per cent of the cultivated area, according to official reports.

With spring grain seeding lagging 13,000,000 acres behind the area planted last year, two other orders were issued, apparently to inspire collective farmers to strive for better crops.

One required that at least 60 per cent of the cash income of the farms must be distributed among the farmers. It had been found that collective farm boards had been spending funds excessively for administrative purposes and capital improvements, so that in some provinces farmers last year failed to receive any cash.

The second order was designed to prevent tax evasions by individual peasants [outside collective farms].

RUMANIA SEIZES GUNS IN PLOT TO OVERTHROW KING

Police Continue Raids on Iron Guards.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 20.—(AP)—Rumanian authorities, determined to stamp out an "Iron Guard insurrection" before the orthodox Easter next Sunday, tonight continued a nation-wide roundup of supicious characters. Already a total of 1,800 arrests have been made.

In the Transylvania community of Boz, police found stores of arms on several farms. In Bucharest, officers searched taverns and cafes for persons on a list of suspects.

A commission of jurists started consideration of evidence and promised speedy release of those who had no direct knowledge of the plot to capture King Carol and set up a Fascist state.

Corneliu Zelea Codreanu, leader of the pro-Nazi Iron Guard movement, is serving a six months' jail sentence. He was sentenced on the evidence of a letter he wrote to former Premier Nicholas Jorga several months ago assailing his policies.

The figures represented an annual birthrate of 25.8 per 1,000 inhabitants compared with 23.8 for the first three months of 1937.

CZECHS ATTEMPT WEDGE BETWEEN DUCE AND HITLER

President Makes Bid for Support by Italy.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, April 20.—As commander in chief of the Czechoslovakian army, President Eduard Benes today issued an order which drives another wedge between Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Premier Mussolini and follows Great Britain's policy for the defense of this nation, which was created by the Versailles treaty. It will be read at all army formations on Sunday, April 24.

The order, which left diplomatic circles in Prague gasping, amounted to an indorsement of Premier Mussolini as a person, sinuously dodging the question of his régime, and asked all Czechoslovakia to set up a whoop of enthusiasm for Fascist Italy.

The occasion for all this noise has, on the surface, a pretext. On April 24, 1918, such Czechoslovakians as were fighting in Italy, were recognized by the Italians as an independent combatant force.

Anniversary Used in Game.

This anniversary, which almost every one had forgotten, was used as a factor in the present political game of making Mussolini feel well disposed toward the democratic powers and break away from Hitler.

The army order bore a long preface in which Benes talked directly to Mussolini in language which, except for its masculine eloquence, might be taken for honeyed flattery.

In Benes' robust way there was no bending of knee even when he used phrases which, if accepted by Italy, commit her to defense of Czechoslovakia. For example, Benes said that the flimsy organization of Czechoslovakian soldiers in Italy was recognized as "having as much independence of existence as possible" and reminded Italy that this was a recognition of the coming independence of Czechoslovakia.

Stresses Close Connection.

Stressing the point of connection between Czechoslovakia and Italy, Benes said that the national aspirations of his people found a sympathetic echo in Italy, and that Czechoslovakian soldiers took a notable part in the battle of the Piave and in subsequent battles.

In the next paragraph Benes pulled out all the organ stops of eloquence. "On the twentieth anniversary of these events," he said, "we have deep and lively feeling toward great and beautiful Italy, to its glorious army, and all its valiant sons who at that time led us and were our comrades on the front."

This bold bid for Italy's friendship caught diplomatic circles in Prague off guard. It was regarded as evidence of how well Benes is using every patriotic effort to save his country and therefore is following British instructions, but is putting a self-respecting face on the business.

FRENCH KICK OUT ALIENS IN WAR TO WIPE OUT SPIES

220 'Undesirables' Told to Leave Country.

PARIS, April 20.—(AP)—The French government today started wholesale deportations of undesirable foreigners—a move designed chiefly to stamp out espionage.

Two hundred and twenty foreigners were ordered to leave France immediately and both national and local police were instructed to make a thorough cleanup throughout the country.

The government said the move was "to safeguard the interests of national defense and assure public security."

To Escort Aliens to Border.

Albert Sarraut, minister of the interior, told the cabinet that his ministry was drawing up a new plan to escort undesirables to the frontier to prevent evasion of expulsion orders and that measures were being taken to tighten border control of incoming foreigners.

Officials gave assurances that foreigners "observing the laws of France" would not be affected by the cleanup.

Premier Edouard Daladier intends to build up the nation's morale before going ahead with plans to borrow money from the people, it was disclosed.

Premier's Objectives.

The premier's program to build up national confidence and then float a single internal loan to cover national defense needs developed, his associates said, in line with the following objectives:

1. In foreign affairs—An immediate Franco-Italian agreement, closer alliance with Great Britain [particularly insofar as military and naval affairs are concerned], and a joint Franco-British maneuver designed to induce closer relations with the United States.

2. In internal affairs—Quick conclusion of a new agreement governing collective contracts, a series of decree laws designed to limit strikes through government control of voting in factories affected by labor trouble, an increase of certain taxes and lowering of others, revision of customs duties, and other financial and economic decrees.

SUICIDE FLIGHT BY CARNEGIE'S KIN INDICATED

New York, April 20.—[Special.]—Relatives of Andrew C. Whitfield, nephew of Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, admitted today that he left home last Thursday night after a drinking party and a bitter quarrel with his wife. They previously had said he left Friday morning, a few hours before his mysterious disappearance that has caused a search in eight eastern states and Long Island sound.

Police today found support for a theory that Whitfield, 28 years old, deliberately flew his small monoplane out to sea and suicide. The manager of a Garden City, L. I., hotel revealed that Whitfield arrived there soon after midnight last Thursday, highly intoxicated. The hotel telephone operator said he phoned his wife later in the morning and she heard him say, "Well, I'm going to carry out my plan."

PRIMARY SWITCH ILLEGAL, AUTHOR OF LAW ASSERTS

Schroeder Tells History of Illinois Legislation.

BY PARKE BROWN.

In a more thorough survey than was possible in the hurry and confusion that preceded the state and county primary elections last week, Attorney Werner W. Schroeder yesterday analyzed Illinois statutes and court decisions in support of the contention that orders permitting voters to change parties on April 12 were in direct violation of the law.

Attorney Schroeder is the author of the present Illinois primary law, the act of 1927, the first of a series of six acts of the same kind that has withstood successfully the test of the state Supreme court. For four years he was head of the legislative reference bureau, the bill drafting agency of the general assembly. He was also legislative adviser of Gov. Len Small for several years, and while the present law was in the process of enactment he was the sole adviser of both houses of the legislature on this subject.

In Private Practice Here.

Mr. Schroeder has been in private practice in Chicago for the last ten years and was not involved in any way in the recent excitement over the question of switching parties.

Since it is believed that the subject of party membership is one of much greater scope than contests between rival candidates, is one that will be widely discussed between now and the November election, and probably will become a controversial topic before the regular session of the legislature next year, THE TRIBUNE asked Attorney Schroeder to discuss the subject with special reference to the history of primary legislation and its fundamentals. In his discussion he considered his problem exclusively from the standpoint of the law.

Finds Definite Prohibition.

His compliance with the request produced an unqualified declaration that the Illinois statute prohibits the voter in one of the state's biennial primaries from voting in the primary of a different party in the next biennial primary thereafter. Mr. Schroeder declared that this rule prevails even when the period between two such primaries exceeds two calendar years.

"If that were not so," he said, "the language of the primary law serves no purpose whatsoever and it would not have been included in the act."

As an informal introduction to the discussion, Mr. Schroeder quoted from Bryce's "The American Commonwealth" as follows:

"But the spirit and force of party has in America been as essential to the action of the machinery of government as steam to the locomotive engine or, to vary the simile, party association and organization are to the organs of government what the motor nerves are to the muscles, sinews, and bones of the human body."

Quotes Highest State Court.

His citations from decisions of the Illinois Supreme court in cases in this field were detailed and long, but one of them which never has been superseded he emphasized with this brief quotation early in his discussion:

"It is too plain for argument that no voter should be permitted to vote at the primary election of a political party unless he is a member of such party."

Attorney Schroeder then developed his argument that the principle involved in the present dispute is one settled by the established public policy of the state manifested in repeated enactments of law—"in every nominating act adopted by the general assembly in the last fifty years."

Briefly he quoted from the successive acts beginning with the optional primary act of June 6, 1889, and including the delegate primary act of 1898, and the compulsory primary act of 1905, 1906, 1908, 1910, 1919, and 1927 to show that each of them made party membership a basic requirement of voting in a party primary.

Deneen Statement Recalled.

In connection with the adoption of the first direct primary act, the original of the present statute, he quoted a statement from the inaugural message delivered by Gov. Charles S. Deneen in 1905 that compulsory establishment of definite party lines is vital to good government. At that time only six counties had adopted the optional delegate primary act.

"In ninety-six counties of our state," said Gov. Deneen in that message, "it is no crime either to buy or sell votes at such primaries; nor is it a crime for members of other political parties or residents of other counties or states to vote at such primaries. . . ."

Mr. Schroeder also pointed to the language of the Supreme court in the case of Rouse vs. Thompson [from which he had quoted earlier] as establishing up to the present time a barrier across which a voter cannot leap at will from one party to another.

Point to Chance of Fraud.

"The members of the several political parties," reads a part of that decision, "must be guaranteed by law the right to select their candidates for office with the same freedom as they have the right to choose them after they are nominated, or the primary election at which they vote for candidates is a delusion and a fraud upon the individual voter.

"If the independent voter or the voter affiliating with an opposition party can vote at the primary election of a party to which he is opposed and whose candidates he will vote against at the polls, the freedom of the primary election is destroyed."

Attorney Schroeder said that in none of the Supreme court decisions invalidating the subsequent primary statutes did the court depart from the rule laid down in this case. He also cited authorities to show that the courts of other states have upheld laws to protect parties from invasion by nonmembers.

Policy Found Invariable.

"It appears clearly," he continued, "that it has been the invariable policy of this state for fifty years to limit the right of nominating candidates to members of the party for which the nominations are made. The difficulty of the legislature has been in expressing a workable rule to bring about that result. Most of the recent acts have had wording substantially like the present primary act. Undoubtedly it was the purpose of the general assembly to carry out the long established policy of this state [and of other states] when it adopted the words of the present law describing who may and who may not vote in a primary.

"If that had not been the intention of the legislature it could and would have remained silent on the point. But when it spoke it intended that its words should have meaning. It knew that the only elections held in odd numbered years are municipal and town election, which in most cities and towns of the state are conducted along local party lines [i. e., citizens' ticket, peoples' ticket, etc.]. Certainly the legislature did not have participation in those elections and the primary of another political mind. It must have had in mind the important primary of the even numbered year, which makes nominations for the important offices voted at the November elections of the even numbered years.

Interpretation of Law.

"When, therefore, it expressed an intention to bar from a primary those who had voted in the primary of another political party 'within a period of two years next preceding,' it unquestionably aimed to bar those from the primary of the even numbered year who had participated in the prmimary of another political party in the preceding even numbered year. Under that construction of the words the legislative intention has sense and meaning and is consonant with the long established public policy of this state begun in 1889 and continued through repeated legislative enactments limiting participation in primaries to the members of the party making the nominations.

"If, however, an opposite construction were adopted, the legislative words mean nothing and could just have well been omitted entirely.

"The intent of the legislature is also indicated by other provisions of the primary act. In section 28, which deals with petitions for the placing of names upon the primary ballot, it is provided that the petitions must be signed by 'qualified primary electors' of the party for which the nominations are to be made. The person circulating the petition must swear that to the best of his knowledge and belief the persons were 'qualified voters of the . . . party.'

Corroboration for Views.

"What is meant by 'qualified primary electors' of the party? If the legislature had intended that in the nominating process voters could switch back and forth between parties at will they would not have required the petitions to be signed by qualified primary electors of the party. In that case they would have required only that the petitions be signed by legal voters of the district and would have placed no other limitation upon the signers. But when the provision of qualified primary electors was inserted it corroborated the legislative intent that the nominating process of the respective parties should be carried on by the members of those parties, and the test of party membership admitted only those who had not voted at a primary of another party within a period of two years."

Attorney Schroeder quoted from the state ballot act, a statute separate from the primary law, to show that persons who already have voted in a party primary are ineligible to sign petitions for independent candidates in the ensuing election.

Analyzes Restriction.

In closing his discussion Mr. Schroeder went directly to an analysis of the present two year restriction and its meaning. He said:

"The historical background indicates that what the legislature wanted to do was to eliminate all those who had voted at the primary of another party in the April primary of two years before. It probably should have expressed its meaning somewhat more clearly. It would probably be difficult by construction to extend the period beyond two calendar years [although that is the most reasonable construction of the statute]. But certainly the period cannot be cut below two calendar years. An act of the general assembly passed in 1874 [Revised Statutes, chapter 131, section 1] provides that in all statutes then in force or thereafter passed by the legislature the word 'year' shall mean a calendar year unless otherwise expressed.

"The wording of the statute, other provisions of the same act, as well as the historical background, make the legislative intent clear. It can be avoided only by saying that the legislature had no power to impose such limitation, and that contention has been overruled by the Supreme court in a decision which today stands unmodified and unreversed."

RIVAL DEMOCRATS READY TO FIGHT IN LAKE COUNTY

Lake county Democrats, like the Republicans, prepared last night for a battle over their party's central committee chairmanship, which will be filled at a meeting in Waukegan Monday night.

Dr. Robert R. Bosworth of Highland Park is seeking reëlection as head of the regular organization. He is opposed by Jack Bairstow of Waukegan, leader of the Civic Democratic league faction, which won six of the seven Democratic nominations in the recent primary election.

Meanwhile the official count disclosed that Charles Hebior of North Chicago, the regular organization candidate, won the Democratic nomination for clerk of the Probate court over Jack Ewing of Waukegan.

AURORA FACING NEW STRIKE OF 75 MILK DRIVERS

Renewal today of a strike of milk wagon drivers in and near Aurora was threatened yesterday when owners of seven dairies rejected a demand by 75 union drivers for higher wages and a closed shop. The employés, who struck last Saturday and then went back to work Sunday, had voted that they would go out if the increase was not granted.

Both retail and wholesale drivers have been receiving minimum wages of $28 a week, plus commissions. The drivers demand $32 for retail and $34 for wholesale drivers and a new standard of commissions.

Howard Metzger, business agent, said he would call the men out this morning, but that service to hospitals and homes where there were children or sick persons would be maintained.

GOVERNOR FLIES 2,000 MILES TO BAR EXTRA CALL

Races Lieut. Gov. Back to State Territory.

Olympia, Wash., April 20.—(AP)—Washington's governor and lieutenant governor raced across the country today in a wild scramble for a few critical minutes of the state's executive power.

Gov. Clarence D. Martin, who sped here by special Northwest Air Lines plane 1,749 miles from Chicago, claimed victory, but it appeared that state legal experts or the courts would have to decide who won.

Martin reached the Washington state line just about the time musical Lieut. Gov. Victor A. Meyers, after a race here from southern California, marched into the secretary of state's office with a proclamation calling a special legislative session for relief.

Gov. Martin, opposing the legislative session, suggested Meyers was "just playing up to those red devils," presumably referring to certain advocates of special housing and social security legislation proposed in Meyers' call.

Both Leave State.

Meyers left the state several days ago for a fishing trip in southern California. About the same time Martin went to Washington, D. C., to discuss state matters.

Both automatically relinquished their executive powers upon leaving the state, and Secretary of State Belle Reeves became acting governor.

Proponents of the special legislation began a feverish hunt for Meyers in California. He started homeward Monday night, entering the state late yesterday.

The lieutenant governor, thus becoming acting governor, prepared his proclamation and raced to the state capitol, but arrived 11 minutes too late to file it in the secretary of state's office, a necessary formality.

Gov. Martin chartered a special plane at Chicago to race homeward through the night.

Courts May Decide Case.

Meyers reappeared at the secretary of state's office at 8:01 a. m. today and the proclamation was filed at 8:03, but Assistant Secretary Charles B. Reed refused to attest it pending a legal opinion.

Air line officials reported Gov. Martin's plane reached Spokane at 7:58 a. m. Meyers ceased to be acting governor when Martin reëntered the state. The plane left Chicago at 12:37 Chicago time, 9 hours and 21 minutes earlier.

However, Meyers said his document was attested at 12:20 a. m. by a Seattle notary. He added:

"It has to go through, if I have been given the correct legal advice."

Sues Film Cameraman

ELIZABETH D. BARNES.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 20.—(AP)—Elizabeth D. Barnes, known on the screen as Betty Wood, filed suit for divorce today against George Barnes, film cameraman and former husband of Joan Blondell, after dropping her suit for separate maintenance. The dancer charged mental cruelty in the new action and asserted her husband was sullen, morose, and appeared to be dissatisfied with married life. They were married Sept. 13, 1936, and were separated March 11 this year. A property settlement has been arranged and Barnes has granted her custody of their 4 months old baby, Carlton Barnes, the complaint stated.

U. S. WILL SIFT CHICAGO HOUSING PLUMBING COSTS

Washington, D. C., April 20.—[Special.]—The department of justice today announced a special assistant attorney general will be sent to Chicago to seek indictments in connection with excessive plumbing costs on public works administration low cost housing projects in Chicago.

The department recently received a supplemental report on arbitrary price fixing on plumbing contracts which added $500,000 to the cost of the Jane Addams, Trumbull Park, and Julia Lathrop housing projects in Chicago.

Examination of the supplemental reports, it was said, revealed sufficient evidence for criminal procedure. It will be presented to a federal grand jury within the next two or three weeks, it was said.

New York, April 20.—[Special.]—Gen. John J. Pershing, who less than two months ago was so ill his life was despaired of, arrived here today to attend the wedding of his son, Warren, and Miss Muriel Bache Richards, in St. Thomas church on Friday. Dr. Roland Davison, the general's physician, said he stood the trip well, but is somewhat tired. "He will attend none of the pre-wedding functions," the physician added. "He is convalescent, but he cannot be considered as returned to normal health."

CHINESE RESIST JAP HEAVY GUNS IN LINI SECTOR

Invaders Are Forced Out After Entering City.

SHANGHAI, April 21 [Thursday].—(AP)—China's defenders of Shantung province stood fast under heavy pounding of Japanese heavy guns today, hoping to force their outnumbered attackers into hand to hand combat.

Japan's second central China offensive against the Chinese legions that thwarted the first opened with an artillery and air bombardment of the Lini sector which continued without pause. Chinese admitted their situation there was critical and that defense positions were shattered, but denied Japanese assertions that Lini itself had fallen.

Made Only Brief Entry.

Japanese attacking Lini were striving to relieve pressure on the Japanese garrison besieged at Yihsien, fortly miles to the southwest. Their offensive also was pointed at Suchow, ninety miles to the southwest, main eastern junction city on the the Lunghai railroad which runs through the unconquered heart of Central China.

Lini itself, Chinese insisted, remained in their hands. They said that thus far Japanese had achieved nothing more than a brief entry through a breach in the city walls near the north gate.

At one point, Chinese reports stated, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's troops drove a wedge between two of three Japanese columns converging on the city, with both sides suffering heavy losses in the engagement.

Chinese Send Fresh Troops.

Japanese were attempting to wipe out the stain of their defeat at Taierchwang, where the earlier Shantung offensive was stalled. Chinese tried to force the invaders into the same hand to hand fighting which gave Chinese the advantage at Taierchwang.

Neutral observers sent word that Chinese troop trains were leaving for the front from Chengchow, 300 miles west on the Lunghai, in a continuous stream, their movement screened from Japanese bombers by dense sandstorms prevailing in that area.

Chinese admitted their troops had withdrawn from Hanchwang, Grand canal city at the southwest tip of the triangular Shantung province front. Otherwise, lines in the battle gave Chinese the advantage at Taierchwang.

BURGLARS GET $650 LOOT.

Battling Mate

MRS. MARGARET WILLIAMS.

Efforts she has made during the last thirteen years to have her husband give up other women were told yesterday before Judge John Prystalski by Mrs. Margaret Ehman Williams, 39 years old, of Berkeley, Cal. Mrs. Williams charges cruelty and drunkenness in the divorce action against her husband, Chester S. Williams, 43 years old, 2322 Commonwealth avenue. He is the son of the late John M. Williams, wealthy real estate dealer and owner of loop property. Williams is opposing his wife's action through a cross-complaint charging desertion.

In 1925, Mrs. Williams testified, her husband went to Texarkana, Tex., to manage property owned by his father and while there became infatuated with another woman. Though he asked for a divorce, offering her half his annual income of $20,000, she refused the divorce and went to Texarkana, where she persuaded the other woman to give up her husband, she said. Soon after this Williams began drinking excessively, later living with another woman, she stated. The case will be resumed today.

GET '38 LICENSES, COURT ORDER TO 500 COAL DEALERS

Judge Michael Tremko in the Municipal court yesterday ordered 500 small coal dealers to get their $50 licenses for 1938 by Monday, as provided by the city council, or prepare to suspend operations. At the same time Judge Tremko put over until Tuesday the cases of 700 other dealers who have asked for a jury trial as a test case. Their attorney, Benjamin Vanderveld, said he will attack the validity of the law.

The court was crowded with coal dealers and their attorneys. The small dealers protested at Judge Tremko's ruling, some of them exchanging words with the bench and Michael L. Rosinia, prosecutor for the city. Rosinia warned the dealers that they will have to pay a fourth of the license fee even if they go out of business, inasmuch as they have operated more than three months of the year.

JOLIET IS TOLD HOW TO SILENCE SLOT MACHINES

A method by which citizen action can halt operation of slot machines in Joliet township was explained yesterday by Arthur S. Smith of Bloomington, chairman of the state liquor control commission. On Tuesday the township board voted to impose an annual tax of $50 on the machines and other gambling devices despite warnings that their operation is illegal.

Under Illinois statutes, Smith said, a group of five citizens can file a complaint with the chairman of their county board listing taverns in the community which have slot machines. If no action is taken by the county commissioners within twenty days, any citizen then can appeal to the liquor commission, which can revoke the license of every tavern having a machine in operation.

FOUR TEEN AGE ROBBER LEADERS SENT TO PRISON

Well Reared and Able to Know Right, Says Judge.

Four young robbers with good family backgrounds were sentenced yesterday to serve from one to twenty years in prison by Judge John C. Lewe, who observed there was nothing to excuse their crimes. Five others were placed on probation because they played minor rôles in the twenty-five south side robberies attributed to the gang.

One of those sent to prison is the son of a fire lieutenant who has been active in welfare work among juvenile delinquents. The mother of another is a policewoman and a committeewoman for State's Attorney Courtney in his home ward. All of the families were neighbors of Mr. Courtney.

Points to Advantages.

"What could I say," remarked Judge Lewe, "the next time an underprivileged boy comes before me in the same situation if I granted probation to the four ringleaders? The underprivileged child does not have the chance given these boys with their splendid homes and every opportunity to become worthwhile citizens. I have a boy of my own the same age. But I also took a solemn oath of office."

Judge Lewe took the position that the age of the young men was not a mitigating circumstance. In his opinion the youths are men in so far as judgment of right and wrong is concerned.

Those sentenced to prison are Harry Callahan, 18 years old, 7802 South Carpenter street; Thomas Little, 19, of 8122 South May street; John Scanlon, 18, of 1215 West 78th street, and William Hughes Jr., 19, 8109 South Elizabeth street.

Five Put on Probation.

Those placed on probation for one year are Paul Raver, 19, of 8025 South Carpenter street; John O'Brien, 18, of 8123 South Sangamon street; Michael Sullivan, 19, of 8126 South Elizabeth street; Kenneth Cameron, 16, of 8057 South Loomis street, and Robert Kern, 16, of 739 West 80th street. O'Brien and Sullivan obtained permission to go to Cedar Rapids, Ia., where they said jobs await them.

Callahan is the son of Policewoman Fleda Callahan. Hughes' father is president of the Chicago Amateur Baseball league, and has been active in the movement to keep boys off the city streets.

"These boys did not realize the enormity of their crimes," declared George Crane, spokesman for a group of lawyers representing the defendants. "They looked on their deeds as boyish pranks. They committed no violence. I ask the court to accept the criticism which might result from placing them on probation."

"For the last eleven years," added Fire Lieut. Hughes, as tears glistened in his eyes, "I have been instrumental in helping boys. If my son goes to the penitentiary it will take me out of this work. How can I help others if I can not save my own son?"

The youths were rounded up March 6 by Gresham police who connected them with the robbery of delivery boys and liquor and drug stores. They also stole automobiles for joy-rides.

HOLDUP SLAYER SENTENCED TO ELECTRIC CHAIR

Judge Rudolph F. Desort yesterday sentenced Charles Price, 26 years old, colored, to die in the electric chair on June 17 for the murder of Nicholas Miller, 9247 South Racine avenue, an insurance collector.

Judge Desort passed sentence after overruling a motion for a new trial which had been pending since early in February, when Price was convicted by a jury.

Price was one of eight colored men arrested last fall in a roundup which solved a series of south side robberies and the Miller murder. He was identified as the robber who stopped Miller at Michigan avenue and 57th street on March 30, 1936, and shot him to death.

JURORS CONVICT YOUNG SCHMIDT IN AMBUSH DEATH

White faced and tense, Charles J. Schmidt Jr., 19 years old, heard a jury find him guilty of manslaughter yesterday for his part in the ambush slaying of his father's business partner, Edward C. Richard. The jurors recommended leniency.

They had been unable to agree in five and one-half hours of deliberation Tuesday night, but brought the verdict in after a night's sleep. Judge Robert Jerome Dunne set a hearing on a plea for a new trial for Tuesday. If the motion is denied, Schmidt's lawyers will ask probation. Conviction carries a penalty of one to fourteen years imprisonment.

Richard, 59 years old, was ambushed in front of his apartment at 1538 Thorndale avenue on Feb. 24 by Schmidt and two chums. Richard died of head injuries after Schmidt had struck him.

Smoke from Everglades Fire Hides Sun in Florida

Miami, Fla., April 20.—(AP)—Smoke hung over the entire Miami area today from an Everglades fire that burned out of control along a twenty mile front in adjoining Broward county. The odor of the smoldering muck lands, like burning rubber, permeated the air, and the pall was so widespread it made the skies gray to the horizon and obscured the sun.

CRIMINAL COURT.

William Maher, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Rudolph Desort.

James Bowman and Harold Chase, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge Francis B. Allegretti.

UNION AID HELD TO GRAND JURY ON ASSAULT CHARGE

United States Commissioner Walker yesterday held Charles Crider, financial secretary of a local of the hod carriers' union, to the grand jury in bonds of $1,000 on a charge of assault on government property.

Crider surrendered yesterday on a secret warant issued last Wednesday on the complaint of Eusebius J. Biggs, 7635 South Hermitage avenue, general contractor in charge of building the new Downers Grove postoffice.

Biggs charged that Crider struck him and then withdrew the union laborers from the job. Crider, who appeared with his head bandaged, said Biggs and his brother, Frank, fired him during a dispute and then beat him.

Alfalfa Bill Murray Again Candidate for Governor

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 20.—(AP)—Former Gov. William H. Murray filed today as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

ONE DEAD, 6 HURT; RAIL CARS PLUNGE OFF A VIADUCT

Half a dozen cars of a Rock Island freight train plunged off the viaduct into Cicero avenue near 157th street early today, killing a man who was stealing a ride and severely injuring six of his companions. While efforts were being made to extricate two men from beneath a car it was feared other victims might be in the wreckage, which, with grain and flour from the cars, blocked the underpass.

More than a score of cars left the tracks, a number of them toppling from the elevated right of way north of the viaduct. Railroad officials said a broken axle caused the wreck.

Gene Evans and two girls and another man in his automobile narrowly escaped being crushed by the falling cars. Several other motorists had gone through the underpass a few seconds earlier. Four of the injured were taken to the Oak Forest infirmary. The dead man was identified by Policeman John Salvatori as Henry Franks of Kansas City.

BURNED IN GAS BLAZE.

Nicholas Carrero, 42 years old, 1043 Sedgwick street, was seriously burned yesterday when an acetylene torch he was using ignited a gas tank at the Cly-Den Auto company, 437 Division street.

THE SHOW IS ON

By CALEB

THE SCENE is a Hollywood movie studio. Members of the cast are in their places, the camera man takes a last squint through the finder, the director signals his readiness, and electricians and stage workers freeze in their tracks as the assistant director shouts, "Quiet!"

As the camera begins to grind, an assistant holds a small blackboard between its lens and the actors. On the board is written, "Scene 43; Take 9." To the initiate those words speak volumes. "Take 9" means that Scene 43, whatever it may be, has been done eight times before, and is about to be done over again. For some reason, each previous shooting of the scene has failed to satisfy the director, sound technician or camera man.

Each re-take is a tedious, long-drawn-out process. After each try, the powerful lamps are turned off and perhaps rearranged. Actors relax, remaining on the set or being replaced by their stand-ins. There are consultations, instructions and rehearsals. Nine photographic takes of the same scene can easily consume most of a working day.

But strangest of all in this strange procedure—the scene in the completed picture may consume only a minute or so on the screen! Hours of the hardest kind of work, and thousands of dollars have gone into a scene that will appear for a brief moment in a feature length production.

But the whole long picture is a series of short scenes precisely like the one whose making we have described. Upon the excellence of each small scene depends the character of the finished picture.

Upon such infinite pains, men of creative skill and genius build success in the cinema world—and the whole process finds a familiar parallel in our own business, for it, too, is creative. Behind each important achievement is the story of infinite pains, unflagging energy and specialized skill dedicated to a single, definite purpose.

A successful project in our store affords us something of the exhilaration and dramatic thrill that attends a well-done picture sequence. Here we stage a tremendous pageant daily—full of action, gripping, colorful, complete! Our daily audience is bigger than that of any theatre in the city—and its response is quick and positive. Its approval is ample reward for our efforts.

FIND 18 MILLION GET PUBLIC AID; 12 MILLION IDLE

Senate Body Files Report on Relief Situation.

WPA Supplies Bulk of Aids.

The minority members had an additional reason to expect a whitewash in the fact that most of the committee's investigating personnel was supplied by the WPA. Allan Johnstone, the committee's chief investigator, a South Carolina lawyer, was regional director of the WPA under Mr. Hopkins.

The majority report defied President Roosevelt's demand for retention of the penalty tax on undistributed corporate profits and of the present system of taxing capital gains as ordinary income.

"The committee is of the opinion," it said, "that the enactment of revenue legislation along the lines contained in the senate bill will be exceedingly helpful at this time."

This was a tribute to Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], chairman of the finance committee and manager of the senate conferees on the deadlocked tax revision bill, and it repaid him for his support of the bill, managed by Senator Byrnes, to give President Roosevelt dictatorial powers to reorganize the federal government.

Little Criticism Voiced.

Beyond its condemnation of destructive taxation, however, the majority report failed to criticize any of the Roosevelt laws and policies, and in this respect it clearly misrepresented the overwhelming burden of the testimony of business and industrial leaders.

"Representatives of the major industries appeared before the committee, expressing their views as to the causes of the recession in business," the report says. "In response to inquiry by the committee as to what legislation they would recommend to remedy the situation, the only specific recommendation was that congress either repeal or modify the tax on undistributed profits and modify the tax on capital gains."

Bernard M. Baruch, long a close friend and counselor of President Roosevelt, had given the committee his opinion that the depression was traceable more directly to government than to anything business could or should do, and urged a reversal of the administration's policies shackling private, productive enterprise.

Other Demands Recalled.

Other witnesses had demanded repeal of the Robinson-Patman anti-chain store act and the monopolistic Miller-Tydings resale price maintenance act; enforcement of the anti-trust laws now on the statute books; drastic modification of the securities and exchange regulations to permit a free flow of private capital into productive enterprises; cessation of government competition and threats of competition with business; cessation of the administration's war on the private utilities to make possible a long deferred 2 or 3 billion dollar expansion program; and curtailment of government spending to make an approach toward a balanced budget and restore confidence in the stability of government.

Figures on Public Aid.

To illustrate the magnitude of what it calls "the impact of the depression on the social framework of the nation," the report gives the following table showing the number of persons and households receiving public assistance from 1933 to 1937:

Year.	Households.	Persons.
1933	7,000,000	24,800,000
1934	6,547,000	23,475,000
1935	5,886,000	19,851,000
1936	5,968,000	18,872,000
1937	5,390,000	15,605,000

"The effect on federal work—relief and local relief rolls of increasing unemployment due to current business recession is reflected in the figures for January, 1938, when the number of households affected was 5,904,000 and the number of persons included was 17,314,000," the report says.

"Reports received by the committee from various agencies of the government indicate a further increase in the total number of persons in need in the months of February and March. It may conservatively be estimated that on April 1 approximately 14 per cent of the population of the United States were beneficiaries of one kind of public aid or another.

Expenditures in 1937.

"The extent of the expenditure of federal, state, and local governments on the various programs now being conducted to give employment and relief is shown by the following table for the calendar year 1937:

[In millions, last 6 ciphers omitted.]

Type of public aid—	Total cost.	Fed. gvt.	State, local.
Fed. works, WPA, etc.	$1,800	$1,485	$ 315
CCC	380	380	....
Old age assistance	340	165	175
Dependent children	80	20	60
Aid to blind	17	6	11
Unclassified relief	470	....	470
Rural rehabilitation	35	35	....
Total	$3,122	$2,091	$1,031
Emergency public wks.	1,200	800	400
Grand total	$4,322	$2,891	$1,431

"It will be observed that the total of public assistance, relief, and work relief expenditures for that year was 3 billion 122 million dollars, of which 2 billion 91 million dollars was supplied by the federal treasury and 1 billion 31 million dollars by state and local governments. If the cost of emergency public works is added, the total expenditure for the year 1937 is 4 billion 322 million dollars, of which 2 billion 891 million dollars came from the federal treasury and 1 billion 431 million dollars from state and local sources.

Costs 13½ Billions.

"For the entire period 1933-'37, inclusive, the total cost of public assistance and relief programs was 13 billion 500 million dollars, of which 10 billion dollars came from the federal treasury and 3 billion 500 million dollars from the state and local treasuries.

"If to these figures the cost of emergency public works is added, the total expenditure for the period 1933-'37, inclusive, is 19 billion 300 million dollars, of which 14 billion 200 million dollars came from the federal treasury and 5 billion 100 million dollars from state and local sources.

"The expenditure of these sums, vast as is their total, has saved the lives and morale of millions of people in America. Public works of great value have been accomplished. The committee has made no formal inquiry as to the resulting value of work relief projects. However, a survey has recently been made in every state by committees, the personnel of which committees were in no way connected with Works Progress administration."

Millions on Short Time.

Estimating the number of totally unemployed workers at the present time at 12 million, the report states that "several million more, although actually on pay rolls, are working short time."

The report states that an investigation was conducted in the cities of New York, Atlanta, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, and Omaha because of widespread complaints that WPA workers certified from the relief rolls and receiving subsistence wages for part time work were seeking and obtaining other part time employment, thus depriving persons having no employment at all from the part time jobs.

It recalls that President Roosevelt, in proposing the 4 billion, 480 million dollar work relief appropriation in 1935, suggested a "security" or monthly payment for the workers. It recalls also that the act of 1935 directed the President to require such rates of pay per hour "as will not affect adversely or tend to decrease the going rates of wages paid for work of a similar nature."

The 1936 and subsequent relief appropriation acts, the report states, required "the rates of pay to be not less than the prevailing rates of pay for work of a similar nature."

Cite One Example.

"Thus, by act of congress," the report says, "there has developed the possibility of a man employed on a Works Progress administration project earning the security wage in one-third of the full working hours of a month and being free for the balance of that month. That Works Progress administration workers have taken advantage of this opportunity is not surprising. For instance, in the District of Columbia, a carpenter on a Works Progress administration project earns his security wage of $73.50 by working 42 hours in a month at the established "prevailing rate" of $1.75 per hour.

"The study in the five cities mentioned was undertaken to determine whether a 'security wage' worker sought other employment in his spare time. Since it was impracticable to check the records of all Works Progress administration workers in a given community, the study was confined to workers classified as skilled.

"In the five cities mentioned, there were on the Works Progress administration rolls at the time of the investigation December, 1937, 26,736 workers classified as skilled workers. Of this number, 7,982 were interviewed. Of the number interviewed 5,049, or 63 per cent, when asked the question admitted that they had other employment.

"There can be no doubt that the policy of part time work for Works Progress administration workers makes possible outside employment during the spare time of the workers. This outside employment is in competition with other unemployed workers. It must be obvious that this practice tends to defeat the evident intent of congress.

Discrimination Seen.

"Admittedly Works Progress administration does not provide a job for every unemployed person in the nation. This being true, one worker should not be paid the security wage, receive outside employment and additional income, and continue indefinitely at work on projects while others certified as eligible are denied the opportunity to receive any employment."

The committee criticizes the administration of rural relief by the Farm Security administration of the department of agriculture, for which President Roosevelt has requested 175 million dollars for the next fiscal year.

Relief Grants Continued.

"Thus, with respect to a certain proportion of the rural population of the United States," the report says, "the federal government is still making direct relief grants. During the calendar year 1937 the sum of approximately $35,000,000 was expended by the Farm Security administration by way of direct relief, 68 per cent of the total was expended in the great plains states, 12 per cent in the north central states, 11 per cent in the southwest cotton states, 3 per cent in the middle Atlantic states, 2 per cent in the southeastern cotton states, and less than 1 per cent in the New England states.

"It is the opinion of the committee that such direct relief grants by the federal government are unwise and the rural population that is in need should be assisted, so far as the federal government is concerned, by work and loans, except in those communities where it is not feasible to provide suitable work relief projects."

The majority report opposes the abandonment of the present system of work relief and the substitution of grants in aid to the states, which would administer relief funds through bipartisan boards.

One Seventh of U. S. Population on Dole

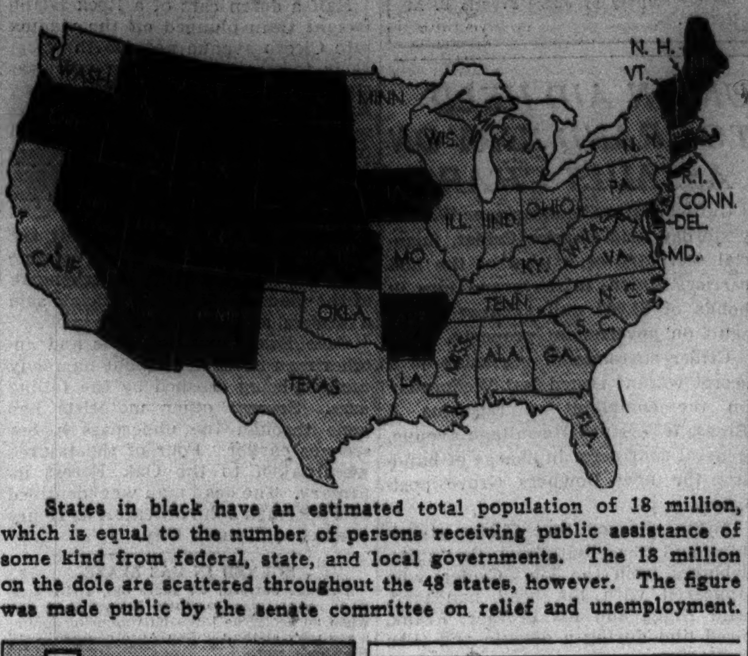
Comparison of expenditures on various programs now being conducted to provide employment and relief is shown for the year 1937. The shaded portion is that spent by the federal government; the white portion represents the share borne by state and local governments.



States in black have an estimated total population of 18 million, which is equal to the number of persons receiving public assistance of some kind from federal, state, and local governments. The 18 million on the dole are scattered throughout the 48 states, however. The figure was made public by the senate committee on relief and unemployment.

8 CHARGED WITH KIDNAPING BRIDE OF COLORED MAN

Warants charging kidnaping were issued by Judge Oscar S. Caplan in Municipal court yesterday against the eight men who helped take the white New York bride of a colored man from a honeymoon apartment at 6351 Rhodes avenue on Tuesday. Names of those for whom warants were obtained were kept secret, and it was not learned whether three Chicago policemen who went to the apartment were included.

The bride was identified on her arrival in New York yesterday as Ravel Collette Lazarus, daughter of a prominent New York lawyer. Relatives said she has been under treatment since she suffered a mental collapse in an eastern college five years ago. The warants were obtained by her husband, William San Hart Stewart, whose home is in New York's Greenwich village. He left for New York last night in an effort to get his bride back. Stewart said that her relatives knew he was planning to marry her. The wedding was April 12. The bride's brother, Leon, was one of the party which took her from the apartment.

'Kiss-o-Meter' Among 100 Exhibits at U. of I. Show

Urbana, Ill., April 20.—[Special.]—More than 100 exhibits arranged by engineering and physics students will be on display at the biennial electrical engineering show at the University of Illinois starting tomorrow. One of the exhibits will be the "kiss-o-meter." The average male may depend upon chance to ascertain if his sweetheart is kissable, but electrical engineers have left no room for guesswork. They claim haphazard methods of rating osculatory prowess of the female gender is eliminated by the kiss-o-meter, which they claim registers the physical reaction of the kisses at the time of contact.

UNSEAL BALLOT BOXES TO TAKE OUT POLLS DATA

Judges of election from forty-one precincts appeared last night at the election board office in the city hall on summonses to open sealed ballot boxes from the April 12 primary elections and withdraw tally sheets and other records erroneously placed in the boxes. John F. Tyrell, attorney for the Cook county Republican committee, objected, asserting that this was a violation of the law, as no court order had been obtained.

The election board found that in eighty-nine precincts the judges had apparently dropped binders, tally sheets, and cards with voters' names into the boxes. Judges of forty-eight other precincts have been summoned to appear tonight. Most of the Democratic judges last night obeyed the request of John Cashen, attorney for the election board, that they open the sealed boxes and remove the extraneous articles.

COOGAN BLOCKS MOTHER'S OUSTER FROM MANSION

Los Angeles, Cal., April 20.—(AP)—Jackie Coogan, who is suing his mother and stepfather for an accounting of $4,000,000, interceded today to prevent their being ejected from their Van Nuys mansion and deprived of three costly automobiles.

Attorney John Bilby, named as temporary receiver of the Coogan property, was empowered by the court to seize furniture and furnishings in the home.

At Jackie's instance a stipulation was entered between his lawyers and those of his mother and stepfather providing that the latter be permitted to retain possession of the house, the automobiles, and all personal effects.

Mrs. Lillian Coogan Bernstein tonight asked court permission to amend a deposition she gave in Jackie's suit for an accounting of the $4,000,000 he said he earned as a child actor. The request will be acted upon tomorrow.

WAGE-HOUR BILL ASSAULT WIDENS DEMOCRATIC RIFT

Influential Georgian Cites Arbitrary Provisions.

Washington, D. C., April 20.—[Special.]—The breach in the Democratic majority in the house was widened today when Representative Robert Ramspeck [D., Ga.], one of the leading southern Democrats in the chamber, released a blast at the wages and hours bill reported last week by the labor committee.

The measure in its present form would provide for a graduated minimum wage starting at 25 cents an hour and increasing to 40 cents at the end of three years. Work hours would drop from 44 to 40 hours in two years.

Splits North and South.

The bill is a substitute for a former measure which permitted wage differentials to meet conditions in varying communities, especially in the south. Northern and southern Democrats have split on this issue.

Ramspeck assailed the present bill as arbitrary and discriminatory. He asserted that the Supreme court would invalidate it if it were enacted and signed.

"The bill delegates the right to the secretary of labor to determine what industries shall be affected," said the Ramspeck report. "This seems to be an unwise if not actually an illegal delegation to a single officer in the executive branch of the government. The standards prescribed upon which the secretary is to base a decision are not sufficiently definite.

Will Close Industries.

"The bill provides for no fact-finding procedure and totally ignores the fact that in a country as large as the United States there are thousands of varying conditions to which this inflexible proposal must be applied.

"To impose a rigid inflexible wage in all parts of the United States will mean unquestionably that some employers cannot longer compete in the eastern market, where a majority of our consumers reside. That means, therefore, retirement from business, and their employés, instead of having their wages raised, will find themselves on relief."

SENATORS RAIL, BUT ARE UNABLE TO GET RECORDS

Washington, D. C., April 20.—(AP)—The senate lobby committee engaged Sumner Gerard of New York in a brisk round of shouting and desk pounding today, but again failed to obtain records of the National Committee to Uphold Constitutional Government.

Gerard, who is treasurer of the organization, told the committee that subpenaed records of its financial receipts were not under his control.

Chairman Sherman Minton [D., Ind.] then suggested that he was only a figurehead so far as the organization's financial affairs were concerned and Gerard conceded this was so. He said they actually were handled by a Rochester, N. Y., accountant. Frank E. Gannett of Rochester is chairman of the constitution committee.

Gerard's failure to produce the records was the third time the lobby investigators had been unsuccessful in efforts to get them. Visibly annoyed, they subjected the witness to a barrage of critical questions and comments.

Rosemary and Eunice had remained to finish their school term. They plan to continue their education in England.

APPROVES BILL FOR U. S. AID IN WAR ON SYPHILIS

Washington, D. C., April 20.—(AP)—The house interstate commerce committee approved today the La Follette-Bulwinkle bill for federal control of venereal diseases.

The legislation, as revised by the committee, would authorize a $15,000,000 appropriation for the first three years after the act became effective, starting with $3,000,000 the first year and increasing $2,000,000 annually.

The campaign would be conducted through the public health service in coöperation with the states. The appropriation would be allotted to states primarily on a population basis and in accordance with rules and regulations the service drafted.

The legislation has passed the senate.

PLAN U. S. LOANS, HOPING TO SPUR UTILITIES WORK

President Proposes RFC Advance Funds.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 20.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt, it was disclosed today, purposes to extend government financial aid to business enterprises that have been hard hit by government competition and by other economic and social innovations of his administration.

Following a White House conference on the details of the 5 billion dollar spending and lending program it became known that the President and his advisers have singled out the public utilities, outstanding victims of government competition, for government relief.

Utilities unable to float bond issues to finance construction of expanded facilities will be able to obtain the necessary funds from the Reconstruction Finance corporation under the authority recently conferred by congress to loan up to 1½ billion dollars to small business enterprises.

SEC Men at Conference.

Participating in the conference with the President on this question were Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the RFC, and William O. Douglas, chairman, and John W. Hanes, another member, of the securities and exchange commission.

The utilities have complained that the Roosevelt administration policy of warfare on private enterprise in the development of electric power, through the establishment of the Tennessee Valley authority and generally through government subsidizing of public ownership of competing plants, has destroyed the confidence of investors in utility securities. As a result they have been unable to finance renewals and expansion except at a ruinous cost.

Utility leaders estimate that construction work calling for an aggregate outlay of 2 billion 600 million dollars has been dammed up by the reluctance of investors to risk their savings in the securities of an industry that is apparently doomed to extinction by the administration's drive for public ownership.

Jones Advocate of Peace.

Chairman Jones of the RFC is one of several conservative advisers who have been urging the President to make peace with the utilities and thereby encourage the investment in the industry that would release a flood of construction expenditure which would go far toward reviving business and checking the depression. Apparently he succeeded to the extent of inducing the President to loan public funds to utilities unable to finance themselves by private means.

Upon emerging from the conference Mr. Jones said it had been decided to employ RFC funds to buy up issues of utility securities designed to finance expansion of systems and other new work that would furnish employment to men now on relief rolls.

"There has been a lot of talk," said Mr. Jones, "that utilities are not getting the money they need for construction, so we are going to help them out by including them among the small business concerns entitled to obtain loans from the 1½ billion dollar fund."

Tells of Loan Applications.

Mr. Jones said he already had received some applications for loans from small utilities and Mr. Douglas volunteered that some large issues of utility securities are under discussion. Mr. Jones would not say whether junior securities would be eligible.

"It depends on what you call junior securities," he said. "Our whole program is based on putting men to work."

Utility executives would not comment on the development. They did not conceal their amusement, however, at the spectacle of the Roosevelt administration expending billions of dollars on the creation of TVA, Grand Coulee, and other government power systems and on the financing of municipal power plants, from the competition of which the utilities are suffering, and then pouring out more of the taxpayers' money to buy the securities of companies on which there will be a loss to the taxpayers if the drive for public ownership succeeds in extinguishing private competition.

Other Victims to Get Aid.

That similar relief will be extended to other victims of New Deal policies already has been established by the decision to use RFC funds to help finance small business concerns unable to float small bond issues as a result of the securities and exchange act. This action is the outcome of one of the complaints lodged with the White House by the conference of little business men several months ago.

The securities and exchange act requires the submission of so much detailed information that the flotation of a small bond issue by a small enterprise has become prohibitively costly. Moreover, the requirements of the act have made underwriting of security issues so costly that banks will not bother with small flotations on which they would make little if any profit.

Simplifying Regulations.

Within the last fortnight the administration has evidenced a realization that this new deal legislation is holding back business expansion. As a result the SEC is now engaged in simplifying the regulations applying to the financing of small enterprise.

Then going a step further, the President authorized the RFC to overcome any remaining difficulties from which little business is suffering as a consequence of this "reform" legislation. Not only will the RFC make loans to small business concerns unable to obtain credit from banks, but it will assist banks in underwriting small security issues.

THE ABUSE OF ASYLUM.

There was general approval of Secretary Hull's project for setting up an international committee for the purpose of "facilitating the emigration of political refugees from Austria and presumably from Germany." The policy of asylum is as old as the nation and is still cherished by our people. But the privilege of asylum, like other privileges, may be, and is, abused, especially in America where organized alienism is an active and by no means negligible force in politics.

There is, therefore, some concern lest the altruistic sentiment which supports the policy of asylum be used to weaken the defenses we have set up against individuals who, in the judgment of congress and a large majority of the American citizenry, are not conducive to the domestic peace and welfare of the nation. An expression of this concern is the letter of George Urie Stevenson, printed in the Voice of the People April 19, which calls attention to the so-called asylum bills on which hearings have been postponed pending the appearance of an administration measure to implement the plan for facilitating the emigation of central European refugees.

It is more than likely that the disapproval of persecution and the pity for oppressed classes in Europe which prevail among the American people will be taken advantage of to press for relaxation of immigration laws, which a sensible consideration of American interests would veto. There is nothing in the policy of asylum, as Americans have accepted it, that justifies the admission of individuals whose political convictions are incompatible with loyalty to American institutions.

The refugees who for generations sought and found asylum in the American republic were not of this variety. One of the most valuable contributions to American citizenship was the immigration of the Germans after the failure of the revolution of 1848. These were republicans ready to take part as citizens of a republic. But many of the refugees who are seeking asylum at this time are hostile to the conceptions of political and social order which the American nation has adopted. They should not be admitted on the plea of asylum.

If this seems a harsh rule, it might be considered that a more fitting asylum than capitalistic America exists. We shall not pretend surprise that radical refugees all want to come to the United States instead of to the country where their ideas prevail. In the United States they are free to preach their doctrins without paying the price of their application. In America they can enjoy, under capitalism, comforts they cannot get under the system they advocate. In bourgeois America they can enjoy the privilege of trying to tear down the institutions whose protection and benefits they enjoy. But why should we give asylum to men and women who would destroy the asylum?

There should be no relaxation of our defense against enemies of the American order. We have too many of them already within our gates.

PATRIOTISM VS. SPOILS SYSTEM.

Senator Frederick Van Nuys of Indiana has announced that he will not seek renomination at the hands of the Democratic party machine which is in full control of the party convention to be held June 2. His only alternative is to appeal over the heads of the party bosses to the people, and this he proposes to do as an independent candidate at the November election.

By this self-respecting action Senator Van Nuys has put himself in a strong position if the majority of the people of his state are responsive to integrity, courageous consistency, and devotion to patriotic service. He has freed himself from the compromises of spoils politics and put his reliance upon the intelligence and public spirit of the citizens of Indiana. He has raised his campaign above the plane of party tactics to the plane of public welfare. In this he has done a service not only to the people of Indiana, regardless of party affiliation, but even to his party, for it is a false loyalty to the Democratic party in Indiana to bow to the bosses that now abuse their power to the injury of the state and its people. Senator Van Nuys is a better Democrat, as well as a better citizen, than these bosses.

The response to Senator Van Nuys' action has been prompt and noteworthy. We are especially impressed by the letter of Lynn M. Whipple, able editor of the Vidette-Messenger of Valparaiso, a leading Republican, who eloquently sets forth the issues raised in this contest. Addressing the Hon. Charles A. Halleck, the only Republican representative from Indiana in the house, Mr. Whipple urges him to lead Indiana Republicans to the polls in November for Senator Van Nuys. "Indiana Republicans," says Mr. Whipple, "cannot expect right thinking men and women to respond to the Republican call in 1940 if the Republican party this year fails to do the right thing by Senator Van Nuys."

In this view THE TRIBUNE most earnestly shares. The issue raised by the repudiation of Senator Van Nuys by the Democratic machine is far above party. It is an issue of loyalty to Americanism, and there can be no division among loyal Americans upon this issue.

This is true, although the ostensible reason for the machine's repudiation of Senator Van Nuys is his opposition to the court packing bill. That is an apparent fraud. The real reason is that Senator Van Nuys will not condone or be a party to the corrupt statehouse machine. He promises an exposure of the workings of this misrule and he will do the people of Indiana, Democrats and Republicans alike, a valuable service in such exposure.

But this, after all, though it is in the interest of good government throughout the country, is primarily the affair of the people of Indiana. What concerns us and all citizens loyal to American institutions is the return to the senate of a member who could not be bribed or bullied into helping to destroy the independence of the highest tribunal of the land and thus open the way to the certain destruction of the American form of government. The patriots who joined in this defense have been promised political punishment for this historic service to their country. Senator Van Nuys no doubt will receive the full brunt of the party hostility. But in spite of the power of money and organization the people of Indiana are still free to make their own choice of their representatives and there should be no doubt that their choice will be for proved patriotism above spoils politics.

IF HE'D ONLY LET THEM UP.

The determination of the New Deal is "not to let the people down." Last week's fireside chat rededicated the administration to this.

Unemployment, taxes, expenses, and national debts are up. The people are already down. Their employment is down. Their income is down. Their confidence and their hopes are going down. They are in the sixth year of a planned society. Every time they have thought they might be getting up some thundering herd of new laws, new repressions, new regulations has swept down on them.

There's no encouragement in the promise that the people will not be let down. They have been thrown down and held down. In the sixth year, cause and effect are plain enough.

THE REAL TRA-LA.

Although much is yet to come the countryside will never be lovelier than it is just now. Say it softly and with a couple of knocks on wood, but spring is really getting away with it this year after a couple of false starts in one of which she tried to be July and in the other January. We are accustomed to this dual personality exhibitionism. Getting the breath of winter from the face of April is nothing new to these regions.

Settling down early to business spring was about three weeks ahead of time when the foot of snow and the frost came. That, it was generally agreed, served her right—the snow and frost did. White bloodroot blossoms, at that time of the year—the idea—and peach buds with red noses, and red bud maples in bloom. But the start was sturdy and it survived. Now the shad, wild plum and hawthorn have given drifts and mists of white to the new green which in its delicate freshness is fairly a triumphant outburst.

The old and withered face of winter like a vanishing mask drops suddenly from a youth so young it seems never to have looked upon the world before. Violets, trilliums, hepaticæ, anemones arise, to be each its own achievement, among the brown leaves. There will be richer colors and deeper green but the greater surprise is now. These are the miracle days.

DR. TOWNSEND'S PARDON.

The pardon of Dr. Townsend was forced by an indignant public opinion, voiced by the press.

Dr. Townsend's only offense lay in having a political philosophy that threatened the supremacy of the party in power. Because of this he was dragged down to congress and subjected to ridicule, browbeating, and abuse, which he manfully defied.

His conviction was a disgrace to the court in which his trial was held and to the judge who presided, as well as to the party which caused it. If Dr. Townsend is not a martyr it is because public indignation made it politically inexpedient to sacrifice him.

We congratulate him upon his victory over his oppressors.

Editorial of the Day

DIAPERS AREN'T ENOUGH.

[Milwaukee Journal.]

British babies are to have an addition to their layettes. To the supply of diapers, nursing bottles, safety pins and tiny garments are to be added gas-proof bags. When the wings of death roar through British skies dropping poison gas bombs, provident mothers will pop their infants into the rubberized bags. Every fifteen minutes fresh air will be pumped in through a filter by a gas-masked parent or attendant. Masks are made in four sizes, the smallest for children from 2 to 4.

But the pretty picture of twentieth century civilization does not end here. Millions of booklets are being distributed—"The Protection of Your Home Against Air Raids." The reader is instructed how to rush into a room that can be sealed. He is told what supplies to take—"books, playing cards, a radio set, toys for the children."

In the refuge room, "don't let the children romp," says the booklet, "as they will tire themselves out and get exhausted—and consume extra oxygen."

What a touching family scene! Presumably the mother will croon:

Bye, my baby, sleeping,
Mother's softly weeping,
Poison gas is creeping;
Nestle in your rubber sack,
Soon the raider will turn back,
O, baby, gently sleeping.

Nor does Britain shudder alone. In France the catacombs—long repositories for the dead—may become air conditioned refuges for the living. Through northern France signs are everywhere warning of air attacks—"Mesures de Protection contre les Effets des Bombardements Aerien." In Germany, Mannesmann, Krupp, and Thyssen advertise bombproof steel gratings and air purifying machinery for use in aerial gas attacks. In Czechoslovakia perambulators are being built with roll tops that can be zipped up quickly to shelter the infant from poison gas.

So the preposterous term "civilized war" loses all pretense of meaning. We are back where we were when Moses ordered the killing of all male babies and children of the Midiânites [Num. xxxi., 17]. We are back in Boeotia in 400 B. C. when Thracian warriors butchered the women and children of a village because they had nothing to do after missing the boats for the war in Sicily. We have attained that high state of civilization shown by Genghis Khan when his Mongols took the proud cities of Khorasan, slew men, women and children—withdrew, then craftily returned to kill those few who had crawled from the ruins.

Have you bought a gas bag for your baby? Diapers aren't enough!

A volunteer stooge who signs himself Col. Corvus ordered breakfast at the hotel in a small town in southern Alabama during a recent motor trip. Ham, bacon, eggs, hot biscuits, waffles, and jam were set before him and then the waiter placed a small piece of steak swimming in gravy at his plate, explaining, "This steak is kinda tough, boss, but you-all ain't supposed to eat the steak. You is just supposed to sop yo' biscuits in the steak gravy."

By the Last Post.

They say there's nothing new under the sun. More than a half century ago my grandfather, who was something of a scientist by nature, held my wrist and asked me to think intently of a number of girls, successively, carefully recording the number of heartbeats per second, corresponding to each person thought of. And then, after checking, he told me—and truly—which one I cared most for. The modern lie detector is based on similar principles. That experiment made by my grandfather was a beginning for the instrument that plays such a part in modern crime detection. Arthur J. Richardson.

AMATEUR ACTORS unable to get a stage for a rehersal were practicing their performance in Jackson park the other day, surrounded by several dozen children and dogs. Every time the hero kissed the heroine the children laughed gleefully and the dogs wagged their tails.

Iowa Squelch.

The little helper in the beauty parlor was solicitous as she adjusted the paper caps so our ears wouldn't curl, too; put a heavy rubber band on our brow so the net wouldn't add another furrow, and then reached for the metal clips to pinch the waves in. "Do we have to have those pesky clips?" we asked. "It's up to you," replied the shop owner, busy at the next chair. Then with feeling she added, "I still prefer the customer I had early this morning at the funeral home." Madelon Roehl, Nashua, Iowa.

SAMPLER PUZZLE SOLUTION.

Lily Terry comes forward with a remarkable solution to the sampler in the collection of Dr. James Walker of East 53d street, printed in this space, that has puzzled sampler authorities for years. The sampler reads:

SASIDU BY EOVER
AND TO MISFORTUNE BORN
BY MAN FORSAKEN
AND LEFT MY COMPANIONS SCORN
WHEN FOES OPPRESS ME
FRIENDS I SEEK IN VAIN
WHAT THEN IS LEFT
I MYSELF AND GOD REMAINS

It all spells the name SARAH DAWS, when Miss Terry gets through with it.

"IT IS A PLEASURE to dissolve the suspicion that Sarah Daws' needle ever faltered, and to present her to Dr. Walker and the Line as a complex lady of arts and letters," says Miss Terry. Her solution follows:

"SASIDU by EOVER" is "SASIDUEOVER." Plus "TO MISFORTUNE BORN" which Webster says is "adversity," it becomes SASIDUEOVERADVERSITY. "By man forsaken" is "deserted." Subtract DESERTED by canceling the letters and you have SASIUOVRAVIY. This, plus her "companions' scorn," which is "friends' disdain"—makes:

FRIENDS DISDAINSASIUOVRAVIY.

Now, when foes oppress her "friends" she seeks in vain. The foes are "fiends" that, subtracted from the above sequence of letters, obliterates "friends" except for the "r," leaving RDISDAINSASIUOVRAVIY.

She still seeks the word "friends" in vain, SELF-CENTERED is synonymous and contains each letter of the word "friends" except the "i," which she cautions "'I' seek in vain." Using SELF (centered) you have

RDISDAINSASIUOVRAVIY
SELF.

"What" then is left (direction), she continues, so we put it there

WHATRDISDAINSASIUOVRAVIY
SELF.

Now, she asserts that this is she herself, and God. Cancel SELF, SAVIOUR, DIVINITY, and the remaining letters form the name SARAH DAWS.

SARAH DAWS SELF SAVIOUR DIVINITY.

She herself is left—in direction. God remains, and the grammar turns out to be perfect after all.

Come on everybody, a great big hand for Miss Terry.

SPRING CLEANING AND GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

THE time for spring cleaning has arrived, both in the home and in the community. Much depends on the standards of sanitation set by every resident. Regardless of whether one lives on a farm, in a village, or a city, the immediate environment should be spruce. Are we all real citizens, willing and ready to respect the rights—and the health—of others? Robinson Crusoe was a law unto himself, but none of us lives on an island. If decomposing rubbish is deposited where vermin may breed or from which noxious odors may arise, if our domestic animals and pets disturb the quiet of the night and prevent sleep, we are not good neighbors.

Every housewife recognizes the fact that the dust accumulations of winter, which may load carpets, drapes, and furniture, mean that a careful going over of the living quarters is in order. This always is an arduous season, when the family is obliged to eat from the kitchen table, and when mother is so tired that every one walks on tiptoe. But it is necessary to rid the home of all sorts of germ carrying particles, some of which may cause trouble if not deported.

Soap and water are our best purifying agents, our most potent destroyers of bacteria. Woodwork and floors are scrubbed, walls are washed, and everything that is movable is placed out-of-doors for a period of sunshine. The cellar, attic, yard, garden, and the alleyway all require attention. Leaves used for mulch may be burned and all piles of rotting vegetation carted away.

Not the least of our desires is to free the premises of every possible breeding spot for rats, as these destructive rodents can accomplish far more damage than most of us realize. Besides being disease conveyors, they hold preeminence as food spoilers. They will not thrive, however, unless they can find both shelter and food. Make sure that all garbage pails have snug fitting covers and that they are placed on firm foundations so that roving pups cannot tip them over.

If a member of the household has been ill during the winter with some infectious disease such as measles, scarlet fever, or pneumonia, the sickroom should receive special consideration. Walls, ceilings, floors, and all woodwork should be scrubbed thoroughly. Unless the wallpaper is washable it should be removed and the plaster surface painted. It is far wiser to refinish all woodwork and revarnish all wooden furniture. A metal bedstead may be taken apart and sterilized with soap and water. Blankets and bedding should be sunned for a full day in the open air. This is even more efficient than dry cleaning, although the latter is desirable.

We must make certain, too, that the screens are ready to put on and that they are tight. It is just as important to keep flies and mosquitoes out of the house as it is to banish bacteria. The time to destroy these insects is before they are born. We can eliminate their propagating lairs if we will do away with rubbish piles, particularly those containing manure or decaying vegetable or animal matter.

If there is a fish pond in the yard it should contain enough members of the finny tribe so that there will be no danger that mosquito larvæ will grow to adulthood. Gutters, tubs, or barrels should never be allowed to retain water. Tin cans in empty lots and shallow pools may furnish enough breeding places to supply an entire neighborhood with mosquitoes. The least we can do is to drain every receptable, no matter how small, and to cover pond water with a thin film of kerosene. Let's make mosquito control a part of our clean-up campaign.

RESULT OF PRESSURE.

E. T. writes: What is Jacksonian epilepsy? What are the symptoms? Does the victim lose consciousness? What can be done for it? Would it develop into regular epilepsy?

REPLY.

In Jacksonian epilepsy, the cortex [outer portion] of the brain has become subjected to pressure, a tumor, depressed portion of the skull [from fracture], or hemorrhage. The spasms are confined to a single arm, or an arm and half the face, or half of the entire body. They may become general. The character of the attacks tells the observant physician where the trouble is located. The victim may not lose consciousness. Treatment is directed toward removing the pressure. It does not develop into grand mal epilepsy.

FOR INGROWN HAIRS.

A. J. writes: What is the best method of getting rid of ingrown hairs on the face and the back of the neck?

REPLY.

Avoid close shaving and permit the use of a clipper only on the back of the neck. The frequent use of an alcohol lotion [witch hazel will do] is helpful. If the hair is cut too short and, at the same time, the skin is irritated, healing may take place with the hair beneath the surface. The result is a reddish pimple which may fester. If you use soap for shaving, follow with enough but towels to remove all traces.

STOMACH ULCERS.

M. C. writes:
1. What causes stomach ulcer?
2. Is there danger of cancer?

REPLY.

1. There are many theories, but no positive cause has been determined. Errors in diet, coupled with infection, worry, "a strenuous life" may be responsible. In addition, it is thought that tiny blood vessels in the stomach may become plugged, cutting off the circulation from a small area, whereupon an ulcer may develop. As tissue dies, the gastric juice will digest the dead cells.

2. A true ulcer is not cancer but any site irritated for a long time may become cancerous.

USE OF EYEGLASSES.

M. D. writes: Why is it that when a person buys glasses which are fitted to each eye individually, he has to have another pair of another strength? If the single lens restores vision, why cannot he read, sew, attend movies, or—in general—see like those with good sight? I notice people shifting from one pair of glasses to another and others are forced to look under or over their bifocals.

REPLY.

Some persons need glasses for reading as well as for distant objects. Bifocals combine both lenses in one—the lower part for close work, the upper for general vision. If such lenses are properly ground and are suitable there will be no occasion to look over or under.

EXPORTS OUR SALVATION.

Chicago, April 18.—All the nations in the western hemisphere are continually growing not only in population but also in agricultural production. This includes animals as well as what is produced by the soil.

We do not hear of any country curtailing production of grains and animals except our own. It is fair to say that a great deal of a country's prosperity depends on how much it exports.

The fiasco in being, about five years ago, did not succeed in bringing us back to normal. This refers to the premature slaughter of animals, the curtailment of acreage of grains and cotton, etc.

When this plan was adopted Europeans, who were our principal buyers, made every effort to cultivate every foot of ground heretofore not used, and also the breeding of hogs was increased. This state of affairs continues across the water.

What is the result of curtailment? It means less labor employed on the land, less haul by the carriers, without including other features that tend to lessen employment. These people thrown out of employment generally seek the large cities for employment, but it generally is not to be had, hence they go on relief or on public works, and all at the expense of the taxpayers.

Our country prospered on its exports. Grains and meats and lard were shipped in abundance for perhaps over seventy years, thus enriching our country. Now we see hams coming here from central and eastern Europe, every pound of which means a double loss to our treasury. M. P. K.

GRAMMAR VS. EMPHASIS.

Chicago, April 19.—I grieve that one cannot say in the English language anything very brave or emphatic and say it grammatically. For example, when I was a boy learning the plumbing trade my exasperated foreman wanted to make it clear to me that what I said couldn't be depended upon, and he exclaimed: "What you say don't signify nothing!" At the time I hadn't sufficient knowledge of grammar to realize that this wasn't the correct way of expressing the thought the foreman wanted to convey to my mind, but I did think it was a forceful statement, valiantly expressed. For over 50 years this expression would recur to me, and just the other day, a full half century since I started in to learn the plumbing trade, I listened in on part of a conversation between two rather poorly dressed men, and one of them, to show his contempt for everybody and everything, exclaimed: "I don't pay no attention to what nobody says!" Now, this struck me as a brave and defiant way of saying what would sound weak and puerile if grammatically expressed. And it brought back to my mind the foreman in the plumbing shop, whose expression I still regard as a "classic."

WANTS MUFFLERS ON MOTORCYCLES.

Chicago, April 19.—Is there no law requiring motorcycle owners to equip their motors with mufflers? They pay the smallest license of any motor conveyance, but they cause the greatest disturbance.

There seems to be no attempt made by the police to cause motorcycle drivers to operate their vehicles more quietly, although if a car owner drives without a muffled motor he is liable to a fine.

On Saturdays or Sundays, when the weather is such that one would like to have a few windows open, it is impossible to use the telephone, hear the radio, or, in some cases, to allow a baby to get any sleep—all because a $4 license permits one to make as much noise and commotion as possible with a motorcycle.

W. D. STONE.

SEES A PLACE HERE FOR REFUGEES.

Chicago, April 18.—An issue is being made of the humanitarian action taken by Secretary of State Cordell Hull with the approval of the President to get twenty-nine nations interested in finding a partial solution for the problem created by the plight of the more recent refugees. Since it has been particularly provided in the call that all steps must fall within the respective immigration laws it is difficult to see why anybody in the United States, where the influx stands restricted and regulated, should feel at all alarmed.

Even if there should be some slight increase in the number of immigrants it does not follow that this would result in any displacements of our own people from positions by newcomers. On the contrary, a well regulated small immigration stream may even at this time benefit the United States as a whole and help create employment for everybody.

In a large country like ours there are special opportunities of which men and women coming from other lands may avail themselves and which are not suitable for those who were trained under our system and conditions. To cite a few: European women are welcomed by many American housewives in modest circumstances as domestics when the same families will not or cannot afford to employ native help. Thousands of positions thus remain unfilled. More frequently jobs of this kind are especially created for kinfolks who know the tastes and customs of the employers. In the end, however, it means more new homes and increase in building and more prosperity. For men similar opportunities are available for old-fashioned artisans such as master tailors, cabinet makers, and a variety of other handworkers who have not been despoiled by mass production and the machine.

Surely the scientist and those of international repute who are invited to come to continue their work of benefit for mankind are in a class by themselves.

Aside from it all, an international action of this kind should be looked upon from the viewpoint of wider possibilities. The United States, as the one great power which has in the past demonstrated it does not harbor any sinister motives or designs, may exert a moral influence by the very act of taking the initiative.

EASTER INSPIRATION.

Evanston, Ill., April 18.—One of the most beautiful customs in the country today is the sunrise service on Easter morning. Thanks to radio, and to the broadcasting companies, it is available to the great majority, regardless of where they may be.

Coming this Easter from the Atlantic en route to Honolulu, it was most inspiring and gave one a feeling of security and kinship. Two of the most thrilling broadcasts were of the Natural Bowl in the Garden of the Gods, Colorado, where the native birds kept up a lively accompaniment, and from the Grand canyon in Arizona. The most touching was from Death Valley, Cal., where a boy from the CCC camp sang "Calvary" to the accompaniment of a banjo, and three trumpeters played "The Holy City" to an audience comprised chiefly of CCC men and Indians.

The idea is a beautiful one. May it always continue. H. K. J.

1937 LICENSES IN "EGYPT."

Cairo, Ill., April 17.—The writer is a traveling man living in Oak Park and is now on a three weeks' road trip through all of southeastern Illinois, including that section well known as Little Egypt.

In traveling down here one observes the number of cars still carrying 1937 license plates as well as the number of old junks with no license. Can it be that these people live in a part of our state that has absolutely no policing such as we have in Cook county? It really does not seem fair for one part of the state like Cook county to put on drives with arrest slips to people who do not get their 1938 plates by a certain date which has been months ago, and to find car owners down here still going along unconcerned with no plates, or 1937 plates, at this late date. On Saturday in Harrisburg I counted in one block on the square seven cars with 1937 plates and two with none, and around the square one block south two policemen standing without an apparent care in the world.

The Illinois state police are no exception. Not once have I seen them stop these offenders of the law. Possibly I overlook that this is election year, during which time a voter can get by with anything but murder, and I guess even that would be okay if he could prove he could put over a couple counties in their column.

Wake up, Cook county motorist, and protest this sort of thing in a loud voice, preferably by vote. JACK.

WHERE IS THE DIFFERENCE?

Chicago, April 18.—When a man who runs a small shop finds that he is getting no business, and has to lay off his employés, every one can understand that. But when this is multiplied many times in the case of a large industry—orders dropping off, overhead running into thousands of dollars per day, and it becomes necessary to lay off employés—it is too much for the one cylinder minds to comprehend. Ulterior motives are suspected immediately—"there is no excuse—it is just politics."

JOINT SAFETY BOX.

Chicago, April 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. It is common knowledge that where two persons rent a safety deposit box jointly, each having access to the one box, that should one of them die the survivor would not be permitted to take anything out of said box.

2. I have been informed this difficulty may be eliminated by having a document from each party to the effect that it is their wish that survivor may come into possession of contents. If this be true, how should the document read?

3. Would also like to know if this also applies to a joint bank account where either party may sign a check and be honored? K. H.

1. This is overstating the point, but it is true that joint access to the box is not in itself sufficient showing of ownership of the contents.

2. We do not undertake to draft papers through our law department service. Complications might be involved on some of the securities. We advise you to employ an attorney.

3. Take this up with the officials of the bank in question.

QUIET KIBITZERS TO SPEED WORK ON BUILDING CODE

Aldermen Blame Debates for Slow Revision.

Determined to end interference which they blame for delay in approving and passing the city's revised building code, the council subcommittee on revision announced last night that its sessions will no longer take the form of public hearings.

The remaining chapters of the revised code will be approved with all possible speed to spur construction of dwellings, small multiple apartment buildings, and to benefit small property holders, aldermen stated. They expected to make greater speed since observers for building material industries will no longer be permitted to speak or to argue with members of the subcommittee, although they still attend the meetings.

Act After Seeing Mayor.

The announcement was made after members had conferred with Mayor Kelly at the close of a long and disagreeable session in which two chapters of the revised code were approved and two others were held up for further consideration and possible changes.

Ald. James J. McDermott [14th], chairman, called on the mayor with Alds. Thomas J. Terrell [29th] and Arthur G. Lindell [9th], members, and Robert Knight, deputy city building commissioner. In presenting their case they outlined the long struggle to revise the city's outmoded code.

Changed conditions after the world war were responsible for the first efforts to revise the code. Not until 1927, however, was anything done. Then a former Republican mayor appointed a citizens' committee, which was later dissolved after accomplishing nothing.

Last year Mayor Kelly appointed a new citizens' committee, which held hearings at which building materials industries, building trades, and property owners had their day in court. The group then drafted a revised code of 1,500 pages and fifty-four chapters.

Turned Over to Subcommittee.

This was submitted to the council and went in turn to the council's building committee and the present subcommittee on revision. Joseph McCarthy, architect, and Deputy Commissioner Knight were appointed technical advisors to the subcommittee. F. J. Thielbar, architect and chairman of the mayor's committee, has been sitting with them at the sessions.

Nine of the chapters, covering large buildings and factories, have been approved and passed by the council. The subcommittee is now engaged with the chapters on dwellings and small apartment buildings. Two of these, on floor and roof construction and trussed steel joist and other construction, were approved yesterday. Trouble arose when the subcommittee began on the article dealing with types of buildings was reached.

This section specifies that wooden building frames might be covered with an exterior metal surface not less than 1-40 of an inch thick.

"What's this, tin houses?" demanded Ald. Terrell.

"Yes," interposed Ald. Lindell, "under that section you could flatten out tomato cans and nail them to your wooden framework and have a house.

Protest "Paper" Houses.

At the suggestion of Chairman McDermott the article was withheld. A little farther on all-metal buildings were described. This drew another protest against tin houses. But the real explosion came when a section described buildings of frame construction with outer walls sheathed in wood or compressed gypsum or fiber board not less than half an inch thick.

"Paper houses!" cried Terrell and Lindell together. "It's not enough to authorize tin can houses; we must have paper houses.

"Now, now, gentlemen," said Deputy Commissioner Knight. "Those are not residences that are being described. You must wait till we reach the occupational provisions chapter. It will specify that certain types of buildings can be used only for certain things. These in question would serve as oil stations or sandwich shops, or something.

Fears Effects of Delays.

"But," said Terrell, "if we pass this chapter now, tin can and paper dwellings may go up all over before we can pass the occupational provisions chapter."

"It is plain something must be done or the aldermen must take things into their own hands," said Chairman McDermott. "If we pass these paper and tin house provisions before the occupational provisions they will have to conform to the old code now in effect. Then the new code will have to be made to conform to the houses; not the houses to the code."

At this point several building materials men—the hearing room was filled with them—attempted to join the discussion, but were called out of order by McDermott.

After conferring with the subcommittee late in the day Mayor Kelly said: "The aldermen will get somewhere now. It is imperative that we get building started and put men to work."

PARKWAY ACROSS STATE ALONG OLD U. S. CANAL URGED

Plan to Suspend Route Revives Project.

BY HAL FOUST.

A proposal for a cross state parkway from Chicago to Rock Island has been revived by a recent decision of federal authorities to suspend navigation after the present season on the 46 year old Illinois and Mississippi canal. Congress is being asked to turn over the 75 mile right of way of this water route to the state for recreational uses.

This right of way, of an average width of 300 feet, extends from the Illinois river at Hennepin [20 miles below La Salle] to the Mississippi river near Rock Island. The parkway would be continued east from Hennepin on the banks of the Illinois river, the Des Plaines river and the old Illinois and Michigan canal. The entrance to Chicago would be by a depressed boulevard in the bed of the Illinois and Michigan canal from Willow Springs road to Western, Damen or Ashland avenue.

Congressman Urges Approval.

Robert Kingery, chairman of the Illinois state planning commission, yesterday said that Congressman Everett M. Dirksen [R., Peoria] was urging Washington to approve the parkway suggestion for the Illinois and Mississippi canal.

Mr. Kingery, former director of the Illinois department of public works, said that Gov. Horner has approved a general scheme for the development of recreational areas in Illinois, including this cross state parkway.

The general scheme, it was learned, also includes a parkway between Chicago and St. Louis by way of the Illinois and Mississippi rivers. It would follow the same course as the Rock Island to Chicago recreational route east from Hennepin.

The recommendations for future parks and parkways were made to Gov. Horner early this year by the regional office of the national park service with the state planning commission concurring.

River Route Commended.

"The proposal for an Illinois river parkway," reads the report, "has very great possibilities not only because the Illinois river valley is itself of high scenic quality, but also because there are several publicly owned areas lying along or near the river which, in effect, are links in a potentially long chain of recreational and conservation areas."

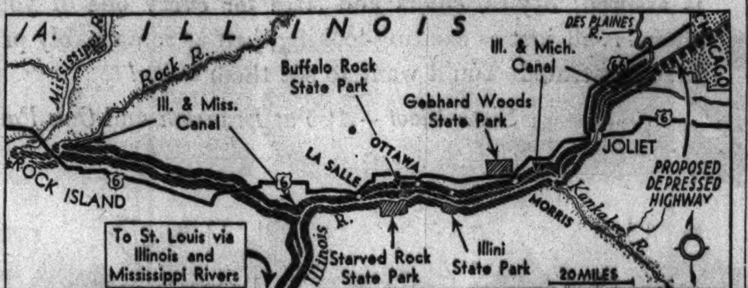
The Tribune road car last week reported the present attractions of a tour along this route.

Regarding the proposed Illinois and Mississippi parkway, the report reads in part as follows:

"It is not necessary that roadways should follow the parkway throughout; but provision for public access is required. Such suitable roads as do run near the canal could be connected here and there with nearby roads of parklike character; and at occasional points, attractive pieces of wooded land should be obtained."

Proposed Cross State Parkway

(Story in adjoining column.)



The heavily shaded area marks the route of the proposed new parkways along the Illinois-Michigan and the Illinois-Mississippi canals and down the Illinois river. Black lines mark routes 6 and 66. Entrance to Chicago would be by a depressed boulevard in the bed of the old Illinois-Michigan canal.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

OFFICIAL TELLS DETROIT REMEDY FOR TAX MUDDLE

How Detroit has worked itself out of bankruptcy and tax strikes to solvency and the highest percentage of tax collections in the country was explained yesterday by Albert E. Cobo, treasurer of that city, at a luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the Palmer house. Cobo declared that the way to get more money in taxes is to reduce taxes.

In 1933 Detroit was bankrupt, owed 26 million dollars, was two months behind in pay rolls and the taxpayers were on strike. Today, Cobo said, city employés' salaries are back at the 1929 peak, old bills have been paid, 17 million dollars of improvements have been built without bond issues, the net funded debt has been reduced by 21 million dollars, and the city is operating on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The secret, Cobo said, is to put business methods into government. Under the new system the tax levy is low, so are the interest rates for late payments. Tax certificates are not sold to title buyers, but the city can apply for a deed on delinquent property two years after the tax extension date. Operating budgets have been lowered.

BLOOD POISONING CAUSES DEATH OF DR. W. L. BLOMGREN

Dr. Walter Lawrence Blomgren, 45 years old, former chief of staf at the Edgewater hospital, died early yesterday of blood poisoning, which set in after he bruised his elbow. He had been ill ten days. At the time of his death Dr. Blomgren was secretary of the hospital. He was removed there from his home at 3135 North Paulina street on April 11.

Dr. Blomgren was a candidate for the Republican nomination for county coroner in 1936, and an unsuccessful candidate for Republican nomination as a sanitary district trustee in last week's primary. He had been a member of the medical economics committee of the Chicago Medical society for the last decade. A graduate of Loyola university medical school, he served with the Field hospital, 33d division, during the world war as a captain in the medical corps.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mae Johnson Blomgren; a daughter, Doris; his father, Carlov; a sister, Mrs. Anna McGuffey, and three brothers, Victor, Edward, and Theodore. Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. Saturday at 4821 North Damen avenue. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery.

Blanks for entries, which must be filed by May 10, may be obtained from these organizations.

There will be two separate classes of contestants—farm owners and operators, and country home or estate owners who have had advice or assistance from professional landscape architects. Beginning June 1, county committees will pick county winners. Regional winners will be selected beginning July 1. ANKARA, Turkey, April 20.—(AP)—Three hundred persons were killed and twenty villages were shaken to the ground by violent earthquakes in central Anatolia, reports today said. It was feared the total casualties would be much larger when a count of the dead and injured is completed. Thousands were without shelter.

Eighteen strong shocks were felt, beginning about 1 p. m. Tuesday and lasting until nightfall, at Ankara, the capital and at Konia, Kirshehir, Yozgad, and Kayseri. Ankara suffered no loss of life, but several buildings were badly shaken and some chimneys and walls collapsed.

The quakes spread ruin through nine of the most productive agricultural districts of central Anatolia. Many villages were reported wiped out in the district of Yozgad and Kirshehir, 100 miles southeast of Ankara.

MRS. M'CORMICK ESTATE PAYS 2½ MILLION IN TAXES

A final accounting in the estate of Nettie Fowler McCormick, who died in 1923 at the age of 88 years, was approved yesterday by Joseph F. Geary, assistant to the Probate judge. The estate, whose value is estimated at $11,778,000, is one of the oldest large estates in probate.

The accounting, filed by the law firm of Tenney, Harding, Sherman & Rogers, reported payments of state and federal taxes totaling $2,530,641. Of this amount $969,298 plus $112,047 interest, went to the federal government. New Jersey collected $251,238 and Illinois $1,198,058. The government had asked $1,845,000 additional estate taxes, but the claim was refused by the United States Supreme court. The amount had been paid, but was rebated to the estate. The executors were granted a fee of $150,000.

Mrs. McCormick, who was the widow of Cyrus Hall McCormick Sr., former head of the International Harvester company, left the bulk of her estate to two sons and a daughter—Cyrus Hall McCormick, Harold F. McCormick, and Mrs. Emmons Blaine. Another son and daughter, Stanley and Mary Virginia McCormick had been previously provided for, the will stated. Mrs. McCormick was internationally known for her philanthropies.

Bloomington, Ill., April 20.—[Special.]—The revolt against AAA acreage allotments is spreading, L. Fred Winterroth of Bloomington, secretary of the Farmers Union of Illinois, said today.

Similar polls are being taken at Guthrie, in Ford county; Elveston, in Hancock county; Creston, in Lee county, and Freeport, in Stephenson county.

HORNER FORCES PROPOSE DELAY OF CONVENTION

Desire to See How Well Roosevelt Stands.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 20. — [Special.] — Horner Democratic leaders, who came to this elegant mountain spa to celebrate their primary victory in Illinois last week, are convinced that the Democratic state convention, scheduled for April 29, should be postponed until fall.

Harry Hershey.

Tomorrow they will so inform Gov. Henry Horner and State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney of Cook county, their titular leaders, with these reasons:

1. The Roosevelt recession may be headed for a Hoover depression, in which case the President may not be such a popular drawing card in November as he has been in other elections since 1932. Therefore the state platform should not be drawn until it can be seen how extensive is the business slump.

Horner Booed in 1936.

2. The 1936 state convention, following closely upon the bitter Horner-Bundesen primary fight, was a most unpleasant affair with Chicago delegates booing the governor and his followers. If the 1938 convention is postponed until fall some of the heat engendered by the recent Igoe-Lucas senatorial battle may cool.

Horner advisers believe the governor and Courtney will think well of the plans evolved here for postponement of the state meeting.

Await Horner and Courtney.

Horner and Courtney are expected here by tomorrow. Congressman Scott W. Lucas, senatorial nominee, will come over from Washington, and by nightfall most of the main cogs in the governor's machine will be on hand.

In addition to talking about the convention recess, the politicians will discuss the organization of the state central committee on April 28, and the call for the special session of the legislature which the governor is expected to issue early in May.

Although the Chicago organization could control the state committee, Hornerites appear to believe they will be allowed to select a chairman. Should this be the case, the governor, his friends feel, will choose Harry Hershey of Taylorville.

Also in the air are nebulous plans to proffer an olive branch to the Nash-Kelly leaders in the form of a promise not to interfere with the reëlection of P. A. Nash to the chairmanship of the Cook county central committee.

RESIGNED HOLC COUNSEL IN LINE FOR JUDGESHIP

Franking Abuse Exposure May Dim Chances.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 20.—[Special.]—Horace Russell, who resigned as general counsel for the Home Owners' Loan corporation last night under fire for violation of legal ethics and misuse of the mail franking privilege, is under consideration for a federal judgeship.

This was learned today as the department of justice launched an investigation into the dispatch by the government attorney of glowing advertisments of the legal abilities of a former colleague to thousands of members of the bar throughout the country. The letters on HOLC stationery were mailed in franked envelopes.

The department's investigation followed the hue and cry raised in congress for prosecution of Russell by Representative Ralph Church [R., Ill.]. Within two hours after Church read Russell's letter to an astounded house, the latter was called upon to resign at a special meeting of the HOLC board.

Highly Touted for Post.

In its own files the department of justice found that Russell had been highly recommended by influential friends for a new judgeship which the pending judicial bill would create on the bench of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. The new bench post is one of many urged by the United States Supreme court.

No formal statement was made on the effect the letter will have on Russell's chances of getting the impending vacancy. Attorneys outside the government service asserted that he had blasted himself out of a possible judgeship by his violation of the code of ethics and many inside the service said he had done nothing but prove that he is a man who stands by his friends.

Russell admitted that he owed the American Bar association an apology, but indicated indirectly he would have no hesitancy in accepting the judgeship.

President of Bar Group.

The attorney is president of the Federal Bar association, which is composed of attorneys in the government service. Today ballots were mailed to the association's membership for the annual election in which Russell is a candidate for reëlection against Robert Freer, federal trade commission attorney.

Asked whether he would withdraw as a candidate in the bar association race, Russell said he could continue as president even though he left the government service because the organization's bylaws permitted former government attorneys to retain membership if they so desired.

At the department of justice it was learned that a flood of protesting letters had poured in upon Attorney General Homer S. Cummings against Russell's conduct. These were turned over to the postoffice department for recommendation.

Liable for $2,880,000 Fine.

Russell, it was learned, mailed letters to 9,600 attorneys. Under the law he is liable to a $300 fine on each letter, which would bring a total penalty of $2,880,000 for the friendly letter.

Friends of the former HOLC general counsel were worried that public reaction may force prosecution of Russell. Failure to prosecute, it was said, might give the Republicans an issue in the congressional campaign next fall.

It is expected that Russell will come to the postoffice department in the next few days and present a check for $288 in payment for postage on the 9,600 letters he mailed out for Judge O. B. Taylor of Winona, Miss., who resigned as associate HOLC counsel.

If the storm blows over after this payment, it is expected that charges of violation of franking privileges will be forgotten. If not, the department of justice, it is believed, will proceed against Russell.

Jacobs Asks State Pay Him $3,259 Overdue on Survey

Springfield, Ill., April 20.—(AP)—J. L. Jacobs, government efficiency expert who surveyed code departments and the University of Illinois at the start of the Horner administration, presented a claim of $3,259 today for services. Jacobs said he had been paid by all the departments except conservation and public works. Jacobs was Cook county assessor at the time the survey was made. The claim, he said, represents not individual services, but salaries and expenses of his organization.

According to CULBERTSON

PLAYER PUTS HIS OWN PARTNER "ON SPOT."

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

One of the most exasperating situations in which a bridge player can find himself occurred recently in a team-of-four match I was watching. This was the deal:

North, dealer.
Team-of-four; total point scoring.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ K J 10 6
♥ 7 5 4
♦ A K Q 5 3
♣ Q

WEST
♠ None
♥ K Q J 9 8 3
♦ J 7 2
♣ J 9 6 4

EAST
♠ 9 4
♥ A 10 2
♦ 8 6

SOUTH
♠ A Q 8 7 5 3 2
♥ 6
♦ 10 9 4
♣ K 10

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 spade	2 hearts
3 spades	4 hearts	4 spades	Pass
Pass	5 clubs	6 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

I am merely reporting this remarkable bidding, most decidedly not recommending it. Obviously North had nothing resembling a double raise over an intervening bid. A single raise would have been ample. Also, South apparently changed his mind about the potentialities of the hand. Over East's four hearts he bid only four spades which, for all he could tell, would be the final contract. Then, when East, in an obvious sacrifice endeavor, went to five clubs, South suddenly decided to go slamming, evidently taking it for granted, as well he might, that North must hold at least two aces for his strong bidding.

The first remarkable thing that happened after the bidding was closed was that East, probably in a dither to lay down his two aces, opened the heart ace, out of turn! West groaned dismally but felt better when declarer, exercising his rights, called for a spade lead. West, having no spade, was privileged to open anything he chose and, in the knowledge that East had the heart ace, laid down the heart king in order to hold the trick and survey the dummy. East then proceeded to put his partner into a horrible position. Instead of making the supremely logical play of overtaking the heart ace and cashing the club ace, East followed suit with the deuce!

To any one looking at all four hands, West's position may not seem so desperate. Perhaps they will argue that the club shift was "open and shut," by reason of East's five club bid and the fact that no more heart tricks could be expected, since East must have held three for his heart raise. This sort of reasoning, however, would be nothing but fatuous, and West's dilemma was a very real one. His partner had permitted him to hold the opening lead and, of course, another heart trick was not to be sought.

But how about East being void of diamonds? That was the source of West's sudden headache. West realized that East had made one of two horrible errors. If he were void of diamonds, his failure to double the final contract would be criminal, since such a double would clearly call for a diamond lead. If he were not void of diamonds and held the club ace, his failure to overtake the heart king was sheer insanity. Thus, West had to decide which error East had made. His decision was calamitous but, for all of that, perfectly correct, in my opinion. He led a diamond. He had finally come to the decision that East, who was not an expert, might very well have failed to double the final contract, not realizing that such a double would call for a diamond lead, but that no player could be so wooden as to fail to overtake the heart if he had the club ace to cash. Obviously, on the diamond lead the hand became a laydown, declarer's two clubs finding a comfortable resting spot on the fourth and fifth diamonds.

Damaged Heart Beat Broadcast to Launch La Rabida Campaign

The crooked beat of a child's defective heart, pulsating through the grand ballroom of the Palmer house, last night opened the $105,000 operating fund campaign of the La Rabida foundation.

The sound, the rapid heart beat and the rushing, roaring stir of the blood, came from the damaged heart valve of a small girl lying on a bed at La Rabida-Jackson Park sanitarium. It was recorded by the new cardograph-stethograph instrument, connected by telephone to the public address system at the hotel.

As contrast, this was followed by the sound of a normal heart, a beat that was steady and regular and free from the rushing sounds caused by blood escaping through damaged valves. The two were explained by Dr. Robert A. Black, chief of staf at the sanitarium.

La Rabida is one of six nonsectarian institutions in the country giving free service to convalescent cardiac children between the ages of 4 and 12. Now using only 40 per cent of its facilities, the campaign is to enable it to run at full capacity for at least three years.

Among the evening's speakers were Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Dr. N. C. Gilbert, president of the Chicago Heart association, and Freddie Bartholomew, child motion picture actor, speaking by radio from California, and rebroadcast from Chicago over W-G-N.

Neat Chinline Helps to Rout Beauty Rivals

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

If the hair does go up, ever so many women are going to regret that they weren't nicer to their throats. The longish hair casts a shadow so that throat blemishes aren't so obvious. But clear that area of its protector and everything wrong with the throat stands out in bas relief. The longish hair acts protectively in direction of the throat, just as the wide brimmed hat does toward eyes and face generally. Or, the effect may be compared to sitting at luncheon table facing a strong noonday light as compared with sitting with one's back to the light. The latter, as every woman knows, provides her a more flattering light, unless her skin and eyes are young, fresh, and sparkling clear.

But why wait for the up-hair motive to clear up the throat and chinline? A little attention every day will make a surprising change in a couple of months. I recently was witness to a "rejuvenated" throat and chinline. Not by any fancy rejuvenation methods, understand. All that was done can be done by any woman right at home. I wouldn't have believed the change possible in the particular woman in question. Her throat was ringed and her underchin crepey and wrinkled. There was a definite droop to muscles along the jawline.

As the story turned out, it was a woman in the forties fighting for her man against competitive odds of a 26 year old. She worked. Morning and night she went after the job of restoring chin, jawline, and throat to beauty. The procedure was simple enough. After a good cleansing with complexion brush and soap and water, and drying, the woman massaged in a good skin food and then proceeded to do her chin and throat exercises.

Those were just the simple ones of turning the head slowly to right and left, letting it drop forward on the chest and back again. But at the end of each exercise turn, to relax she simply patted along the jawline from ear to ear with the back of her hand. More exercise and more patting, every other time stroking up and out from the base of the throat.

The performance took from five to seven minutes. The cream was wiped off and a cube of ice wrapped in a hanky was pressed firmly along the chinline. Not quite two months, really, had elapsed since the treatment started and there was a magnificent change in the woman.

Tact, Patience Can Ease Child Over Dislikes

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: A friend of mine has a boy and a girl of 8 and 10 years of age. The 10 year old one is stubborn and strong willed.

"The other evening for dinner eggs were served. None of the children care for eggs; but due to the Lenten season the mother felt it necessary to serve them occasionally. The younger child ate his portion of eggs willingly, but the 10-year-old refused to eat them. The next evening the mother placed the eggs before her again and told her she would not be served any other food until the eggs were eaten.

"The daughter refused to eat the eggs and went without any dinner. She ate her breakfast and lunch the following day, but for dinner again ate nothing as her mother again placed the dish of eggs before her. Her mother had prepared an especially nice dessert which this child is particularly fond of, but she again refused to eat the eggs and went without her dinner. Her mother is quite upset over the matter, as it is not only the matter of eating the eggs, but of discipline."

Beware of delivering an ultimatum to your children! Too often you find yourself cornered by your own flatly final statements or threats.

Beware particularly of delivering these ultimatums in connection with eating: "You can't have any dessert until you've cleared your plate," or, "I'm going to put this before you every meal until you eat it all up." The thing becomes an issue—a contest of wills—and no one is any the better off, even if the parent finally wins out on this one point.

It is always well to keep in mind too in feeding children that they are entitled to some food dislikes, even as grownups are. Many children dislike eggs, just as almost every child likes meat. We have to ease them into these foods gradually and the less fuss we make over it the better. Serve the disliked food seldom and in small quantities, and vary its way of preparation.

I know from experience just what can be done with this whole business of feeding children, and the more it is divorced from discipline, the better it works out. The whole feeling should be that mealtime is a pleasant occasion, and that eating is part of a friendly sociability and even something of a privilege. In the right atmosphere children can grow up to enjoy eating and to actually like what is good for them.

This whole subject is discussed in our leaflet "Mealtime Troubles, or Why Your Child Won't Eat." It will be sent on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Memorial Show

An exhibition of the previously unhung paintings of the late Robert B. Harshe, director of the Art institute, will open at the institute today following memorial services for Dr. Harshe. The exhibit will continue through May 22.

The exhibit, with its total of eighty-nine oils, water colors, pastels, and etchings, represents about one-twentieth of the work which Dr. Harshe, quiet artist as well as museum director, did during spare hours. Although never without sketch book, on vacation or on his travels, he refused to show his works during his lifetime because of his official position.

The memorial services will be held at 3:30 o'clock in gallery 25 of the institute. Potter Palmer, chairman of the board of trustees and acting director, will preside. Among the speakers will be Chauncey McCormick, vice president; Charles H. Burkholder, secretary; Charles Fabens Kelly, assistant director, and Daniel Catton Rich, associate curator of paintings.

Dr. Harshe, who died last January, was director of the institute for seventeen years.

The Housewife

If you like a smooth, evenly waxed floor and one that is not dangerously slippery try the new luster wax that is the result of laboratory testing. It comes in pint and quart size cans and is good for linoleum, rubber, hardwood, tile, and composition floors.

The secret to successful, nonsticky waxing is to apply this liquid very thin, using a soft cloth or an applicator and spreading it on evenly. Too often waxes are flowed on, like paint, and this always ends in a smudgy, sticky surface.

Of course, the floor must be clean before you start to wax it, and it must be dry, too. Never wax a damp linoleum floor. EDITH WEIGLE.

'Mamma's Boy' Hears Thing or Two from Dad

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

We heard of a dad's reprimand of his 18 year old son that tickled us.

"That girl of yours, no doubt, son," admonished the dad, "thinks you are a man, treats you like one because you act like one when you are with her. And I'm all for you, boy, in that rôle. But when I see you acting like a child around home here, expecting your mother to wait on you like a nurse or servant, I wonder if it isn't my duty to inform the girl that you are putting one over on her, because I like the girl and I don't want her fooled!"

Dad reported that his son became a man overnight in that household. The lecture worked better than the boy's father dreamed it would. But dad did hint that if other girls were to take a peek in on the boy friend in his own home surroundings, they might quickly stop telling him he is wonderful. Or they would discover with great glee that they had picked a winner.

Certainly, not all boys look upon their mother as nurse or servant. Some of them are perfect courtiers to their mothers, and this forebodes a pleasant outlook for a girl married to such a one, provided, of course, he does not become mamma's slave and nurse. This sometimes happens with a spoiled mamma. However, that's another theme for discussion.

Every one who has studied the reasons for martial discord reports on the mountainous proportions that small incidents of untidiness can take on. The young man who, in his mother's home, has remained the child expecting to be waited upon, his clothes hung up after him, the bathroom put in order after his bath, can become a great trial to one who has been reared in the kind of home in which each was expected to do his own chores and wait upon himself and herself. Trifling incidents such as tooth powder spilled all over the washbasin have been known to start a quarrel ridiculous in proportion to the flame that started it.

A big offense is more easily forgiven. Its very surprise element saves it from becoming the major catastrophe expected. It is the other —the small incident—which, like the proverbial drop of water, wears away the stone. Ask any wife you know if this is not true. Some women would forgive a man more readily for forgetting to come home until the wee small hours than to be faced with the job of restoring the bathroom to order after him.

We are just tipping you off, boys! It is of the utmost importance to your happiness to cease feeling or acting like a child in your parents' house.

The best method for cooking asparagus is this: Wash the stalks, break off the lower, tougher parts [save them to flavor soups], and tie the stalks together again in a bunch. Stand the bunch upright in boiling, salted water in order to give the stalks a head start on the more tender tips. After 10 minutes lay the bunch on its side to complete the cooking. Unless the asparagus is large, 15 minutes in all is long enough.

Cooked asparagus may be served hot with butter or a sauce, or it may be made into salads or various combination dishes. Canned asparagus may be served in all the same ways, of course.

Asparagus and Olives au Gratin.

[Serves Four.]

20 stalks cooked asparagus
¼ cup chopped ripe olives
2 hard cooked eggs, chopped
1 cup white sauce
⅓ canned pimiento
Buttered crums

Arrange asparagus in the bottom of a buttered baking dish and sprinkle with olives and eggs. Sieve the pimiento and add it to the white sauce. Pour over asparagus, top with buttered crums, and bake until thoroughly hot in a 400 degree oven. To make the white sauce: Blend two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, and one-quarter teaspoon salt. Add one cup milk and cook over low heat, stirring until thickened and smooth.

ASPARAGUS BAKED IN CREAM.

Cook asparagus until tender in boiling salted water and arrange in a greased baking dish. Cover with cream and sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in a 400 degree oven for just long enough to heat thoroughly and melt the cheese. Serve from the baking dish.

Asparagus Loaf.

[Serves Eight.]

1 No. 2 can green asparagus tips
1 pimiento, cut in strips
5 egg yolks
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon butter
1¾ cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
5 egg whites

Line greased shallow pan with asparagus tips. Garnish with pimiento strips. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored, and add to white sauce made from flour, butter, milk, and seasonings. Fold in egg whites beaten until stiff. Pour sauce over asparagus. Place pan in hot water and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, until firm. About 45 minutes will be required. Unmold on platter and pour melted butter over loaf.

ASPARAGUS AND LEEKS SALAD.

Arrange cold cooked leeks and cold cooked or canned asparagus on a bed of lettuce or other greens for each serving. Add French dressing. Be sure that both leeks and asparagus are well seasoned before combining the salad.

FRENCH FRIED ASPARAGUS.

Use cooked or canned asparagus. Drain and dry somewhat. Dip into beaten egg and then into fine dry crums. Arrange in frying basket. Lower basket into hot fat at 375 degrees, or 40 second bread cube test temperature. Cook until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper, sprinkle with salt, and serve hot. Do not try to cook too many stalks at one time.

ASPARAGUS, CUCUMBER, AND TOMATO SALAD.

Peel tomatoes, allowing one to a serving. Cut in quarters toward blossom end, leaving sections attached. If tomatoes are large, cut in six sections each. Spread the sections apart and place on watercress. Insert thin slices of cucumber between the cuts and lay asparagus tips in each opening, tip end outward. Pile mayonnaise, cooked salad dressing, or sour cream dressing in the center.

Mrs. Beacom, Henry Faurot to Be Married

BY JUDITH CASS.

It will come as a surprise even to their good friends that Mrs. Harold Beacom and Henry Faurot Jr. are engaged. They had hoped to keep their engagement a secret until after the wedding.

The issuance of a marriage license to Margaret Hunter Beacom and Henry Faurot Jr. yesterday in Waukegan gave away the secret, however, so this morning her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Pirie, are announcing the engagement.

No date is set for the wedding, but it will be soon, undoubtedly in Lake Forest, where the Piries live, and where Mrs. Beacom lived as a girl. She now is living at the Fortnightly club in Bellevue place and Mr. Faurot and his children live in Astor street.

Miss Dorothy Wegg Will Be June Bride.

June, traditionally the month not only of roses but of brides, has been chosen by Miss Dorothy Spencer Wegg as the month in which she will become the bride of George Walker Morgan. The wedding will be a small one at 4:30 o'clock on the afternoon of Tuesday, the 21st, in the chapel of St. James' Episcopal church, with a reception following at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Russell Wegg of East Elm street. Only the immediate families will be asked to the reception.

Miss Wegg, whose father is David Spencer Wegg of New York, will have her sister, Miss Helen Wegg, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Elizabeth Morgan, as her attendants. An eastern friend will be Mr. Morgan's best man. The list of ushers is not complete, but Mr. Morgan's brother, John Alden Morgan, will be among them.

Wiley-Persons Nuptials June 11.

Another small June wedding will be that of Miss Virginia Benedict Wiley and Alexander Metcalf Persons, which will be so informal that the few who are invited to the ceremony will receive notes from the bride's mother instead of the customary engraved invitations.

The service will be read at 4:30 o'clock on June 11 in the Graham Taylor chapel of the University of Chicago. A small reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Morris Wiley of East 48th street.

Miss Wiley will have her sister, Miss Margaret Wiley, as her only attendant. Mr. Persons, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Persons of Worcester, Mass., will have Eugene Swigart as his best man. There will be no ushers. After a wedding trip to Bermuda Mr. Persons and his bride will live in Worcester, Mass.

Wing-Rumsey Wedding Plans.

The date for the wedding of Miss Barbara Wing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Wing of Toledo, to Wallace Donelson Rumsey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Donelson Rumsey of Winnetka, has been set for May 21. The ceremony will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the chapel of the Collingwood Avenue Presbyterian church in Toledo, the Rev. R. Lincoln Long officiating.

Only a small group of friends and relatives will be present. Miss Betty Louise Bennett of Toledo will be Miss Wing's only attendant. David Lake Rumsey of El Paso, Tex., will be his brother's best man.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Mary Jane Fawell to Joseph Rawdon Buell Jr. Miss Fawell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George William Fawell of Highland Park, will be married to Mr. Buell Jr., son of Joseph R. Buell, at 8:30 o'clock on May 7 at Trinity Episcopal church in Highland Park. A reception following the ceremony will be held at the Exmoor Country club.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

The Observation Post.

Hollywood, Cal., April 20.—We are living in a cagy age, an age of reservation and indirect statement. If you do motoring to any extent you are familiar with these signs: "Road Dangerous, but Passable." Now, a road either is dangerous, and should be blocked off completely, or it is passable. You should not be warned that you are traveling it at your own risk. I blame it on the age we are living in, which is a very cagy age, indeed, as I will prove to you.

Not many nights ago we went to see "Test Pilot," which is a very fine picture. Hardly had we settled ourselves in our seats when this flashed on the screen: "The events and characters depicted in this photoplay are fictitious. Any similarity to actual persons, either living or dead, is purely coincidental."

That cagy note, wiped off the screen, was succeeded by this one: "Any air hazards this picture represents bear no relation to the safety of modern air transportation."

By this time I felt certain that the mighty M.-G.-M. studio had made all possible reservations, but then this third qualification flashed on the screen: "Due also to the natural secrecy surrounding the specifications of government aircraft, the technical data used in no way represents the performance of any aircraft, either military or civil."

By that time your reporter had come to enjoy this game of saying that nothing was on the level. The movie makers should not stop with three reservations but they should carry on. I have prepared some other cautious screen forewords for them.

No. 4—"The audience is asked to bear in mind that the resemblance of Leo, the lion, to any other lion, living or dead, is purely coincidental. Leo's similarity to any lion in any zoo, jungle, veldt, or mountain range is just one of those things and is not to be taken seriously. In fact, Leo, strictly speaking, is not a lion, as he is a she. It may be added that any resemblance to any lioness also is accidental, one of those unfortunate things that happen in the best regulated families."

No. 5—"The plot of the picture you are about to see is not a plot, living or dead, and any semblance of a plot is sheerly accidental. If you fancy that you detect a plot in this story we advise you strongly to communicate immediately with your congressman or send 10 cents and the top of your theater manager to the Screen Writers' guild."

No. 6—"The character playing the part of Clark Gable in this film is not to be confused with Clark Gable. Any resemblance of Gable to Gable, Loy to Loy, or Tracy to Tracy is a coincidence that would not happen again in a thousand years, so help us. In fact, we do not know, have never met, and do not propose to be introduced to any of these actors here at the studio. They are known to us only by numbers. However, any resemblance between their numbers and any other numbers is hereby repudiated by this company."

No. 7—"'Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs' is fictitious. Any similarity of any of the dwarfs to Junior Laemmle, A. C. Blumenthal, or any other shorties is purely coincidental. If Grumpy reminds you of your old man, that is his fault and you can take it up with the Smithsonian institution. Mind you, we are not inferring that the Smithsonian institution actually is an institute in the legal sense of the word, or that it resembles any other institute. The wicked queen in the picture you are about to see is not intended as a caricature of any other queen sitting on any other throne in any country. The trees have no relation to any forest anywhere, as this studio, acting on advice of counsel, subscribes to the belief that only God can make a tree and only Disney can make pictures without actors."

No. 8—"The trailer which you have just seen is not to be mistaken as a guarantee of the picture which it advertises. In fact, we are not willing to go on record that the scenes in this trailer will be in the picture, or that the actors who are in the picture are still under contract to our studio. In fact, we are not even willing to make a bet that we still have a studio. This is the best we can tell you without resorting to an evasive answer."

No. 9—"In the picture which you are about to witness the hero, in reel 3, makes love to the heroine and asks her to marry him. We wish to go on record that we do not stand behind this proposal of marriage. In case of any litigation, breach of promise suits or alienation of affection suits, we are out in the clear. We simply present these actors and actresses with the opportunity to express opinions, but we are not necessarily in agreement with these opinions."

Yes, indeed, we are living in a cagy age. I got an Easter telegram from a very dear friend of mine. It read: "Wishing you a reasonably happy Easter." He did not want to be too positive about the thing, you see. The last frontier of aggressive, straightforward declaration is the race track. Their charts still read: "Weather clear, track fast." There are no ifs, ands, or buts about it.

Founder Tells How She Runs Sandia School

The things Mrs. Albert G. Simms said about the Sandia school and the pictures she showed yesterday at a tea given for her by Mrs. Richard Gambrill Jr. made all the women there wish they were in their teens again so that they could become students at the school in Albuquerque, N. M., that Mrs. Simms owns and directs.

Mrs. Simms started the school five or six years ago when she went to live in Albuquerque so that her younger daughter, Ruth Elizabeth McCormick, could live at home and still have proper schooling until she was ready to go to boarding school.

The school flourished and grew from a day into a boarding school, and Mrs. Simms, formerly Mrs. Medill McCormick, has continued her interest in it in spite of the fact that her daughter now goes to the Foxcroft school in Virginia. In fact, Mrs. Simms' interest is so keen that she teaches horsemanship and takes an active part in the dramatic and citizenship departments at the school.

Mrs. Gambrill's younger daughter, Joan, who is going to Sandia next year, was one of the most interested guests at the party, which was given in the Evanston apartment of the Gambrills.

Mr. and Mrs. Simms are spending several days in and near Chicago on their way home after having been in Charleston, S. C. Mrs. Simms' son, John Medill McCormick, will be an usher today at the wedding in Warrenton, Va., of Miss Helen Warren Buchanan, daughter of John R. Buchanan of Warrenton and Mrs. Lester Buchanan of Washington, D. C., to William Standley Stokes Jr. of Berwyn, Pa. The ceremony will take place in St. James' church with a reception following at Leny Manor, the home of Mr. Buchanan.

MOVIE CLOSEUP

Tomorrow the Chicago theater will try a new stunt. At 9 a. m., preceding its first show, the doors will be opened and the public permitted to watch the stage rehearsal that precedes the regular show. Seventy youngsters, under the direction of Merriel Abbott, will appear in a special "Enchanted Adventures" revue, and as an added feature the Our Gang comedy star, Spanky McFarland, will appear in person.

Susan Ballard Is Wed Midst Spring Beauty

The soft blue of hydrangeas, Easter lilies and other fresh spring flowers were the keynotes of the decorative scheme of the wedding yesterday of Miss Susan Rankin Ballard to Stewart Boal, which took place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in Christ church, Winnetka.

Easter lilies were used in the church, and pink and blue hydrangeas filled the playroom of the Hubbard Woods home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest S. Ballard, where the reception was held. The bridesmaids wore taffeta dresses in hydrangea blue and carried bouquets of multicolored spring flowers.

The slim blonde bride wore a handsome gown of cream satin, simply made, with a long train. A three-cornered lace veil, that is a family heirloom, fell from her head, one point covering her head, the other two falling to the train, and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Miss Betsy Ballard, who was maid of honor for her sister, carried white carnations, and two carnations trimmed her blue poke bonnet. The other adult attendants wore wide-brimmed natural leghorn hats trimmed with pastel ribbons, and Mary Ballard, the bride's schoolgirl sister, who was the flower girl, wore hydrangea pink marquisette and carried a colonial bouquet of roses and forget-me-nots. The same flowers trimmed her ribbon headband.

Mrs. Joseph R. Duryee of New York, the bride's maternal grandmother, who was the first to wear the three cornered lace veil, was present at the ceremony, and so was Ellis Ames Ballard of Philadelphia, Mr. Ballard's father. Other relatives from out of town were the Frederick Ballards of Philadelphia, whose daughter, Jean, was a bridesmaid; the Samuel Duryees of New York, whose daughter, Nina, also was an attendant; the Lucius Salisburys of Scarsdale, N. Y., and Henry Kidder Jr. of New York, an usher. Mrs. Raymond Hardenbergh, aunt of the bridegroom, and his cousins, Miss Susan Hardenbergh, Robert Wicks, and Miss Kitty Poe of Washington and the Bennett Poes of Muncie, Ind., were others.

Mr. Boal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ayres Boal of Winnetka, is taking his bride to Havana on their wedding trip. They will live in the Marshall Field Garden apartments. Ayres Boal Jr. was best man for his brother, and another brother and sister, Thomas Boal and Miss Henrietta Boal, were among the bridesmaids and ushers.

Varied Program Is Presented by Field's Chorus

BY EDWARD BARRY.

With flowers and greenery providing a cheery vernal touch to the somewhat wintry looking stage of Orchestra hall, the 180-odd men and women of the Marshall Field and Company Choral society massed themselves last evening in a great rectangle and proceeded to sing an astonishingly varied program for the audience of friends, relatives, and fellow employés which jammed the house. Edgar Nelson conducted. John Charles Thomas, American baritone, served as assisting artist.

Choral arrangements of such familiar tunes as "The Blue Danube" and "Finlandia," made up a good portion of the program. There was a little folk music, some contemporary and near contemporary sacred and secular songs—even an excerpt from Tschaikowsky's opera, "Eugen Onegin." Mr. Thomas ranged from "Comus" to "Pagliacci" in search of operatic material, and salted and peppered his program with present day novelties of the lighter sort.

The choral society has achieved considerable flexibility under Mr. Nelson's direction and is often able to give the impression of a plastic and responsive musical instrument. Dynamic range and color variety are good. So is tone quality [except in "Heigh-Ho for a Husband," an old English folksong, which forced the sopranos into some too difficult progressions].

John Charles Thomas is one man who can sing "Home on the Range" and get away with it. He does this discouraging little ditty with immense fervor—his virile, tweedy voice becoming persuasive and velvety as he dwells on the various advantages of a trans-Mississippi residence. Mr. Thomas' other songs were definitly less trying, although one of his novelties [a setting of "Sing a Song of Sixpence"] verged dangerously on territory which is, or should be, sacred to Nelson Eddy. It was the kind of song which requires or permits the assistance of gesture and facial mobility.

In the "Pagliacci" Prologue the baritone gave a beautiful demonstration of how the doctrin of the mean may be applied to concert performances of operatic excerpts. There were intensity and drama here—but also a lordly restraint. You got the feel of the operatic stage without any of that sense of incongruity which the enactment of an exotic rôle by a man in a full dress suit is so likely to produce.

One of the nicest achievements of the evening was Mr. Thomas' singing of "Flow Gently Sweet Afton." The sincere little melody was simply and sincerely done, with the baritone's ravishingly beautiful voice quality giving new point to its familiar sequences.

The American south was not forgotten in Mr. Thomas' series of geographical compliments. With the choral society providing a fine drowsy background he brought the feel of the levees into Orchestra hall by means of a knowing and tonally beautiful performance of "Ol' Man River."

Enthusiasm was the order of the evening, with a cordial audience loudly applauding the choral society and its director and with audience and chorus joining forces to bring Mr. Thomas again and again to the stage.

Carroll Hollister provided accompaniments for the soloist. Performing a similar service during the choral numbers were Grace T. Fredenhagen and Harry T. Carlson, pianists, and Stanley Martin, organist.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A perfume for the hair is fashion's newest whim. It's in four famous scents, and imparts a delicate, alluring fragrance that is wonderfully attractive.

Poets aren't the only admirers of soft, SCENTED tresses. They're probably only a bit more articulate than most of us. Every woman with a weakness for perfuming herself delicately is interested in a perfume for her hair.

Every woman, then, should be elated to know that there is a brand new and beautiful hair perfume on the market now. We are rapturous about it and so is every willing try-er-outer we asked for an opinion. It's in four fragrances—all of them fine and all of them famous. It's a specially treated liquid that does just the things it should do to give an elusive, utterly charming perfume to the hair. And it's very inexpensive.

This perfume for the hair doesn't come with an atomizer, but we rather think the best way to use it is to spray it on. Atomizers are so inexpensive and so easy to find this is a small item. The big excitement is the hair perfume itself. It won't make the hair sticky or spoil your wave, but it does give it its divine perfume. Naturally your hair should be nice and clean.

A generous application will impart a fragrance that lasts from one shampoo to the next. It should be sprayed generously on the separated strands until the hair is thoroughly dampened. It doesn't hurt the luster and does efface natural hair odor.

We can't say too much about the four fragrances. One is a very, very light oriental that gets more and more charming as it dries. One is a special pet of ours—our personal nomination for one of the most alluring perfumes of all times. It's sophisticated, but it's a beauty of its type. The third is a famous perfume introduced not long ago as the scent to wear with black. The fourth is bright and fashionable and full of charm and sparkle. Let your conscience be your guide as to the one you choose.

Flannel Styles Smart Togs for Country Wear

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Clothes for country bound weekenders and those moving out for the season are bait enough to make the most hardened city dweller "give in" and have the fun of racing for early morning trains.

Sweaters and separate jackets are sufficient in themselves to take any one's cash supply, and when you choose your jackets you can also pick your contrasting or harmonizing skirts. The smoothest stuff in the shops is found in the skirts, shirts, and blouses of flannel, a soft, fine flannel that tailors sharply, keeps long sleek lines and comes in the best looking colors you ever yearned to own.

Powder pink, canary yellow, bud green, aqua and crushed strawberry are delectable new spring tints that can be found in all models. A new idea is the flannel skirt and matching silk shirt.

The shirts are as expertly tailored and cut as a man's shirt, even to the flawlessly fitted convertible collar. The skirt flares just enough to be slim and smart and has a calfskin belt down about two inches from the belt line. A deep side pocket adds to the swank.

Checked jackets with blazingly big patterns aren't half as audible as they sound in print. The colors are simply knockout, good clear mixtures of henna, vivid blue, green, yellow and white, with enough black to make it eye appealing. Such jackets are superbly tailored, fit as smoothly as your skin, and have smart details in pockets, stitching, inverted pleats, yokes, and the like. And added to all this, the price tags are within reason, in fact they're the bargains of the week!

WEDDINGS

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage on Saturday of Miss Elizabeth Ruth Fischer, daughter of Mrs. Haydn L. Fischer and the late Dr. Fischer of Ottawa, to Lawrence Young Lucey of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Lucey, also of Ottawa. The ceremony will take place at the Holy Name cathedral, and Mr. Lucey and his bride will make their home on the near north side. Miss Fischer, who is studying interior decorating here, attended Rosary college and the University of Illinois. Mr. Lucey is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

The wedding of Miss Ann Marie Wetzel, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Richard Wetzel of Elmdale avenue, to Raymond Blake Vaughan, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Vaughan, will take place at 11 o'clock on April 30 at St Gertrude's church.

SYNOPSIS.

Gordon Stone returns to Barranca after 8 years in prison. Gordon was framed by Lyn Gilbert, owner of the Bar B B ranch, and his foreman, Curt Ford. Because Gilbert's niece, Karen, has a friend, Hal Ferguson, take her to the hideout of Gordon and Jack Turnbull, and warn them in time to save them from a posse of Gilbert's riders, her uncle threatens to make her marry Firkins, his secretary, and imprisons her at his ranch. Gordon and Jack start a campaign against Gilbert. The affidavit of Linc Conway, who was kept by threats from coming to Gordon's aid, is published in the Courier. It accuses Gilbert and Ford. Gordon rescues Karen from the ranch. Heading a band of men Gordon captures four Bar B B riders rustling cattle belonging to Gordon's uncle, John Fleming, owner of the J F ranch. Gilbert offers his rider Cheyenne Karen's hand in marriage if he will kill Gordon. He has Ford abduct Karen and take her back to the ranch. At the Longhorn club Gordon confronts Gilbert, who has Webb, one of the released rustlers with him. Gordon is forced to kill Webb in self-defense. Gordon is released on bond. At the ranch one of Ford's men tells Karen he has a message for her from Hal Ferguson, asking her to meet him that night. He persuades Karen to send a message back without Hal's name on it. Too late Karen realizes the note is to lure Gordon into a trap. She manages to escape to warn him. Gordon gets the message. Though suspicious he sets out with Jack Turnbull. Nearing the place they hear a woman scream. They encounter and outwit Jack Hayes, lying in ambush for them.

INSTALMENT XL.

"YOU'RE GOING WITH ME."

"How many of you here?" demanded Stone harshly.

The ranch hand tried to stall. "Why—I came down to fix a busted fence and——"

"Don't lie to me. I said, how many men with you?"

Hayes looked into the steel-barred eyes, cold and remorseless as the gleaming blade of a sword, and gave up without further evasion.

"Only Cheyenne," he said, from a throat become dry and hoarse.

"Where is Cheyenne?"

"I dunno." The man looked around, furtive gaze searching the brush. "Looks like he four-flushed on me and beat it."

"Not Cheyenne," Turnbull differed. "If he left he wasn't scared. He had some other reason."

What other reason? That question stirred troubled thoughts in Gordon's mind.

"I heard a woman scream," he said. "Who was she?"

Their prisoner looked at him sulkily. "I don't know anything about any woman."

"You'd better know," Gordon advised, a threat in his low icy voice. "You heard and saw her."

"I didn't either see her," Hayes growled. "I heard her, same as you did. She wasn't supposed to be here. I don't get it."

"You know who she is?"

The gunman hesitated. "I wouldn't say I know," he said, after a moment of weighed silence. "Sounded like the Gilbert girl, but she hadn't any business here." He looked at Gordon, with dull anger. "Looks like I been double-crossed. Two horses galloped away, one of 'em mine. At least I'll bet one was. Too dark to make sure. Who was on those broncs? I don't know, but I can guess."

"Guess," ordered Gordon.

"Cheyenne on one and the girl on the other. The damned skunk left me cold."

"To bushwhack me alone."

"I didn't say anything about bushwhacking," the man said sullenly.

"No, I mentioned that," Gordon replied.

. . . .

Karen had stolen softly downstairs from her room to the back door. Here she stopped to scan the horizon for enemies. A stir over by the blacksmith shop held her gaze. Presently a man detached himself from the gloom and came into the less opaque darkness of the open. She guessed he was the sentry and watched him, the door open an inch or two, stroll past the house toward the corral.

Clinging close to the wall, she reached the corner of the house. There seemed to be nobody in sight. Not too swiftly, she walked across to the root house. A garden fence barred her way. She crept over it and hurried through rows of beans to the other side of the vegetable patch. Another fence negotiated, she found herself close to the big pasture. When she came to the barb wire she lay down and wriggled beneath the lowest strand.

At this distance from the house her fear of getting caught was less acute. She began to run, driven by dread that she might be too late. The pasture was a mile across.

She must have been going too far to the left, for the barb wire fence stopped her with no road in sight. Following the posts, she traveled toward the corner of the pasture designated.

A voice, curt and sharp, froze her in her tracks.

"Stop there. Stick 'em up. Who is it?"

Some one moved toward her, cautiously. A squat figure came out of the darkness.

"Make one crazy move and I'll riddle you," the voice warned.

"It's Karen Gilbert," the girl answered.

"Damn my skin, if it isn't." The cowpuncher Cheyenne stared at the girl resentfully, a frown on his brown tanned face. "Who the hell slipped up and let you out?" he demanded.

"Never mind about that," she cried. "I came to stop this . . . this terrible thing you plan to do."

The eyes of the man narrowed. Somebody had been talking too much. It must have been either Gilbert or Ford, since noboby else was supposed to know about this except Buck Hayes and him.

"What terrible thing you talkin' about?" Cheyenne asked craftily, searching for information.

"You're here to kill Gordon Stone," she charged.

"Nothing of the kind," he retorted. "Where did you get that fool idea?"

"Curt Ford used my note to decoy him. He as good as told me so."

"You must have misunderstood him. I come down to fix up a fence."

His mind was quartering over the ground as he talked. He would show the Bar B B bosses whether they could play him for a sucker. The thing to do was to get out while there was still time.

"Are you alone here?" Karen asked.

"Sure I am."

Her question had been unexpected. It had given him no time to consider an answer. He had spoken instinctively, to cover up the facts. But he decided swiftly to stand by what he had said. The doubt of Gilbert and Ford grew in his suspicious mind to a certainty that he was marked for betrayal. He would decamp, with an unimpeachable witness by his side. Let Buck Hayes stay and do the job if he liked.

"Alone, except for you," he added, dragging the words significantly.

With one swift glance her eyes swept him. She knew what that tone and manner meant when used by a man to an attractive woman. She wondered if he were going to be difficult. In any case she could cross that bridge when she came to it. The important thing was to get him away from here before Gordon arrived.

"If you are through fixing the fence we might as well go," she suggested.

"That's right," he agreed. "No use sticking around here."

He led the way through the brush to some mesquites where two horses were tied.

Like a flash the girl swung on him. "You told me you were alone," she cried. "There's another man here. You're leaving him to murder Gordon Stone."

"What do we care about him or Stone?" he said thickly. "It's you and me, girl. I'm going to save you from that gray wolf Gilbert."

"Forget that!" she ordered. "I came to save Gordon Stone. We'll get the other man and take him with us."

"Not on yore life. You're going with me."

Mrs. Sisson Urges D. A. R. Support for Navy Expansion Bill

Washington, D. C., April 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Vinton Earl Sisson of Winnetka, Ill., national defense chairman, warned Daughters of the American Revolution today against "uncertain ambitions of foreign aggressors" and "subversive influences" attacking this country from within.

In her annual report to the D. A. R. congress, Mrs. Sisson urged "hearty approval" of the naval expansion bill.

Turning to internal conditions, Mrs. Sisson said subversive influences, which she did not name, have penetrated "even into the agencies of government" and "attempted to enter the ranks of that great American institution, the American Federation of Labor."

In regard to the latter, she said there is cause for rejoicing that "American labor on the whole will have nothing of radical dictatorship."

She praised individual D. A. R. members who "acted spontaneously" a year ago "when the check and balance system was threatened" by the court reorganization bill.

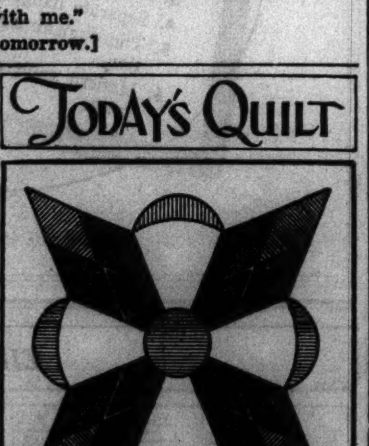
TODAY'S QUILT



Rose Point.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Dating back to the days when pioneers were crossing the plains in covered wagons is this delicate and charming applique block, "Rose Point." The reason for the title is unknown, but those early quilt makers did not need a reason when they designed some of the strikingly beautiful blocks we see in museums and collections. "Rose Point" is an extremely simple block appliqued in vermilion and green against a white ground. Only thirty applique blocks set together with four inch bands of material are required for a coverlet. An eight and one-half inch border is quilted in a running cable design, with "Rose Point" in outline in each corner.

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe Wickes of New York, to Ralph H. Poole Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Poole of Lake Forest.

Mrs. Poole, who is in New York, but who is expected to arrive at home about May 1, telephoned Mr. Poole the news. The announcement was made just before Mr. and Mrs. Wickes sailed for an extended European trip so it is not likely that the wedding will take place until fall. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Rich [Nancy Poole], who were married on Jan. 1, will be at home from their honeymoon about July 1. Mr. Poole had a cablegram from them last Sunday saying that they are now in Kashmir, India.

From New York comes news of the birth of a daughter to Dr. and Mrs. Beverly C. Compton [Cynthia Wilson] on Monday. The former Miss Wilson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Wilson of 1516 State parkway. The baby has been named Cynthia.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Guy A. Osborn of 1180 Hill road, Winnetka, last Friday at the Evanston hospital. Mrs. Osborn is the former Theodora Wagner. The baby, who has been named Nancy Joy, has a 2 year old brother, Guy Jr.

Among those who have made reservations are Mrs. Theodore C. Hume, Mrs. Billings M. McArthur, Mrs. Robert M. Adams, Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson Jr., Mrs. Graham Aldis, Mrs. John T. McCutcheon, Mrs. John A. Holabird, Mrs. Convers Goddard, Mrs. Clay Judson, and Mrs. James Herbert Mitchell.

Mrs. Ralph James has arranged a musical program for this afternoon at the last causerie this season of the Alliance Française. Helen Abbott Byfield will sing and 13 year old Lucy Neilsen will play the violin. Mme. Rene Weiller and Mrs. Samuel M. Rinaker will be hostesses at tea following the program, assisted by Mrs. Warren Fairbanks, Miss Lucy Martin, Mrs. Ernest A. Hamill II., and Mrs. Jacques Humbert.

The Junior auxiliary of the Evanston Infant Welfare society will hold its annual spring rummage sale today and tomorrow at Davis and Oak streets in Evanston. Mrs. Harold O. Barnes is general chairman of the sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford W. Barnes will return to Lake Forest today. They have been visiting Mr. Barnes' sisters, the Misses Grace and Ella Barnes, in Pasadena, Cal.

Interesting Events Crowd Calendar.

Future events of interest include the centennial luncheon of the Chicago alumnæ of Monticello college, to be held Saturday at the Churchill hotel; the annual concert of the Paulist choir on Sunday afternoon at Orchestra hall; the last of a series of four teas given by the alumnæ of the Sacred Heart convent on Sunday at 3:30 at the convent; and a recital on Sunday at the Lake Shore Athletic club to be given by the Skokie Madrigal club. The last named program will be given at 4 o'clock, after which tea will be served.

The woman's auxiliary of the Infant Welfare society will hold its annual spring luncheon at 12:30 o'clock Monday at the Arts club. Also on Monday's calendar are two card parties, one to be given in St. James' Community house for the benefit of the Cathedral Center, and the other to be given at the Drake hotel for the benefit of St. Mary's Home for Girls. Mrs. Robert G. Peck is in charge of the former and Mrs. George Traver of the latter.

The committee in charge of the Rummage shop, which is conducted for the benefit of the Children's Memorial hospital, is giving a tea from 3 to 5 o'clock next Tuesday at the Fortnightly. The price of admission will be a white elephant to be added to the stock of the shop.

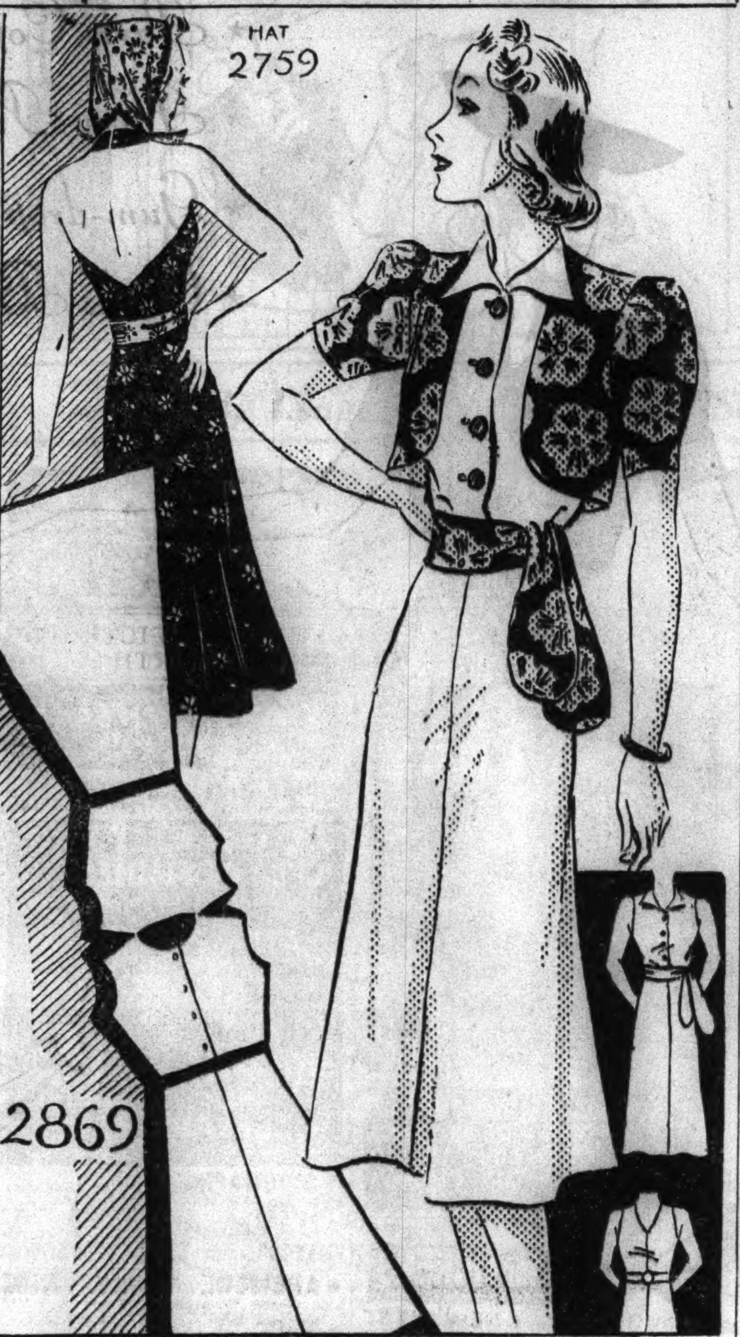
Sports Dress for Vacation



WOMAN'S AND MISS' BOLERO DRESS.

With vacation days not far away, you most certainly will need a supply of frocks for active sports. One of the most practical ideas is to combine a sun-back dress, which you can wear for tennis and at the beach, with a trim jacket which converts the frock into an ensemble.

The dress offered in our pattern today really IS a sun-back model. The halter principle is employed to keep the garment secure. From the front the frock looks much like any other trimly tailored shirtwaist model.

The bolero, with its matching sash, should contrast if the outfit is to be really up-to-the-minute. A nice idea is to make the frock of a pastel and have the jacket and sash of harmonizing print. Or the frock may be of print and the jacket of some light shade.

There's a hat pattern today, a rakish scarflike affair to keep your curls in place while you're motoring or engaging in active sports. The pattern is No. 2759, and it costs 10 cents extra. It's available in one size which you adjust to your own requirements.

Style No. 2869 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, and 38 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 2¾ yards of 39 inch material for the dress, with 1⅛ yards of 39 inch fabric for bolero and sash.

CLOTILDE PATTERNS ARE 10 CENTS EACH

Radio's Molly M'Gee on Road Back to Health

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

It's been six whole months now since listeners have heard Molly's expression, "'Tain't funny, McGee," followed by a spontaneous outburst of laughter from the studio audience. While Marian Jordan, who plays Molly McGee, has been recuperating in a Milwaukee sanitarium after a nervous collapse, Jim Jordan [Fibber], her husband, Author Don Quinn, and the rest of the company have been carrying on without her.

It's a tough job to be funny every Tuesday evening for a half hour with 50 per cent of the comedy team missing. Try to imagine Gracie Allen without George Burns, or vice versa.

Molly's name is often mentioned on the program, reflecting the continued interest of listeners. Jim signs the show off each week with a cheery "Good night, Molly." For a while that gesture was dropped because of a network contention that it violated the network's rule against person to person communications. Finally it was restored on the grounds that Molly was a radio character, not a real life person.

When Marian Jordan's health broke last summer after making a picture in Hollywood she kept right on with her radio work, broadcasting for weeks from a wheel chair. Finally she had to give up and seek treatment. Now she is pretty much recovered. She goes for walks and rides daily, and she has resumed listening to the show and commenting on and criticizing it. But whether she will return to the show before it goes off for a summer's vacation late in June is problematical. Possibly the Jordans will go to Europe for a vacation, or they may go to a mountain or northwoods retreat.

Rockford is agog this week. Major Bowes salutes the city on his broadcast tonight. And tomorrow Nelson Eddy, popular baritone and playmate of Charlie McCarthy, visits the town for a concert. Even standing room is sold out. Eddy will be dodging Chicago admirers today.

The Professional Music Men of America [song pluggers] have announced that Bing Crosby is the nation's No. 1 salesman of popular tunes.

SCHOOLS TO PAY TAXWARANT DEBT WITH BOND ISSUE

Borrowing of 6½ Millions Voted by Board.

The issuance of $6,595,000 worth of school bonds to pay off judgments granted to holders of 1929 tax anticipation warants was voted by the board of education yesterday. The bond issue would pay off part of a 10 million dollar liability resulting from the failure to collect sufficient 1929 taxes to pay off all of the school warants issued nine years ago.

The board in 1929 issued $62,700,000 of warants, representing 75 per cent of the anticipated levies for educational and building purposes. All except about $10,000,000 was paid off. Because of a subsequent reduction in valuations the 1929 tax levy was considerably smaller than anticipated and the tax receipts were insufficient to pay off all warants.

State Law Opens Way.

Legislation enabling the board to issue bonds to pay off judgments was adopted by the last general assembly. The board will now ask the city council to pass an ordinance authorizing the bond issue.

Holders of the 1929 warants claimed that the board improperly distributed 1929 tax receipts by paying off warants in numerical order instead of making pro rata payments to all warant holders. The Circuit court upheld the warant holders and awarded judgments to the extent of 86 per cent of the face amount of the paper, plus 24 per cent interest. Suits by other holders of the 1929 warants seeking similar judgments are pending.

Board Wins in High Court.

The school board won an important case yesterday when the Illinois Supreme court affirmed a ruling of the County court upholding the right of the board to appropriate from back taxes money to pay interest on old tax warants. The decision was on a suit involving the 1935 school levy.

The high court held that in view of the fact that the board could not judge in advance what amount of warants would be issued and the amount of interest to accrue, the original appropriations could only be estimates. The statutes, the court held, should be construed to permit the board to appropriate additional sums from back taxes to pay interest on warants of prior years.

A taxpayer, the Huron and Orleans Building corporation, had brought suit against the board, contending that the 1935 tax levy was excessive as the additional appropriation for warant interest resulted in an increased rate.

Hearing on objections to the 1938 tax levies of the board and other major Chicago governments was continued to May 4 by County Judge Jarecki yesterday. The judge expects that by that time the Supreme court will have announced a decision on the validity of the so-called preadjudication act requiring court confirmation of levies before tax bills are sent out. The hearing of objections to 1938 levies is under the new act.

Mrs. Rita Stanwood Warner (right), who is suing for share of commissions awarded for Deanna Durbin, and her daughter, Joan.

Hollywood, Cal., April 20.—[Special.] — Details of his business arrangements with Mrs. Rita Stanwood Warner, self styled discoverer of Deanna Durbin, were aired from the witness stand today by Jack Sherrill, actor's agent, in Mrs. Warner's suit against Sherrill and Frederick Falkin for an accounting of commissions on Miss Durbin's earnings.

Mrs. Warner, actress and former wife of H. B. Warner, screen actor, says in her suit that she was working for Sherrill and Falkin when she discovered Miss Durbin in October, 1935. She holds it was her agreement with the men, who later became Miss Durbin's agents, that she would receive one-fourth of their commissions from Miss Durbin's contract.

AIRING OF SCHOOL CHARGES AWAITS COURT RULINGS

Delay Discussions Over Principals' Exams.

James B. McCahey, president of the school board, said yesterday that charges of unfair examinations for principalships will not be discussed at the board meeting to be held Wednesday, so long as suits demanding new examinations are pending in the courts.

The statement was made after the Woman's City Club of Chicago and the Chicago Affairs committee of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers had asked the board to explain charges of irregularities in grading the last principals' examinations.

Telegram Asks Statement.

A telegram from the latter group to board members said: "Parent-Teacher members are greatly concerned over charges preferred against the superintendent of schools in relation to the last principals' examination. We are calling on the board of education and the superintendent of schools to make an immediate and authentic statement in connection with this most serious situation.

"We also call upon the board of education to expedite the conclusion of pending court cases so that taxpayers' money intended for the education of Chicago's school children shall not be dissipated by the payment of extended legal services."

A letter from the Woman's City club, signed by Mrs. Paul Steinbrecher, president, claimed that the charges against Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson have resulted in a "serious loss of confidence in the board and the school system."

After the meeting McCahey made this statement:

"The board cannot discuss matters before the courts. The charges have resulted from cases against the school board. The P.-T. A. has given moral support to the court suits against the board and now wants to take the cases away from the courts and try them in the newspapers.

Charges Denied by Superintendent.

"The judicial branch of the government is organized to decide disputes in a regular and orderly fashion. The charges have already been denied by the superintendent and the board of examiners and, if necessary, evidence will be offered to completely disprove the attacks. But the evidence will be offered in court.

"The groups which ask us to explain board action are apparently supporting three suits which disagree with each other.

"One suit, brought by Dr. Hiram B. Loomis, a retired principal, charges that the recent principals' examinations were not properly conducted. A second suit, brought by Raymond M. Cook, Hyde Park High school teacher, doesn't question the validity of the examination but says Supt. Johnson did wrong in asking for a passing grade of 75 instead of 70.

"The third suit, brought by Lemuel E. Minnis, administrative assistant at Wells High school, charges he deserved a higher grade than he received, and should have been passed."

The Chicago Teachers' union yesterday asked the board to reconsider Supt. Johnson's plan for reorganization of junior colleges. Johnson has advised complete freedom in the selection of college teachers, not following the competitive examination system.

McCahey commented, "Supt. Johnson's recommendation was based on the advice of a committee of University of Illinois professors who studied the junior college system."

TAX PAYMENTS COME IN EARLY ON 1938 BILLS

Taxpayers in unusually large numbers are paying their bills several weeks before the first penalty date, it was announced yesterday at the office of County Treasurer Horace G. Lindheimer. With about 152,000 of the 700,000 city tax bills for 1938 in the mails, nearly 1,000 taxpayers already have paid first instalments aggregating more than $70,000, according to William J. Lake, chief clerk. Approximately 600 paid their bills yesterday.

Lake said his department is prepared to send out bills at the rate of 75,000 a day from now on, and anticipated all bills will be in the mail before May 1, insuring that the scheduled June 1 penalty date will be met. Tax bills must be mailed thirty days before the first penalty date.

Courtney Police Arrest 3 in New Handbook Raid

Continuing their series of so-called fact finding expeditions, policemen from the state's attorney's office yesterday raided a handbook at 403 West 63d street and arrested three employés, who were questioned and released. They are Louis Traxler, 7516 South Winchester avenue; Budd Carey, 6356 Stewart avenue, and Thomas Roberts, 436 West 63d street.

SOX WIN, 5 TO 4; CUBS AND DEAN WHIP REDS

SCORE SECOND VICTORY IN ROW OVER DETROIT

Rigney Goes In to Rescue Cain.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox trimmed the Tigers again yesterday, thanks somewhat to their own efforts, but mostly to some very amusing defensive antics by Bill Rogell, Charley Gehringer, and Hank Greenberg. The score was: Chicago, 5; Detroit, 4, and the last two Chicago runs, like the last Detroit run which had given the Tigers a lead, were made without the aid of a base hit.

Winter weather following so close to Tuesday's 80's, could be blamed for a lot of the wild pitching—the Sox gave up eleven passes and the Tigers six—but it was not cold enough to excuse two errors by Rogell and fielding lapses by Gehringer and Greenberg. The great Gehringer let a double play ball go for a single, while groping along the base line looking for some one to tag, and Greenberg wound up, pitcher fashion, to let Marv Owen slide home with the winning run in the eighth inning.

Starting Pitchers Explode.

Sugar Cain and Vern Kennedy, former Sox, were the starting pitchers, and were pretty good until Cain blew up in the sixth after holding the Tigers to two singles and a double in the first five innings, and Kennedy got angry and let the tying run home and loaded the bases in the seventh.

Kennedy, like Cain, was very, very stingy with hits in the first five innings. Mike Kreevich wasted a triple in the first inning, but made a double grow into a score in the third on Hank Steinbacher's single. These three hits were the only ones for the Sox in the first five innings. Three singles, one of them a phoney on Gehringer's aforesaid lapse, completed the Sox total of six for the day. Steinbacher, subbing for Gee Walker, called home because of the death of his mother, made the Sox fourth hit. Rip Radcliff got the phoney and Marvin Owen got the sixth and last hit. The Sox got nothing that looked like a hit in 1⅓ innings off George Coffman, the losing pitcher.

Rigney Is the Winner.

Johnny Rigney was the winning pitcher. He pitched two hitless innings, but the Tigers took a 4 to 3 lead while he was in there. The reeling Cain had walked the first two men in the seventh and Rigney went in and loaded the bases with another pass. He made Don Ross hit into a double play, started and finished by Joe Kuhel, on which a run scored to put the Tigers ahead. He then made Rogell fly to Kreevich.

Clint Brown, who finished Tuesday's season opener, also finished yesterday but had his tough moments. The bases were loaded on a walk, a single, and another walk when Pinch Batter Jo Jo White lined to Kreevich to end the game.

The Tigers, who outhit the Sox, 9 to 7 in the opener, topped them, 8 hits to 6, yesterday, but did no long range firing, except for a double which Roy Cullenbine wasted at the start of the fifth.

Sox Start Missing.

An attack of the whiffs prevented the Sox from ringing up a run in the first inning. After Hayes had flied to Cullenbine, Kreevich slammed a triple to the right field corner. Steinbacher drew a pass, after which

Feller Hurls 1 Hit Game to Blank Browns

Cheers Mother

VAN METER, Ia., April 20.—(AP)—Bob Feller's one hit game today against the St. Louis Browns in his first start of the major league season brought cheer to the bedside of his mother, seriously ill of pneumonia.

"That's fine," she told her husband, "but it's a shame he couldn't have had a no hit game."

Cleveland, O., April 20.—(AP)—Bob Feller shut out the St. Louis Browns with a single hit today while Cleveland's artillery swung into action to win, 9 to 0.

The six foot 19 year old Iowan struck out six Browns, walked six, made two of the Indians' eleven hits, and drove in two runs.

The only hit off Feller came in the sixth when Catcher Billy Sullivan beat out a tap to the box on a close decision.

Important in His Life.

The Browns always have been momentous in Feller's life. The first time Feller started a professional game, in 1936, he struck out fifteen of them and later raised his mark to seventeen against the Athletics. Last year in his first time out he injured his arm as the Browns beat him, 4 to 3, and Feller was out of action for two months.

Feller has not displayed his dazzling speed of last year, when he won nine and lost seven games, but has been pitching smarter baseball and holding runners close to their bases. Not a man stole on him today.

Easy for Indians.

The Indians went three runs ahead in the second inning and never were threatened. They picked up another run in each of the third and sixth, and two each in the seventh and eighth.

Golf's Man Who Came Back

Guldahl Seeks Quick Success

(Ralph Guldahl is the national open golf champion. He also has won the last two western open titles, and was the scoring champion of 1936.)

BY RALPH GULDAHL.

After I had picked up my high school diploma in January of 1930, by which time I had turned professional with a view to making the game a life work, I was so enthusiastic about golf that I couldn't wait to start in every tournament that came along. Everything looked rosy to me then. The formula for golf success seemed very simple to a young man of eighteen. Just put together a string of pars, season them with birdies, and collect a check. There were moments when the whole business seemed fantastic. Imagine being paid for playing a game you had loved to play since you were 8 years old!

My first national tournament was the 1930 open. That also was the last open in which a fellow named Bob Jones played. You all know what he did in that one. He won it with 287. Back among the 308's was one Ralph Guldahl of Dallas, who finished with a final round of 73 after having started out with 80—75—80. I felt then in the confident way of youth that it would be a matter of only a couple of years before I finished on top in this show. I didn't know the seven long years it was going to take me to make the grade. I didn't realize that three years after that debut, I was going to see a four foot putt for a first place tie in this same tournament roll away from the 72d cup.

Smith and Hagen

Prove Helpful.

Golf to me has always proved itself the one game where the old-timers are ever ready to give a young fellow a lift. Horton Smith gave me some of the best advice I've ever received when I started in the game. Walter Hagen was another sponsor, and it was he who arranged for me to take the assistant professional's job at Franklyn Hills in Detroit, where a number of other veterans, located there then, gave me many a tip.

Later I played in the $10,000 St. Louis open and tied for ninth place with a check of $200 as my reward. I then decided to make the tournament circuit tour to the Pacific northwest and California. I was not playing well, but managed to collect at least $50 in every tournament up to the big $25,000 open at Agua Caliente, the same in which Gene Sarazen took first money of $10,000.

MANN KNOCKS OUT HAVERLICK IN THIRD ROUND

New York, April 20.—[Special.]—Nathan Mann, New Haven heavyweight, knocked out Hans Haverlick, Austrian champion, in the third round of their scheduled ten round bout in the Hippodrome tonight.

The finish came when Referee Arthur Donovan called an end to the one sided proceedings. At the time Haverlick was down for the eighth time. When the toll reached seven Donovan stopped and lifted the Austrian to his stool.

McDiarmid Will Relieve Beasley at Princeton

Princeton, N. J., April 20.—[Special.]—Mercer Beasley, coach of Princeton university's tennis teams, who has developed such stars as Ellsworth Vines, Wilmer Allison, Frankie Parker, and Caroline Babcock, today was granted an indefinite leave of absence. Dr. John McDiarmid, Princeton professor and nationally ranked as a tennis amateur, will coach the varsity squad, serving unofficially, so that he may retain his own amateur status.

JOE DI MAGGIO ACCEPTS YANKS' $25,000 OFFER

Holdout Wires Ruppert from West Coast.

New York, April 20.—[Special.]—Joe Di Maggio, sensational young outfielder of the New York Yankee club, today ended his long holdout. Yankee officials announced that Di Maggio had accepted Owner Jacob Ruppert's $25,000 offer which has remained unchanged through the spring training season in Florida and the opening stage of the American league campaign.

Di Maggio promptly left San Francisco for New York. He will arrive here Saturday and will confer with Ruppert on Monday. At that time he is expected to sign a "prop" contract for the benefit of photographers in Ruppert's offices.

Joe May Play Tuesday.

If Joe's condition is satisfactory to Manager Joe McCarthy he will probably make his first start of the year Tuesday or Wednesday against the Athletics in Philadelphia.

Ed Barrow, Yankee secretary, stated that Di Maggio had called him long distance at the Yankees' New York office and said he was willing to play at Ruppert's price. Barrow advised him to telegraph Ruppert so Joe wired, "Accept your terms. Leaving San Francisco today."

When Barrow got the confirmation he called Boston where the team was playing, to inform McCarthy.

No Bonus Offered.

Barrow denied Ruppert had offered Joe any more than $25,000. There were no bonus offers or anything else discussed, he said. "Joe didn't say anything other than he had decided to play and would be satisfied with $25,000. Of course he will lose his pay until he is ready to play."

Barrow didn't know how much per day Joe would sacrifice, although the amount has been estimated at $162 per day.

JOE "RARIN' TO GO"

San Francisco, Cal., April 20.—(AP)—Obviously relieved by termination of his holdout campaign, Joe Di Maggio said today he was "all excited about getting back there and rapping the ball again."

Confirming word he had accepted the New York Yankees' terms, Joe declared he was going to try to get in such a good season that "there won't be any chance of an argument over salary next year. Naturally I thought I was worth more this year. But I'd rather play ball than hold out. I can't get back quick enough now and I'm rarin' to go."

While completing packing, Di Maggio ventured the prediction the Yankees would walk off with the baseball pennant again, "Not because I'm through holding out, though. It is a championship club, anyhow. My teammates are a swell bunch of fellows and I'd rather play with the Yanks than any other team in baseball."

He's Peaceful Until the Bell Rings

Eddie Dempsey, Golden Gloves featherweight champion, relaxes in his home in Moline between workouts for the international bouts in the Chicago Stadium on May 18. One of his tasks is to help Mrs. Dempsey care for the family canary. Eddie represents the Davenport Times in Golden Gloves competition.

Ed Dempsey Wins a Crown the Hard Way

Davenport, Ia., April 20.—[Special.]—Three times Eddie Dempsey battered his way through the Davenport sectional Golden Gloves tournament. Three times he went up to Chicago to fight in the Tournament of Champions. Three times he came home—beaten.

That should have been the end of the story. It would have been the end, too, if it weren't for Eddie's chief characteristic—grit. Because of that characteristic Eddie will fight on Chicago's team against Europe's greatest amateur featherweight in the International Golden Gloves matches in the Chicago Stadium May 18.

Eddie Refuses to Quit.

Here's how it happened. After that third failure Eddie began again. Once more he pounded through the Davenport tournament. Once more he went up to Chicago for the Tournament of Champions. And finally there came the night of last March 11, when he stepped into the Stadium ring to fight Jack Simmons of Kansas City, Mo., for the Golden Gloves featherweight championship.

Back home in Moline the folks were gathered round the radio. The announcer's words were pouring from the loud speaker: Dempsey had missed a left hook—Simmons had crossed his right to the head—and Dempsey was down.

Eddie's mother left the room. She walked to the kitchen. The radio reports were unintelligible out there, but she knew her boy must have got up because the story of the fight went on and on. Presently she heard a whoop from the living room and the whole family came trooping out to yell at her that Eddie was the champion.

Wins in New York, Too.

Even that wasn't the end. Eddie went to New York to fight for Chicago in the intercity Golden Gloves matches. His opponent was the powerful Eddie Saraullo. Their bout was the sixth on the card—and New York had won four of the first five. But Eddie wasn't afraid. He went right in and boxed a masterful bout, winning the decision and helping turn the tide to bring about an ultimate Chicago victory, 9 to 7.

Eddie faces his last big test in the international bouts—and he'll go into his bout with plenty of confidence. His opponent will be picked in a tournament April 29 in Berlin, where the greatest amateur boxers of all Europe will gather to fight for places on the team.

It's a Boxing Family.

Eddie, who is 22 years old, has been boxing for seven years. His brother, Bud, who is his trainer, was at one time a well known professional fighter in this vicinity. Another brother, Jackie, has won several local amateur events. There was a time when Jackie could beat Eddie—but he doesn't stand a chance now.

Eddie worked as a welder in East Moline until a layoff last winter. He has been out of work since.

STRIKING GUARDS MAINTAIN POSTS AT POLO GROUNDS

New York, April 20.—[Special.]—The Polo Grounds still was picketed today by the special guards formerly employed there, despite an attempt by Nathan Frankel, Mayor La Guardia's labor adviser, to settle the trouble between representatives of the guards' union and the ball park management. The guards, who have refused to join a private detective agency recently hired to police the grounds, insisted on being employed directly by the management.

In a conference in city hall Frankel listened to both sides and announced that, although no agreement was reached, Leo J. Bondy, vice president of the National Exhibition company, owners of the Giants, had agreed to bring the matter before company officials. The result of their decision will be reported to Frankel Friday morning.

TIGER PULLS UP LAME; MAY BE OUT OF DERBY

Louisville, Ky., April 20.—[Special.]—The Kentucky Derby chances of Tiger, owned by Mrs. Ethel V. Mars of Chicago, were dubious today after he pulled up lame in a mile workout, in which he was timed at 1:42 3-5. The colt appeared to have come out of the drill in good condition, but shortly after, Trainer Bob McGarvey found him limping on his right forefoot. McGarvey ordered it bathed in hot water and said that he cannot decide the horse's fitness for the big race before tomorrow night.

Mountain Ridge, also owned by Mrs. Mars, did a mile in 1:44 2-5. Lawrin, Herbert Woolf's candidate, did five-eighths of a mile in 1:04 3-5 in a test for a longer trial tomorrow. Bert Friend's bay gelding Co-Sport was clocked at 1:44 for a mile.

DIZZY YIELDS EIGHT HITS IN SIX INNINGS

Chicago Team Gets 9 Runs in Second.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., April 20.—Jerome Herman Dean, sometimes spoken of as the great Diz, started out today to justify the $185,000 which changed hands while he was changing from a St. Louis to a Cub uniform. The one and only Diz started, his new teammates registered their second straight triumph over the Cincinnati Reds in the infant National league race and the fact that the $185,000 human loud speaker system was gone from the game before the finish was of no importance. The score of 10 to 4 was a Dean as well as a Chicago triumph.

Dizzy, having pitched only seventeen scattered innings all spring, merely grew weary, although he didn't complain. He started well, although it was apparent that he was curving more than in the past. After the Cubs' second inning, in which he was given a nine run lead, he didn't have to extend himself. But eventually he reached the point where he felt his reputation was at stake and something had to be done. He did it by opening up and halting a budding Red surge on a popup and two strikeouts.

Dizzy Yields a Homer.

Diz skipped through the first two innings without delay. In the third he began to bog down a bit. He bogged again in the fourth but this was the inning in which the Dean arm of old was apparently functioning. In the fifth a homer caused him to let go of the second run. In the sixth there were two more hits—a total of eight—and, although he completed this inning with his third strikeout, he was told by the boss that the remainder of the route would be covered by Jack Russell. Diz wanted to go on, but Grimm wanted to take no chances with the arm supposed to have been crippled last fall.

Diz undoubtedly would have had to bear down at all times and thus prove his arm condition one way or the other if it hadn't been for what his mates did to Lee [Lefty] Grissom and one Charles Barrett in the second. Both fellows were considerably bruised while the inning was under way. Fourteen Cubs batted. Ten of them hit safely. One of them walked. The Reds tossed a couple of errors into the nine run hitting jamboree. And, although the race is only two days old, the Cincinnati wolves began to howl.

Triplett Gets Four Hits.

It wasn't much of an afternoon for Augie Galan, the lad who was the regular left fielder until eye trouble put him on the shelf. Augie had to watch a series of four hits off the bat of Herman Coaker Triplett, the rookie who took his job. Triplett produced two singles in the stormy second. He singled again in the fourth. In the ninth, when Ted Kleinhans was pitching, Triplett exploded a three bagger which was good for the only run scored by the Cubs outside of their big inning. Triplett now has a two day record of seven hits in ten times at bat.

Tony Lazzeri was present at third base again today because Stanley Hack didn't show the expected 24 hour recovery from his spike wound in the right hand. Like Triplett, not to mention Gabby Hartnett, Lazzeri

ROSS TITLE BOUT IS TRANSFERRED TO GARDEN BOWL

Champion to Encounter Armstrong May 26.

The welterweight championship bout between Barney Ross and Challenger Henry Armstrong will be shifted from Yankee stadium to Madison Square Garden bowl in Long Island City, Art Winch, co-manager with Sam Pian of Ross, said upon his return from New York Tuesday. This was confirmed yesterday by Promoter Mike Jacobs. The date is May 26.

At the same time Winch predicted the heavyweight title engagement between Champion Joe Louis and Max Schmeling would be held in Yankee stadium June 22. Promoter Jacobs, however, insists that Chicago still is in the running for the big event.

Hope to Get Bout.

Leonard Hicks, head of the Chicago Hotel Men's association, informed his Chicago aids from New York that he hopes to return within the next few days accompanied by Jacobs to inspect Soldiers' field.

Joe Triner, chairman of the Illinois boxing commission, will leave for New York Saturday, but he explained the trip has nothing to do with efforts to swing the fight to this town. Triner quit negotiations with Jacobs after they had words about the "small gate" at the Louis-Harry Thomas match in Chicago Stadium April 1.

Chances Are Impaired.

This alleged effort on the part of Jacobs to sidetrack Chicago hurt this city's chances, inasmuch as the promoter earlier had said he would do business with no one except the commissioner.

Golf's Man Who Came Back

Guldahl Sets Out to Conquer the World; Finds It Takes Time

I tied for twelfth place with MacDonald Smith, winning $375.

One of my first important victories against older competition came in the Motion Picture Industries tournament, a match play event. I eliminated Mac Smith in the first round, winning on the first extra hole. Later I defeated Olin Dutra, Joe Kirkwood, and Fred Morrison, and won the 36 hole final, 1 up, from Tony Manero.

I returned to St. Louis as professional at the Country club there, but my original plans for a great tournament career began to bog down at this point. I made a poor showing in the 1932 open at Fresh Meadow, finishing far down the list with a 314. My only real victory in that year was in the Phoenix, Ariz., open.

Watch the Pivot. It's Important in the Swing.

The next season, that of 1933, was to be the most fateful one in my career. I'll tell the story of that and the four foot putt at North Shore tomorrow.

Before I close today's article, I'd like to give my theory of what I consider the most important phase of the golf swing—the pivot. Without some semblance of a decent pivot, there isn't any structure for a good golf swing. Here are my suggestions for a good pivot, taking it up to the top of the backswing:

First of all, anchorage of the head throughout the backswing and the follow through is vitally important. The head becomes an axis around which the body turns in making a pivot. In my backswing, I get the feeling that my arms and body move as one unit; that is, there is no turning of the hips before starting my hands and arms. As my hands take the club back, my body begins to make its turn to the right simultaneously. Generally, the completed backswing finds your club in a near horizontal position and your back is facing the line of play. Always allow enough freedom in your grip to enable you to get a full cocking of the wrists, as this will give you much more power and club head speed. When I am at my best, I feel that both my hands are taking the club back, and not the left hand alone, as many teachers recommend.

N. U. NINE MEETS WHEATON, IOWA; GOLFERS BUSY

A baseball game with Wheaton college today will open a busy week-end for Northwestern university's athletic teams. Following today's game, the Wildcat nine will play two games with Iowa tomorrow and Saturday on Roycemore field in Evanston. The series will open the conference season for both teams.

Coach Burt Ingwersen said yesterday either Harry Skidmore, veteran left hander, or John Goldak, a sophomore, will pitch today's game.

In the other home contest this week the Purple golf team will be host to Marquette at the Kildeer Country club. The Wildcats opened their season last week with a 17 to 1 victory over Loyola.

The tennis team will open its season with two matches, meeting Notre Dame in South Bend tomorrow and Purdue in Lafayette Saturday. Seven members of the track team will leave tonight for the Kansas relays. Those making the trip are Capt. Henry Keitel, Chet Ensley, Jim Catlin, and John Risely, one mile relay team; Gene Hathaway, hurdles; Frank Nelson, pole vault, and Jim Delaney, sprints.

Anglers Ring 15th of May; Bass 'In' Then

BY BOB BECKER.

The white bass of Wisconsin, especially in those waters around Oshkosh, Winneconne, and Fremont, are in for a big day May 15, when the white bass season opens.

Wisconsin's trout season is going to open on May 15. The fishing regulations this season also specify May 15 as the first day for the white bass fisherman. In former years one could go after the white bass as soon as they moved out of Lake Winnebago and started up the winding network of lakes and river channels northwest of Oshkosh.

Limit 15 per Day.

But this year the state says everybody must wait until May 15. The limit on white bass is 15 per day and each fish must be seven inches long to be kept.

May 15 is also the opening day in Wisconsin on rock bass, crappies, calico and strawberry bass, wall-eyed pike, and pickerel, or northern pike as they may be called. This means that thousands of midwest fishermen will be able to get busy with their rods and tackle around the middle of May even though the muskie season doesn't start until May 25 and the bass season until late in June.

Must Be 18 Inches.

Wisconsin frowns on the idea of any fishermen keeping a small pickerel or northern pike. The fishing rules state that a "pick" must be 18 inches long to be a keeper. To the majority of fishermen this regulation is bound to be popular because a pickerel or a muskie has to develop length and weight in order to put up a good fight on ordinary tackle.

With both the white bass and the wall-eyed pike season opening on the same day, fishermen going to the Wolf river section northwest of Oshkosh or to Oshkosh itself to get silver bass also may pick up a few pike on the same trip, as these fish are well distributed in that area.

RIGHEIMER GOES EAST FOR A. A. U. FENCING MEET

Frank Righeimer Jr., Lake Shore Athletic club fencer who twice has won the national epee title, will leave today for New York as the head of a Chicago delegation of five contestants in the National A. A. U. fencing meet which starts Saturday.

Righeimer will be joined later by Oscar Barab of the Chicago Fencers club, who won the 1938 Illinois foil title, and three members of the University of Chicago fencing team, Herbert Strauss, foil; Charles Corbett, epee, and Edward Fritz, sabre. Alvar B. Hermanson, coach of the Maroon squad and the Lake Shore team, will supervise the Chicago delegation in the national competition.

Sopwith Sees No Challenge for Yacht Cup

SOUTHAMPTON, England, April 20.—(AP)—T. O. M. Sopwith, twice unsuccessful challenger for the America's cup, sees no prospect of Britain challenging again for the famous international yachting trophy for many years.

"Under no circumstances will I make another attempt with Endeavour II.," Sopwith said on his return from New York today. "Until we have a testing tank for sailing ships of the type that has been perfected in America, it's not the slightest use to try to build a yacht that can beat the best America can produce."

Sopwith lost to Harold S. Vanderbilt's Ranger with Endeavour II. last year and to Vanderbilt's Rainbow with Endeavour I. in 1934.

LIPTON DESIGNER DIES.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

EDINBURGH, Scotland, April 20.—Col. Duncan Ferguson Dempster Neill, yachting expert who aided Sir Thomas Lipton in the design and sailing of all five of his Shamrocks with which he challenged for the America's cup, died today at the age of 69. He took charge of Sir Thomas' boats when they were launched, put them through their preliminary trials, and managed them in the later racing here.

Helen Wills Moody Sails for Wightman Cup Play

New York, April 20.—[Special.]—Helen Wills Moody today began her comeback campaign in world tennis by sailing for England, where she will compete with the United States Wightman cup team at Wimbledon on May 10 and 11.

Salmon Suffer While Nation Is Dam Crazy

Natural resources with hundreds of millions of dollars of commercial value are being destroyed in the northwest as a result of federal reclamation projects undertaken without proper consideration of the affect on fish and wild life, William L. Finley, vice president of the Izaak Walton league, charged yesterday.

Finley is in Chicago to attend the national convention of directors of the league, which opens today in the Sherman hotel. The convention will continue through Saturday.

Finley asserted that not only are the power and reclamation projects undertaken and planned by the federal government in Oregon and Washington uneconomic, but they are based solely on engineering study without regard to the effect on fish and game.

Fears Destruction of Salmon.

Present and proposed dams in the Columbia river, he said, will result in the destruction of the salmon industry there.

"They are talking of seven more dams in the Columbia river and seven in the Willamette river, which will destroy the salmon industry," Finley said. "This industry brings in 10 million dollars a year. If this is capitalized at 5 per cent there is a business worth 200 million dollars. If this is eliminated, it is going to mean the destruction of 200 million dollars' worth of the people's resources."

Part of Irrigation Plan.

Finley explained that the dams are being constructed as part of a plan for irrigating arid land. Mortgages are placed on the irrigated land by the government to offset the cost, he said.

"In earlier projects," Finley continued, "the mortgages used to average $90 an acre. Now it has been increased to $180 to $200 an acre. The farmer had some chance of paying off the smaller mortgages but not those today. Under some of the contemplated projects the mortgages would run as high as $400 an acre."

Builders Are Confused.

The Grand Coulee dam, he said, was originally planned as a power project but when it was found there would be no outlet for the power it was switched to a reclamation project. It was originally designed as a low dam but is now to be a high dam, costing three times as much as planned. The construction of the high dam will prevent salmon from going beyond that point to spawn, Finley asserted.

MAROONS ENTER TEAM OF 12 IN DRAKE RELAYS

Des Moines, Ia., April 20.—(AP)—The University of Chicago today entered twelve men in the Drake relays April 29 and 30. The Maroons were the seventh Big Ten squad to align themselves with the meet. Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio state will compete in the Penn relays, the same date as the Drake Carnival.

John Davenport, Big Ten and Armour relays sprint champion, heads the Maroon entry list.

Archie San Romani, former Emporia, Kas., Teachers star, may be added to the field which will compete in the special 1,000 yard race, Franklin [Pitch] Johnson, relays director, said.

OPTIMIST POLO TEAM TO CLASH WITH RAMBLERS

Rivals Meet Tonight in Open Tournament.

With one indoor polo title, the senior, to their credit, Winston Guest and his New York Optimists will start their drive for the open championship tonight against the Chicago Ramblers in the 124th Field Artillery armory.

The game will be a semi-final in the open class, the winner qualifying to meet the New York Athletic club team, which won its semi-final with the 124th Field Artillery Tuesday, 14 to 8.

Guest announced that he would retain the same lineup in the open, using Billy Zimmerman and Merrill Fink as his teammates.

The lineup of the Ramblers will be determined this afternoon. Indications point to Herb Lorber and Jim Hannah as the most likely starters against Guest and his Optimists. The third position on the Ramblers is a battle between Steve Hammond and Dan Peacock. Another likelihood is that all four Ramblers will see action during the game, with one of them serving as alternate.

In advance of the championship game, Fort Sheridan will take the field against the Chicago Black Horse Troop. This contest has been arranged in line with observance of "military night" in the Washington Park armory. Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commanding officer of the Sixth Corps area, and other officers of the regular army and National Guard will attend the evening of polo.

PIRATES, 9; CARDS, 4.

St. Louis, Mo., April 20.—(AP)—Paced by Arky Vaughan and Al Todd, each with three hits in five times at bat, the Pittsburgh Pirates smothered the Cardinals today, 9 to 4.

Five St. Louis pitchers tried ineffectively to stop the twenty hit attack. No Pirate went hitless. Fourteen safeties rattled off the Cardinal bats, including home runs by Don Gutteridge and the rookie, Enos Slaughter.

CUBS BEAT REDS, 10 TO 4, AS DEAN MAKES DEBUT

furnished two of the ten hits in the second inning. In the fourth he manufactured his third single, and in the ninth stretched himself into the two base hit class. Tony also was the only Cub to make an error, but that's excusable. He isn't exactly accustomed to throwing from the far corner.

Investigate Dean's Condition.

After the game reporters visited the clubhouse to investigate the condition of the fabulous Dean arm. They found Diz taking muscle exercises under the propelling power of Doc Andrew Lotshaw, the trainer. Diz was in high spirits, indicating that he himself felt pretty swell about his arm. Last September he insisted it was hurt, but when he was purchased by the Cubs he claimed there never was anything wrong. Every day is a new act with Diz.

The real tip-off is that he had his old loose windmill delivery and that Babe Pinelli, a former big leaguer who was umpiring behind the plate, assured Grimm after the game that there was no reason to worry.

After Grissom's fairly good performance in the first inning, the second inning riot was a complete surprise. Marty started it with an infield single to Riggs. Triplett singled past Myers. Lazzeri singled to center and Marty dashed home. Hartnett got a hit on a roller to short, Triplett scoring. Myers recovered the ball and threw wild to second, so Lazzeri moved to third. Even Dean took a hand by singling to center, Lazzeri counting. Jurges spanked a double to right center to score Hartnett and Dean.

Barrett Goes In.

After all of the above, Grissom was delighted to see Barrett appear as a rescuer. The Cubs also were sort of glad about the change. Barrett's first effort resulted in the retirement of Herman, and his next in a pass to Collins. Demaree drilled a single through short, Jurges scoring. Barrett finally got the second out by picking up Marty's grounder and running down Collins between third and home. Triplett slipped a single past Riggs and Demaree scored. Lazzeri singled to left and Marty registered. Hartnett doubled to center to score Triplett, and the fun ended with Dean's pop foul.

After dispatching the first four Reds to face him, Dean encountered the first enemy hit—a single to center by McCormick. Dizzy wasted no time being rid of the next two batters. In the third he met up with two hits and one run. Myers led off with a triple against the distant center field wall. The Cubs let him score unmolested on Barrett's tap to Jurges. After Goodman had been thrown out, Riggs scratched a hit to Herman, but the inning's end came on Cooke's fly to Demaree.

Cubs Fill Bases.

The Cubs had Barrett back on the merry-go-round in the fourth, but let him jump off before anybody scored. After Demaree had been turned back on a long foul to Cooke in left, Marty singled in the same direction. Triplett did the same. Riggs knocked down Lazzeri's low drive close to the left field line and held it to a single. This filled the bases, but no runs blossomed, because Hartnett popped to Myers and Dean forced Lazzeri.

In the home fourth Diz had to reveal what he had in reserve. This was where he really showed it. Craft singled to left and McCormick singled to right with none out. The boys in the bull pen began to warm up, but Ol' Diz wasn't quite as weak as he appeared at the moment. He started to tear down the Reds' budding rally by inducing V. Davis to pop to Lazzeri. Diz made the rest of the inning easy for himself. He simply opened up with something which resembled the fireball he threw in his palmier days. It was good enough to fan both Kampouris and Myers.

Goodman Hits Homer.

Dean didn't have much to contend with in the fifth, but the Rhinelanders, nevertheless, scored their second run. All that occurred was Goodman's homer, which wasn't a county fair tap. It sailed half way up into the remote right field bleachers.

Dean's last inning, the sixth, opened with a single to left by Craft. He was doubled on McCormick's roller to Jurges.

V. Davis also singled and Lazzeri threw wild on Kampouris, but as his final effort, Diz fanned Myers for the second time. Manager Grimm then shook hands with his new boy wonder and told him he was excused for the day.

Russell's introduction as a finisher for Dean was marked by a Rhineland run in the seventh. With two out, Riggs doubled to right and loped over the plate on Cooke's single. The Reds were equally unruly in the eighth. McCormick led off with a single, and after V. Davis had been disposed of, Kampouris also singled. Myers tapped into a force of Kampouris. Lombardi, who always has thought that Cub pitchers are made to be hit, singled to right to send McCormick home. Herman threw out Goodman to conclude the inning.

The run scored by the Cubs off Kleinhans in the ninth with a Triplett-Lazzeri contribution. Triplett tripled over the center fielder's head and strolled across the plate on Lazzeri's double to left.

Tex Carleton to Pitch for Cubs in Cincinnati Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., April 20.—Tex Carleton, the only Cub pitcher who was consistent during spring training, will work the final of the series with the Reds tomorrow. The Rhineland starter probably will be Paul Derringer who, like Carleton, is a fugitive from the Cardinal chain gang.

If rain should cause an erasure of tomorrow's party, Carleton will pitch when the Cubs put on their home opener Friday. Otherwise Bill Lee will make his first start of the season.

Larry French, whose left arm has had intermittent misery for several weeks, is taking the rest cure again. He'll try to throw again in a few days but if the soreness is still there he will be turned over to the mercies of a specialist.

Besides being the master mind today, Manager Grimm had to hit to the infield during practice and then coach at third during the game. The three way job was forced on him by the absence of Coach Johnny Corriden. Corriden remained at Indianapolis because of his father's illness.

The air was cool and the sky cloudy but because Dean was due to pitch, the local club decided not to take advantage of its right to create one of those beloved synthetic doubleheaders. A crowd of 6,552 was present whereas a Deanless second game here would have drawn about 2,500.

ROOKIE PITCHES SENATORS TO A 3 TO 0 TRIUMPH

Washington, D. C., April 20.—(AP)—The Senators blanked Philadelphia, 3 to 0, today as Dutch Leonard threw his knuckle ball past the Athletic batters.

The game was a scoreless pitching match between Leonard and Bucky Ross until the seventh inning, when the Senators drove across all their runs. Making his first start in the American league, Leonard held the A's to seven hits. He came to the Senators from Atlanta.

Today's victory was the Senators' third in a row over the Athletics.

WHITE SOX WHIP TIGERS, 5 TO 4; SECOND STRAIGHT

Mike had to perch on third while he watched Radcliff and Kuhel strike out.

Cain, in the third, did a nice job of climbing out of a pit into which he had cast himself. With two out, he walked Walker and Gehringer and showed signs of having lost his compass. Then Sugar braced and struck out the ferocious Mr. Greenberg.

The second Sox hit was another extra baser by Kreevich. This one was a double to right after two were out in the third inning. Steinbacher promptly drove Mike home with a single to right. Gehringer then robbed Radcliff of a hit with one of his famous back hand stops while facing the center field flagpole. He tossed to Rogell to force Steinbacher.

Mike Misjudges One.

Kreevich must have had his mind on his bat instead of his glove at the start of the Tiger fourth. He misjudged York's high fly and let the ball fall for a two base error. York held second while Berger threw out Fox. Then Ross drew Cain's third pass. Rogell flied to Kreevich and Kennedy popped to Berger.

The first Tiger in the fifth also got to second and stopped there. Cullenbine opened with a double to right. Walker attempted to sacrifice and popped to Cain, Gehringer flied to Kreevich and Greenberg flied to Steinbacher.

Cain Fades Out.

Once he had passed the spring calisthenics span of five innings, Cain fell apart. In the sixth the Tigers made three runs on four hits and two walks. York opened with a single to left, but Rensa called for a pitchout and York was caught stealing, Rensa to Berger. Fox walked after a three and two count, and took third on Ross' single to center. Fox scored the tying run on Rogell's fly to Steinbacher. Kennedy singled to center, Ross stopping at second, after which Cullenbine walked, filling the bases. Walker singled through the box, driving home Ross and Kennedy. Hayes threw out Gehringer.

The Sox tied the score with two runs in the sixth. Kreevich got on base for the third straight time when he drew Kennedy's second pass. Steinbacher then knocked his second hit, a single to center, on which Kreevich reached third. Radcliff got credit for a single on his grounder to Gehringer when the latter held the ball while looking for Steinbacher on the base line. Kreevich scored and Steinbacher stopped at second. Kuhel fouled to Ross, but Owen singled to left, Steinbacher scoring the tying run. Berger lined into a double play, Gehringer to Rogell.

Sugar Stays In.

Manager Dykes ignored Cain's sixth inning distress and sent him back for more in the seventh. Sugar finally won his bath by walking the first two batsmen to face him, Greenberg and York. Rigney went in and walked Fox after a three and two count, filling the bases. Ross hit into a double play, Kuhel to Berger to Kuhel, Greenberg scoring. Rogell flied to Kreevich.

The Sox tied it up again in the seventh, also making a run without a base hit. Rensa walked and reached second on a wild pitch. Rigney bunted and was thrown out while Rensa held second. Hayes popped an easy fly to Rogell, who dropped the ball after waiting under it on its full downward trip.

This was all that was needed to make Kennedy's gypsy blood boil. He made Kreevich pop to Gehringer, but kept getting madder and madder. He walked Steinbacher, filling the bases, then walked Radcliff on four pitches, forcing Rensa across the plate with the tying run, and leaving the bases loaded.

Mr. Kennedy Leaves.

Coffman replaced Kennedy and fanned Kuhel. The Sox scored in the eighth, also without benefit of a base hit. Owen walked and advanced on Berger's sacrifice. Rensa was safe and Owen reached third on Rogell's fumble. Thompson batted for Rigney. He grounded to Greenberg, whose throw to the plate was too late to keep Owen from scoring. Rensa stopped at second and Thompson reached first. Cullenbine dropped Hayes' fly, but recovered in time to force Rensa, Cullenbine to Ross. Kreevich flied to Cullenbine.

Brown was the Sox pitcher at the start of the ninth. Greenberg drew the tenth Tiger pass and stopped at second on York's single to left. Fox fanned. Then the runners advanced while Brown was throwing out Ross. Christman was sent to second to run for York. Rogell got a semi-intentional pass after a 3 and 1 count, filling the bases. White batted for Coffman and lined to Kreevich.

White Sox Nominate Dietrich to Face Auker, Tigers Today

Bill Dietrich is scheduled to pitch for the White Sox in the final of the Tiger series this afternoon. He is to be opposed by Elden Auker.

Gerald Walker, right fielder for the White Sox, was missing from the lineup due to the death of his mother, Mrs. Richard H. Walker Sr., who died in Houston, Tex., while visiting another son, Leo. Walker left for his home in Hattiesburg, Miss., to attend the funeral.

It was generally conceded that yesterday produced one of the rarest sights in baseball: Charley Gehringer in a brain fog.

Vern Kennedy, who has been given permission to live in a gypsy camp again this summer, gave no evidence of trailer elbow or pantry cramp, the maladies which hindered his work for the Sox last year. He obviously was plain mad when he went out and no one could blame him. Any pitcher is entitled to better support than he received while holding his former mates to five hits and one fluke safety.

Nine of the eleven Tigers who went to the plate drew at least one pass. Kennedy and Pinchbatter White were the only ones not so favored.

The Sox have to win six of their remaining twenty games to be as good as they were against the Tigers in the 1937 season series.

Despite the way the Sox have pushed them around, the Tigers are expecting a capacity crowd of 57,000 Friday in their rebuilt Briggs stadium.

Joe Kuhel had a distressing day at bat, failing to advance seven runners who were on base while he was at bat. With the score 0 to 0 in the first he ended the inning with a strikeout, Kreevich dying on third and Steinbacher on first. In the sixth, with the score 3 to 2 in favor of the Tigers, with Steinbacher on second and Radcliff on first with none out, he fouled to Ross, and in the seventh, with the score tied at 4 to 4 and the bases full he again struck out to end the inning.

Rudy Strongberg Throws Joe Corbett at Fronton

Rudy Strongberg tossed Joe Corbett in forty minutes last night at the Rainbo Fronton. In the other half of the double windup Jerry Meeker won over Walter Palmer in 24:02 when Palmer fell from the ring and did not get back in time.

Buck O'Neill threw Stanley Novak [8:20].
Roy Rickenbacher beat Firpo Wilcox [30:00].
Milt Olson and Joe Dvorak drew [30:00].

EXPECT 15,000 TO SEE KANSAS RELAY CARNIVAL

Will Be Homecoming for Cunningham.

Lawrence, Kas., April 20. — [Special.]—The last of the Kansas relays entries were accepted today at the University of Kansas. The relays will be held Saturday.

The event expected to be the drawing card for an anticipated 15,000 is the mile run that will see two Kansans, Glenn Cunningham and Archie San Romani in a field with Don Lash and Gene Venzke. Cunningham will arrive Thursday morning and will do his last two days of training under his old track coach, Bill Hargiss of Kansas. Venzke and Lash will arrive Thursday afternoon and San Romani Friday afternoon.

Wolcott in Hurdles Field.

Vern Sumner of Emporia Teachers, who won the 120 yard high hurdles last year, will face a high class field of hurdlers headed by Fred Wolcott, Rice sophomore.

Also from Rice will come Jack Patterson, a veteran hurdler who runs the hurdles in a round 14.4 seconds. Boyce Gatewood, a Texas university sophomore, will be in the race along with R. V. Wright of Oklahoma A. & M., Bush Lamb of Iowa and Harvey Woodstra of Michigan State.

Bob Hubbard of Minnesota will endeavor to repeat his victory of last year in the broad jump, but will have to face, among others, Jud Atchison of Texas.

Iowa Sprint Team Entered.

Last year Atchison jumped 24 feet 1½ inches and lost to Hubbard by one-quarter of an inch. At the Texas relays two weeks ago Atchison jumped 24 feet 7¾ inches and then was tied by Hubbard. Now Atchison hopes to jump 25 feet.

The University of Iowa sprint medley relay team is the only winning relay team of 1937 which returns intact.

VOTE FOR BEST OF YEARLINGS AT KEENELAND

Another Issue: Bull Lea and Menow Race.

BY FRENCH LANE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lexington, Ky., April 20. — Judgment of horse flesh was put to its finest test of the year at Keeneland race course this afternoon when the Thoroughbred Club of America opened its annual yearling judging contest.

By paying 25 cents any one at the track was permitted to cast his ballot for the yearling he decided was the best prospect as a race horse.

Then the inspection of the yearlings started, pedigree blood books were scanned closely and finally the balloting. The voter who picks the yearling that wins the most money as a 2 year old next season eventually will be awarded the trophy.

Seventeen Colts Exhibited.

Seventeen colts bred on the surrounding blue grass farms were exhibited today. A like number of fillies will go on parade in the open air paddock tomorrow afternoon.

And strange as it may seem, the thoroughbred horse owners themselves are fighting with their backs to the walls. This is the fifth contest of this kind and the prize so far has been captured by only one breeder of thoroughbreds.

Twice it was won by J. A. Estes, editor of the Blood Horse magazine published here and once by Charles Asbury, a farmer. The thoroughbred horseman to win it was Thomas Piatt.

Ballots Cast by 800.

In other years the inspection and the voting took place at the farms on which the yearlings were foaled. It was moved to the Keeneland track last year and the voting was thrown open to all those who visited the track on this big election day.

About 800 cast their ballots in today's voting. It is expected an even larger number will vote tomorrow when the fillies are exhibited.

Nearly all of the better known thoroughbred sires which stand in Kentucky were represented by sons in this afternoon's contest. The voting was by number, a large numeral being pasted on the hip of each colt exhibited.

Equipoise Son Popular.

A good sized chestnut son of Equipoise-Goose Egg appeared to be the more popular today. This might have been because he wore No. 7, but no doubt it was due to the popularity of Equipoise. He came from Mrs. Payne Whitney's farm. Blue Larkspur, Wise Counsellor, Head Play, Man o' War, Royal Minstrel, Pharamond II. and Questionnaire were others who sent their sons into the contest.

A son of Top Flight, the world's money winning filly, also attracted much attention. His daddy is Peace Chance. He came from Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's place.

The arguments pro and con about the yearlings along with the race that is coming up tomorrow afternoon between the two leading candidates training here for the Derby—Bull Lea and Menow—thoroughly saturated the atmosphere with horse talk today.

Bull Lea from Calumet Farm.

Bull Lea is from Warren Wright's Calumet farm. During his Derby prep on the farm training track he has been showing fine speed and good racing condition. Menow, last year's 2 year old champion, made a brilliant seasonal debut here last week by scoring an easy victory at six furlongs.

His regular pilot, Jocky Charley Kurtsinger, will not be in the saddle on Menow. He is under suspension in New York. Hal Price Headley, Menow's owner, tonight does not know who will ride his colt tomorrow or in the Derby. Irving Anderson, Calumet Farm stable's regular jocky, will ride Bull Lea.

The Derby colts meet in the mile and a sixteenth Mereworth purse.

LIGHTNING HITS STABLE; DOZEN HORSES PERISH

Mount Clemens, Mich., April 20.—Special.]—A dozen race horses perished and seven trainers and attendants were injured today in a fire originating when lightning struck the grand stands and stables formerly used by the Mount Clemens Racing association.

Among the horses known to have died were Indefinite, Lady Co, Celtic Lady, Big Clifton, Edward C., Hasty Ann, Paradox Girl, Homer L., Ideale, and Dunsprite. The total loss could not be estimated because several horses either ran away or dashed back into the burning buildings. The track has been used solely for training purposes for the last fifteen years.

Aurora Erects New Odds Board to Aid Betters

Profiting by the experience of instalations of all other totalizators, the Aurora race track expects to have a wagering system equal to any in existence when the Chicago season opens May 2.

A second odds board, built under the stands so that it may be seen from the betting ring, is the latest improvement ordered for the Fox valley track by its president, Robert S. Eddy Jr.

Late changes in odds should not bother Aurora betters this spring. While they are in line at the mutuel window they can glance at the board, which will be synchronized with the main board in the infield, and see whether their choice is a "going up" horse or a "going down" horse.

Another improvement is the construction of a screen, seven feet wide, on which to flash the picture of the close finishes.

BUT WHY SHOULD IT BE A FAKE FIGHT? —THE MAN INSULTED ME. —I NEVER SAW HIM BEFORE IN MY LIFE.
YOU'RE A LIAR!
LISTEN, SISTER, YOU'RE GOING TO TALK! THAT FIGHT WAS TIMED! THAT NEW WAITER TOOK SOME STUFF FROM MY DESK. GET THE ICE WATER, BOYS.

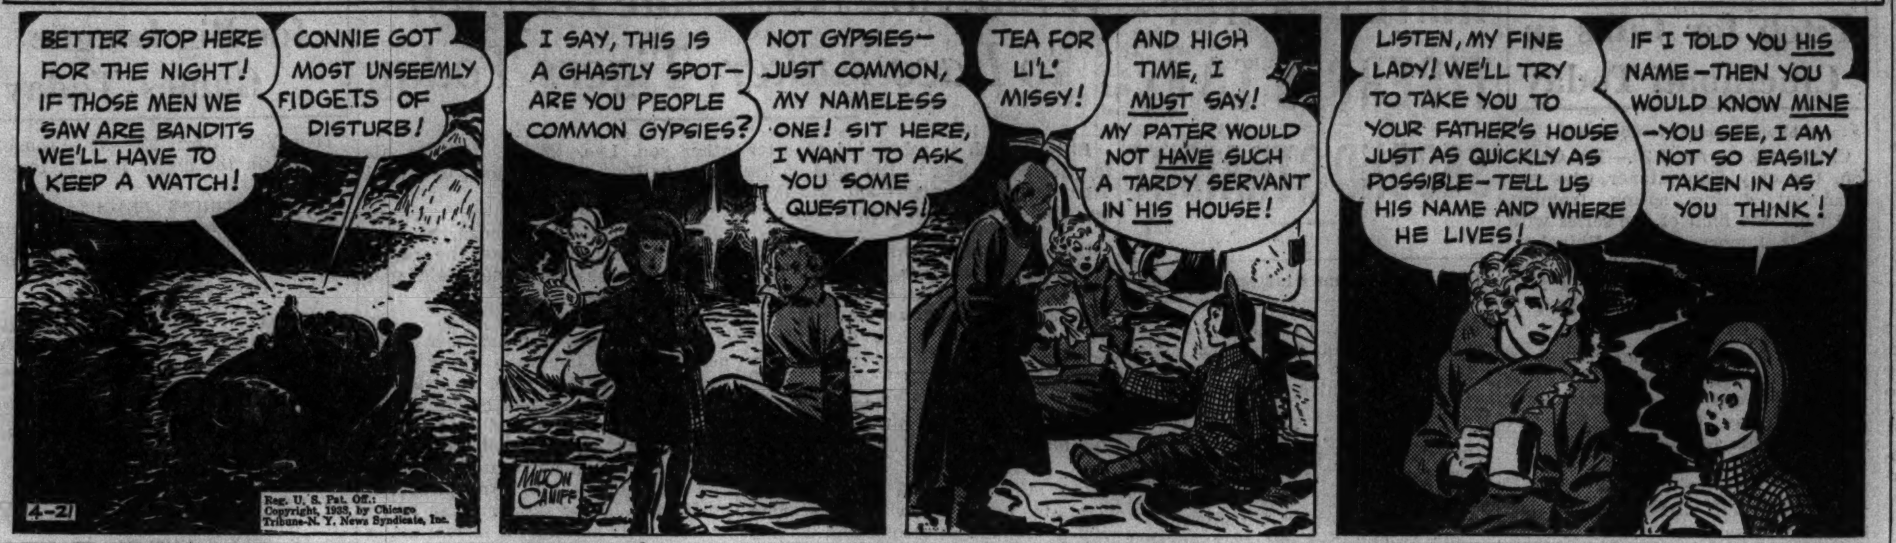
TERRY AND THE PIRATES—PRECOCIOUS LITTLE PRECIOUS



BETTER STOP HERE FOR THE NIGHT! IF THOSE MEN WE SAW ARE BANDITS WE'LL HAVE TO KEEP A WATCH!
CONNIE GOT MOST UNSEEMLY FIDGETS OF DISTURB!
I SAY, THIS IS A GHASTLY SPOT—ARE YOU PEOPLE COMMON GYPSIES?
NOT GYPSIES—JUST COMMON, MY NAMELESS ONE! SIT HERE, I WANT TO ASK YOU SOME QUESTIONS!
TEA FOR LI'L' MISSY!
AND HIGH TIME, I MUST SAY! MY PATER WOULD NOT HAVE SUCH A TARDY SERVANT IN HIS HOUSE!
LISTEN, MY FINE LADY! WE'LL TRY TO TAKE YOU TO YOUR FATHER'S HOUSE JUST AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE—TELL US HIS NAME AND WHERE HE LIVES!
IF I TOLD YOU HIS NAME—THEN YOU WOULD KNOW MINE—YOU SEE, I AM NOT SO EASILY TAKEN IN AS YOU THINK!

JOLLY DUCHESS rushed up to take command on inside in run to first turn, shook off OTEEBEE to draw clear, and opened a long lead in stretch without effort. DARE BUNNY worked his way to contention on outside, but could not menace winner. VEDALIA moved up approaching stretch, but tired.

HAPPY VOTE forged to front at once, shook off repeated challenges of HIBLAZE, and just lasted to stave off DAY IS DONE'S stretch bid while under punishment. DAY IS DONE, slowest to begin, improved position steadily on outside, moved up to leader boldly, but hung. HIBLAZE pressed the pace, but weakened in final stages.

Time, :54 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Good Odds, $22.10 straight, $8.90 place, $4.60 show; Satin Marvel, $23.00 place, $8.50 show; Throttle Wide, $4.60 show. Winner, b. f., 2, by Liberty Limited-Mazetta. Owner, D. J. Sullivan III. Trainer, S. Hicks. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 3:41. Off at 3:49½.

GHOSTFLYER came around horses gradually to improve position entering stretch, swerved into GOOD ODDS, knocking the latter off stride midway of the stretch, for which he was disqualified. GOOD ODDS, shuffled back after start, was closing with rush when fouled and was wearing down GHOSTFLYER after regaining stride. SATIN MARVEL was hard used running with GAY AMAZON and weakened. GAY AMAZON was tiring when forced to be pulled up when GHOSTFLYER bore over.

GRAND SLAM, allowed to settle into stride, began moving up leaving backstretch and, under strong handling, won going away. FINANCE, first away, followed close to HIGH HEDGE'S pace, took command briefly in final eighth, but could not resist winner. HIGH HEDGE rushed up on inside to get to front, set good pace, but weakened suddenly. WINNING CHANCE was hard ridden, saved ground, and had no excuses. TEMPESTUOUS was outrun.

A. T. & T. PROBE IS ASSAILED BY WALTER GIFFORD

FCC Unfair, Wrong, He Asserts.

New York, April 20.—[Special.]—Investigation of the American Telephone and Telegraph company by the federal communications commission is a record of "partisans and prosecutors," and the findings are "neither accurate nor comprehensive," Walter S. Gifford, president, told his corporation's stockholders at the annual meeting here today.

Walter S. Gifford.

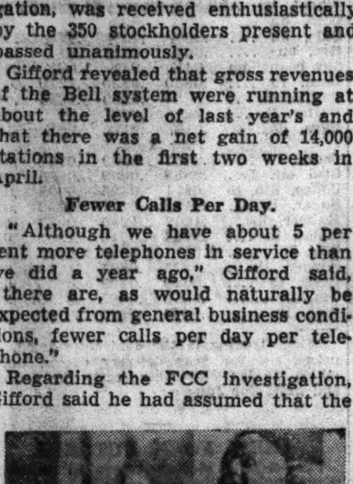
A resolution offered by E. M. Young, a stockholder, protesting the manner in which the FCC conducted its investigation, was received enthusiastically by the 350 stockholders present and passed unanimously.

Gifford revealed that gross revenues of the Bell system were running at about the level of last year's and that there was a net gain of 14,000 stations in the first two weeks in April.

Fewer Calls Per Day.

"Although we have about 5 per cent more telephones in service than we did a year ago," Gifford said, "there are, as would naturally be expected from general business conditions, fewer calls per day per telephone."

Regarding the FCC investigation, Gifford said he had assumed that the corporation would be permitted to place before the investigators "all the facts as to the manner in which our business is conducted."



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

J. Newcomb Blackman, A. T. & T. stockholder at annual meeting, assails treatment of company in FCC investigation.

"When the hearings began, however," he charged, "we found that they were to be, for the time being at least, on an ex parte basis; that is, we were not permitted to cross-examine or to present evidence of our own."

Pointing out that the report which was sent to senate and house committees on interstate commerce was the work of one commissioner and not a report of the commission, Gifford declared "it is disappointing that so much time and money could not have been expended more constructively."

"Incorrect and Misleading."

He declared that the investigators' report of the Bell system and the testimony taken were in a large part incorrect and misleading. He said the probers, in attempting support of what he termed unfair or erroneous assertions, employed selective facts and ignored other and controling facts; that they imparted to tentative office memoranda prepared for purposes of preliminary study or discussion the authority of final declarations of policy, and that they related documents to circumstances other than those under which they were prepared or used, or to which they were addressed.

"The investigators drew and stated unwaranted inferences and proposed and urged illogical and unfair conclusions," Gifford charged. Prepared statements pointing out errors in the reports and testimony were kept out of the record, he said.

Stockholders Roar "No."

J. Newcomb Blackman made a long speech to the few hundred present from among the 690,000 stockholders who have more than five billions invested, and then he asked:

"Do you think we got a square deal in that investigation?"

There was a roar of "no," and from then on the stockholders plainly showed their approval of criticism of the federal report.

A stockholder asked for an estimate of earnings if a 25 per cent reduction in rates, as proposed in the FCC report, were put into effect.

"You can figure this out for yourselves," Gifford replied. "If we took a 25 per cent rate reduction there would not be any earnings."

The current tax bill of $145,000,000 annually is about $60,000,000 larger than in 1930, he said.

No Financing Contemplated.

The company does not contemplate financing either through stocks or bonds at this time, Gifford revealed. There is no need for additional money for business under present conditions, he said.

Three new members of the board of directors were elected—S. Clay Williams, chairman of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company; Elihu Root Jr., and David A. Crawford. They will succeed George S. Baker, deceased; Edward Loomis, and Thomas N. Perkins. William H. Harrison, president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, was elected vice president and chief engineer to succeed Bancroft Gherardi, who is retiring at the age of 65.

Air Stocks Go Into a Climb as Others Sag

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 20.—[Special.]—An independently strong aviation group stood out in an irregularly lower stock market today. Making up a good part of the total volume, which was 777,540 shares, the aviation issues made advances ranging from fractions to six points. The rest of the list, encountering feeble support late in the session, reduced early losses somewhat. At the close there were 396 declines and 141 advances, with 133 issues unchanged from the preceding day.

Trading was dull on the decline but picked up slightly when the rally began.

Martin, Curtiss-Wright, United Aircraft, Douglas, Boeing, and North American Aviation were prominent, with Martin and Douglas, each up more than two points, the biggest gainers among the active issues. Wright-Aero, a relatively inactive stock, soared 6¾ points.

Earnings Reports a Factor.

Satisfactory earnings report and the support accorded the "navy" bill were chief factors in the better demand for aviation issues, according to observers. The news that a British commission was en route to the United States to look over airplane plants, with a possible view to placing armament orders, also helped bolster this group.

In the morning the main body of industrial shares was weak, sharp losses in the "blue chip" issues accentuating the decline. Carrier and utility issues declined moderately.

Traders observed that the support which later developed came shortly after the announcement from Washington, D. C., that a conference looking toward the financing of utilities was being held.

Steel Issues Come Back.

Steel shares showed good recuperative power, although the pessimism pervading the Iron Age weekly review militated against the group. Closing prices, where not at the preceding close, as were Bethlehem and Republic, showed only minor fractional losses. United States Steel common slipped ⅛ point in active trading.

Chrysler in the motors managed to gain ⅛ point, while General Motors and Yellow Truck steadied, closing unchanged.

Railroad shares were mostly lower, despite the news that the railroads would ask for an additional 5 per cent boost in freight rates. An estimated sharp drop in car loadings over last year depressed sentiment.

Utilities showed a slight rise on the average, several closing with small fractional gains. American Telephone advanced 1⅛ points.

PROFITS OF 7,442 BANKS DECLINE 14 MILLION IN 1937

Washington, D. C., April 20.—[Special.]—Net profits after recoveries and charge offs, but before dividends, of the 7,442 insured state banks which are not members of the federal reserve system were about $14,000,000 less in 1937 than in 1936, but common and preferred cash dividends declared and interest paid on capital amounted to about $24,000,000, the same as in 1936, the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation announced today.

Net profits after recoveries and charge-offs but before dividends amounted to $44,000,000, against $58,000,000 in 1936. The 1937 profits amounted to 4¼ per cent on total capital account. The smaller net profits were due chiefly to a decrease in profits on securities from $37,000,000 in 1936 to $18,000,000 in 1937, the FDIC reported.

Total current operating expenses were $221,000,000 in 1937 compared with $211,000,000 in 1936. The largest proportionate increase was shown by takes [other than on income], which were 14 per cent heavier than in 1936.

FAUCETT TO TAKE OVER PERU LINES OF PAN-AMERICAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, April 20.—The Faucett Aviation company will take over operation of all domestic air routes of the Aerovias Peruanas, Peruvian subsidiary of Pan-American Grace Airways, under an agreement signed today. It will now fly the routes formerly flown by both lines.

The Faucett company is one of the pioneer independent air lines in Latin America. It was founded by Elmer J. Faucett of Savona, N. Y. The move was designed to reduce operating expenses.

The Faucett capital was increased from 450,000 sols [currently about $110,250] to 1,000,000 sols [about $245,000], of which the Pan-American interests will hold 20 per cent.

The Pan-American interests in the future will be confined to international service. Faucett carried 18,000 passengers and Aerovias Peruanas 8,000 within Peru in 1937. Faucett's air fleet consists entirely of Peruvian built planes developed from the original Stinson Detroiter design.

Forest Park Trust Repays Another 5 Pct. of Deposits

A payment of $64,400 or 5 per cent to depositors of the defunct Forest Park Trust and Savings bank was announced yesterday by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett. This is the fifth return, increasing repayments to 30 per cent. Ordinary liquidation of assets produced 3.34 per cent for the current dividend.

Canada's Exports Expand to $1,070,217,328 in Year

Montreal, Que., April 20.—[Special.]—Canada's exports were valued at $1,070,217,328 in the fiscal year ending March 31, an increase of 0.9 per cent from the preceding period and the highest value attained since 1930, it was announced by the Dominion bureau of statistics today.

Are You Better Fixed in Year? 93% Say 'No'

Recent economic developments have adversely affected fourteen of every fifteen average Chicago citizens, preliminary results of a questionnaire submitted to 10,000 Chicago residents by the American Federation of Investors indicated yesterday.

Dr. Hugh S. Magill, president of the federation, said that replies to the questionnaire were received from a typical cross-section of the city's population, including housewives, teachers, clerks, mechanics, lawyers, salesmen, executives, accountants, bond salesmen, and engineers.

93½ Per Cent Votes "No."

Approximately 93½ per cent of persons sending in answers replied in the negative to the question: "Are you better off than you were a year ago?" The remaining 6½ per cent said they were either better off or that their economic status had not changed.

Ninety-two per cent of persons answering the inquiry said they have experienced difficulty in the last year in finding investments with a reasonable degree of safety and a reasonable return. The others reported having no difficulty in finding suitable investments.

The tabulation of replies also showed that 61 per cent of persons replying admitted a lack of knowledge of the fact that the federal government's grants, subsidies, and benefits would total more than four billion dollars for the fiscal year ended June 30.

Purpose of Questionnaire.

Dr. Magill said that one purpose of the questionnaire was to learn if persons affected by recent economic developments would aid in a national nonpartisan movement to safeguard the interests of the average citizen possessing property in form. He said that 96 per cent of the persons replying indicated they would aid such a movement.

The federation recently started a movement to add a million members to its organization. The federation, with headquarters in Chicago, is a nonpartisan organization, incorporated in Illinois, for the protection of the nation's investors.

OLD AGE CARDS LOST AT RATE OF 5,000 EACH DAY

Account numbers with the old age insurance bureau of the social security board are being lost at the rate of 5,000 daily, John J. Corson, acting director of old age insurance, said yesterday at a meeting of field office managers of region 6, comprising Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin.

Duplicates are issued, after identification is established, by the bureau's staf of 4,000 employés at Baltimore, Md., he said. Duplication of names also presents a problem to the bureau. As an illustration, Corson said there are 350 Robert Taylors to whom account numbers have been issued, but only one is the motion picture actor.

COMMODITY CREDIT CORPORATION TO SELL $200,000,000 NOTES

Washington, D. C., April 20.—[Special.]—The Commodity Credit corporation, the government agency which makes crop loans to facilitate the marketing of agricultural products, on Monday will offer $200,000,000 of its notes, maturing in not less than eighteen months. This will mark the first step by the corporation to financing its own activities since congress provided for the guarantee of its notes by the government.

The announcement was made by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, which has been supplying most of the funds to finance the activities of the Commodity Credit corporation and to which the latter owes about $100,000,000.

The Commodity Credit corporation's notes, issued against its capital stock of $100,000,000, will be offered by the secretary of the treasury through the federal reserve bank. Holders of $60,000,000 Commodity Credit corporation's collateral trust notes, maturing May 2, 1938, will be allowed to exchange these notes at par for the new notes.

TRIBUNE INVESTORS' GUIDE WILL ANSWER QUERIES ON BROKERS

Because of the widespread public interest in the financial standing and reputation of investment banking houses and brokerage firms stirred by the failure of Hoaglund & Allum Co., Inc., THE TRIBUNE Investors' Guide announces that it is prepared to supply reader inquirers with information on such concerns.

Some firms willingly supply their customers with financial statements. Others are less liberal with such information. In most instances, however, it is possible to obtain sufficient data on reputable concerns on which the customer may make a decision.

For many years THE TRIBUNE Investors' Guide has urged investors to investigate not only the stock or bond considered for purchase, but the standing of the broker or investment house as well before making a commitment. Inquiries should be addressed to the Investors' Guide, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and should be accompanied by self-addressed, stamped envelope for return.

TREND IN STEEL IS DOWNWARD, SAYS IRON AGE

Pointing out that sales in the first half of April not only failed to show a gain over the rate last month, but were lower in some instances, Iron Age yesterday said if there is any definite trend in the steel business it is downward. Sales declines range from little to as much as 25 per cent, it said. This week's output is estimated at 32 per cent of capacity.

"The nearby tendency in ingot production is more likely to be down than up in view of greatly restricted demand from major consumers," the review said. "Lack of automobile and railroad buying are, in fact, the chief factors in the poor showing the steel industry is making. Building construction is taking steel in fair quantities, although much below that of a year ago. The farm implement and tractor industry, the oil industry, and tin can manufacturers are responsible for a good share of current orders."

Steel scrap markets continue to reflect the unfavorable steel outlook for the immediate future, said Iron Age. Its scrap composite price is down to $12.25 a ton, the level of August, 1935, and $9.67 below the 1937 peak.

CENTRALIA OIL FLOW SLASHED; ALL TANKS FULL

Centralia, Ill., April 20.—(AP)—Prolific production of wells in the new Centralia field put operators in the predicament tonight of having more oil than available storage facilities could handle. Two pipe line companies, choked to capacity, limited production of each well to 20 barrels a day.

The restriction not only cut the flow of oil but made certain there would be a sharp reduction in future royalty checks. The orders came shortly after thirteen town lot owners received checks of from $183 to $831 covering production of three wells since March 1.

The situation also evoked the possibility a petroleum pro rata law would become necessary in Illinois. William Bell of Robinson, Illinois' representative on the interstate oil compact commission, said he thought such a law might be requested of the legislature.

Three Long Nonstop Air Services to Start Sunday

Three overland nonstop flights, said to be the longest in the United States, will be started Sunday by the United Air Lines and the Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc. The longest will be the 915 mile flight from Denver to Chicago on United's coast to coast planes. The second will be a 895 mile flight from Chicago to Cheyenne on United's westbound, overnight coast to coast plane. The third will be TWA's 875 mile flight from New York to St. Louis on its coast to coast plane.

Bethlehem Steel Reported Seeking United Shipyards

New York, April 20.—[Special.]—Bethlehem Steel corporation is negotiating for purchase of United Shipyards, Inc., Wall street heard today. It was reported auditors representing Bethlehem had been checking over books of the shipbuilding firm and that a tentative offer of $10,000,000 for the entire property had been made.

Insurance Plan for Safe Driver Gets Approval

An order approving the safe driver award plan for automobile insurance in Illinois was announced yesterday by Ernest Palmer, Illinois insurance superintendent. Regulations covering the writing of this type of insurance will be issued in a few days.

A majority of the companies that will participate in the plan will return to drivers who have had no accidents during a year 15 per cent of the premiums. It was originally proposed to add 5 per cent to the premiums and then return at the end of the year 15 per cent of the premium to drivers who had had no accidents, making a net saving of 10 per cent. This proposal was dropped.

Big Savings Predicted.

A. E. Spottke, New York, representing the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, estimated at a hearing on the plan recently at Springfield that its adoption would save Illinois drivers $505,000 annually in premiums and would reduce the cost of individual policies by as much as $6.75 a year in Chicago and about $3.30 a year in rural communities.

The Continental Casualty company, a leading Chicago company, which resigned from the national bureau because of its opposition to the safe driver award plan, said yesterday that it will give a 15 per cent reduction in advance to those persons it insures.

Argument Against Plan.

Continental has contended that experience has shown the safe driver plan is not satisfactory because each driver asserts he is right in an accident. The average motorist, the company says, objects to being penalized in insurance rates for an accident for which he believes he is not responsible.

The state insurance department yesterday undertook a study of methods of automobile financing. It submitted a list of 23 questions to all companies transacting automobile insurance other than bodily injury in Illinois.

GROUP IS FORMED TO PUSH CHANGE IN BANK LIABILITY

Formation of a statewide committee to work for the elimination of double liability on state bank stocks was announced yesterday by Floyd E. Thompson, former chief justice of the Illinois Supreme court, who will be chairman of the committee.

The committee will support the state constitutional amendment adopted by the general assembly and aimed at providing the change sought. The amendment is to be voted on in the November election. Offices have been established at 127 West Madison street. Unless the amendment is adopted, the state banking system is doomed, Thompson said.

"It has become practically impossible to organize a state bank in a small community," he added. "More than eighty state banks have surrendered their charters since March, 1933."

INCOME TAXES OF INDIVIDUALS SHOW DECLINE

Washington, D. C., April 20.—(AP)—The treasury disclosed today that failure of March income tax collections to fulfill expectations was due largely to an unexpected decline in individual income tax payments.

March collections from corporations increased $25,904,294 to $303,100,300, but collections from individuals declined $8,171,969 to $403,634,814. Total income taxes of $706,735,114 were at least $25,000,000 below treasury estimates.

Reflecting the business recession, March collections of excise taxes declined $9,109,000 to $129,219,000 this March, compared with the same month a year ago.

BERLIN, April 20.—Sanitary police here are fighting hoof and mouth disease among cows, which is spreading throughout the city. There are about 800 dairies with their cows on premises in all sections of Berlin, including those heavily populated. The disease appeared in the suburbs about two months ago, but did not reach the center of the city until recently. No reports regarding the disease appear in the press.

FIRST QUARTER PROFIT REPORTS ARE IRREGULAR

Barnsdall and Corn Products Gain.

Atlantic Refining	.71	.69
Corn Products Refining	.98	.70
Kimberly-Clark	.89	.93
Barnsdall	.41	.26
Conde Nast	.63	.49

Larger first quarter profits were reported yesterday by several corporations. Smaller earnings were reported by a number of other companies and some showed losses for the period.

Barnsdall Oil, Corn Products Refining, Atlantic Refining, and Conde Nast Publications had larger profits than in the first three months of 1937. The results of William Wrigley Jr. company, Gillette Safety Razor, Houdaille-Hershey, Kimberly Clark, and Shell Union Oil were less satisfactory than a year ago. Losses were incurred by John R. Thompson, Sharon Steel, and American Maize Products.

Barnsdall Reports Gain.

Profit of $923,797, equal to 41 cents a share, was announced for Barnsdall by William Dewey Loucks, chairman. Profit was $591,155, or 26 cents a share, in the first three months of 1937.

With an abundant supply of corn available at low prices, Corn Products Refining company earned a first quarter profit of $2,922,793, or 98 cents a share. Operating on a narrower profit margin in 1937, the company had a first quarter profit of $2,205,500, or 70 cents a share.

Atlantic Refining company's first quarter profit of $2,048,000, or 71 cents a share, compared with profit of $1,993,000, or 69 cents a share, a year ago.

With a first quarter profit of $213,841, or 63 cents a share, Conde Nast Publications recorded a substantial improvement over the profit of $166,720, or 49 cents a share, in the corresponding 1937 period.

Wrigley Profit Lower.

William Wrigley Jr. company's profit of $1,433,823 was substantially under the $1,781,166 earned in the first quarter last year, the per share net amounting to 73 cents against 90 cents.

Gillette Safety Razor reported for the March quarter and the twelve months period ended March 31. The quarterly profit was $755,864, equal to 19 cents a common share, against $1,254,720, or 44 cents a share, last year. Profits for the twelve month period totaled $4,001,304, equal to $1.25 a share, compared with $5,003,243, or $1.74 a share, in the preceding twelve months.

Profits of the Houdaille-Hershey company fell to $29,328 in the first quarter as a result of the depression in the automobile industry. In the corresponding period of 1937 the company earned $627,113, or 66 cents a share on the B stock. The company manufactures shock absorbers and other automotive products.

Kimberly-Clark Earns Less.

Kimberly-Clark corporation's first quarter profit was $435,232, or 89 cents a share, compared with $451,561, or 93 cents, last year. The company is one of the country's largest manufacturers of paper and allied products.

Shell Union Oil corporation had net income of $2,907,447 for the quarter compared with $3,647,479 a year ago.

John R. Thompson company, operator of a national chain of restaurants, had a loss of $84,639 in the first three months of the year. It operated at a loss of $142,494 in the corresponding months last year. Taxes and increased operating costs more than offset economies resulting from lower prices on goods purchased, President John R. Thompson Jr. said.

American Maize Products lost $483,612 in the quarter compared with a profit of $635,632, or $2.12 a share, a year ago.

Sharon Steel incurred a loss of $151,909, against a $475,778 profit in the first 1937 quarter.

Business Firm Heads Report Varied Trends

Milk, oil, and steel were among the subjects discussed yesterday by executives of a number of leading American companies in their annual meetings with their stockholders. For the most part reports made by company officials told of poorer business now as compared with last year.

Donald W. Douglas, who reports aircraft outlook bright.

An exception among the adverse reports was that made by Theodore G. Montague, president of the Borden company, who said in New York that the outlook for the company is fair.

"The fluid milk business has become profitable in the last two months," Montague said. "Our ice cream business is gratifying and volume for the first quarter was ahead of last year and profits for the full year will be at least as large as in 1937."

March Improvement Reported.

Montague said that the company started off the year with poor January earnings, that February was somewhat better than February, 1937, and that there was a sizable improvement in March over March, 1937.

The stockholders elected Harold W. Comfort, a vice president, a director to succeed John M. McConnell, who has retired.

A bright spot among the reports was that of Donald W. Douglas, president of the Douglas Aircraft corporation, who told stockholders at the annual meeting at Santa Monica, Cal., that the company's outlook is the best in years. He declared that the sharp expansion of earnings during the three months ended Feb. 28, 1938, has continued during the second quarter of the company's fiscal year.

Hopeful of a Dividend.

He said that at present there are no clouds in the sky for the company, either industrially or otherwise, adding that its plants are having no labor troubles. Douglas said he was hopeful the company would be able to pay a dividend this fiscal year.

J. M. Lovejoy, president of the Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware, told Seaboard stockholders that although the Mexican government has taken over the company's nonproducing properties in Mexico which are under lease to the Mexican government, it has not taken over its producing companies at Panuco and Toteco. The pipe line connecting the two properties has been expropriated. Since Mexico took over the foreign oil companies on March 18, Lovejoy stated, production at the Seaboard wells has been at 50 per cent of capacity. He said "no progress has been made toward adequate payment for the expropriated properties."

Crucible's Operations Discussed.

F. G. Hufnagel, chairman of the board of the Crucible Steel company, said his company's present operations are too low to be profitable. However, Crucible's business has shown a continuous though slight upturn during the last several weeks, he continued. He declared that what industry needs is "a proper tax bill" and added that so far as Crucible is concerned the excess profits tax has had a bad effect.

Hufnagel said he believes customers' inventories to be low and that they cannot expand their output without buying.

Saying that he does not believe the bottom of the current business recession has been reached, Walter D. Fuller, president of the Curtis Publishing company, said it is clear that the company will have less business printed in its magazine this spring than in the spring of 1937. He said the recession is far deeper than most people realize.

Outlook for Conde Nast.

Conde Nast, president of Conde Nast Publications, Inc., said an increase in earnings would be shown in the first quarter because of the increase in advertising revenues of one of its publications. He added that he did not believe the publication would be able to run counter to the general business trend throughout the year.

John R. Williams, president of the Electric Storage Battery company, told the stockholders that the company had not had as poor a start for the first quarter of the year since 1932 or 1933.

"The difficulties that confront us are common with other lines of business," he said.

William S. Paley, president of the Columbia Broadcasting company, told stockholders that technical developments and plans for commercial television are proceeding quite satisfactorily. Columbia is preparing to experiment with a new high power television transmitter to be located in the Chrysler building, New York City.

N. Y. EXCHANGE BARS MEMBERS' PUBLIC REPORTS

Confidence Building Move Hits Snag.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 20.—The New York Stock exchange announced today that it has denied permission to members to make public statements of their financial condition. The requests were made by several member firms which desired to counteract the effects of the Richard Whitney & Co. failure, which was considered a severe blow to the confidence of investors.

Exchange officials explained that denial of the requests was made as a "matter of policy." It was reported in financial circles, however, that the real explanation lies in the opposition to the move that has developed among the smaller member houses. These houses, it is said, believed that the publication of financial statements by the large member houses would give them an unfair advantage over their smaller competitors.

Move Comes as Surprise.

The exchange ruling barring publishing of financial statements came as a surprise. It had been believed that the exchange would encourage every move designed to counteract the ill effects of the Whitney failure and the subsequent disclosures that Whitney, a former president of the stock exchange, now in prison, had appropriated securities of his customers for his own use.

The move to publish statements as a means of restoring confidence was led by a number of prominent exchange houses. Their formal applications for permission to take the step had been filed with the exchange authorities in the belief that immediate approval would be given. It was believed by some brokers that the action might eventually lead to the regular publication of statements by all houses, a practice now followed by all state and national banks.

Customers May Demand Data.

Since the Whitney failure the exchange has instructed members to furnish to customers on request statements of their financial condition. The proposal to broaden this ruling to permit publication of statement has not been abandoned, it is reported. A reversal of the present stand may occur after the new administration of the exchange takes office next month.

The big commission houses which had little voice in the management of the exchange heretofore will wield a greater influence under the new administration. They have been behind the move for publication.

New York Curb—2.

The first attempt to organize the curb brokers into a definite group was made in 1908 when a few of the brokers formed the New York Curb agency. From this nucleus, the New York Curb market, or New York Curb Market association, as it was sometimes called, was organized in 1911.

The association established offices, a listing department, and provided a place where information could be obtained on companies listed for trading. Regular trading hours were established.

The growth of the market and the increasing trafic in the New York financial district prompted the decision to move indoors. The curb's own building was ready for occupancy in 1921, and an addition was built ten years later. Trading now is conducted in a large, modern room five stories high. It has 20,023 square feet of floor space. Formal clearing facilities were organized and the mechanism of the market perfected soon after the move indoors.

WHEAT CLOSES HIGHER ON EARLY LIVERPOOL RISE

Unexpected early strength in Liverpool and reports of a material improvement in the foreign demand for American cash wheat resulted in a stronger undertone in the Chicago market yesterday. The May option closed ⅝ cent higher. The new crop months were disposed to drag, due to the weekly weather bureau report, which indicated there had been smaller damage to the Texas and Oklahoma crops by the freezing weather early in April than had been expected. These futures closed ¼ to ⅜ cent higher.

Export sales of about 750,000 bushels of American cash wheat were reported.

Private reports of additional rains in Australia led to a reaction in Liverpool futures which closed ¼ to ⅝ cent a bushel lower, after an early advance of as much as 1¾ cents.

A new factor was injected into the wheat market yesterday by reports of black rust in the extreme southern part of the Texas wheat area.

Houses with export connections were free buyers of corn futures yesterday and the trade had reports that as much as a million bushels had been sold for export, largely to the United Kingdom. A small upturn in the market early was followed by a reaction and closing trades were unchanged from Tuesday.

Short covering was largely responsible for an advance of 1½ cents a bushel in May rye. Oats closed unchanged to ⅛ cent lower with trading mainly in the way of changing between the various deliveries.

COTTON

Cotton prices were higher in the early trading yesterday, in sympathy with Liverpool and reports that Indian and Egyptian acreage might be reduced, but weakness in securities and liquidation by holders of May contracts caused a reaction later. Closing prices on the Chicago Board of Trade were .05 cent lower to .05 cent higher, and other American markets were .01 to .04 cent a pound lower.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to .05 cent lower with New Orleans, 9.05 cents; New York, 8.84 cents, and Galveston and Houston, 8.65 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Commodities

Commodity markets were irregular yesterday, with price changes narrow. Trading was dull in most of the leading staples. Hides, cottonseed oil, sugar, lead, and wool tops were fairly firm, but rubber, cocoa, copper, tin, and coffee futures were somewhat easier.

Hide futures closed 0.08 to 0.12 cent higher, with sales totaling 7,120,000 pounds. The June delivery closed at its high for the day of 9.25 cents a pound, up 0.11 cent from Tuesday's close, after touching a low of 9 cents early in the session.

Crude rubber futures closed 0.06 cent lower to 0.05 cent higher.

Cottonseed oil was steady on commission house buying, and closing prices were 0.01 cent lower to 0.07 cent higher. Cocoa futures lost 0.05 to 0.08 cent a pound at the close.

Metals were mostly lower, except lead futures, which closed unchanged to 0.05 cent higher. Copper futures slipped 0.08 to 0.10 cent a pound and tin futures were off 0.35 cent a pound, with no sales made. Zinc futures were unchanged.

The export price of copper dropped to 9.90 cents from 10.22 cents on Tuesday as the European demand disappeared. Domestic prices were unchanged at 10 cents a pound.

Raw silk closed unchanged to 1½ cents lower. Coffee futures eased under liquidation to close 0.05 to 0.14 cent lower. Sugar futures were irregular early but firmed later to close 0.01 to 0.03 cent a pound higher.

The Dow-Jones commodity futures index advanced 0.01 to close at 50.42. The Associated Press weighted index of thirty-five wholesale commodity prices, based on 1926 as 100, declined to 67.67 from 67.71 on Tuesday.

CALL 3 MORE MORGAN MEN IN WHITNEY CASE

T. W. Lamont Will Testify Next Week.

Washington, D. C., April 20.—(AP)—The securities commission decided today to call three more partners of J. P. Morgan & Co. as witnesses in its inquiry into the failure of Richard Whitney & Co. Thomas W. Lamont, Arthur M. Anderson, and Charles D. Dickey will be summoned to testify next week either in New York or Washington.

Thomas W. Lamont.

Francis Bartow, also a Morgan partner, related today that he had told Anderson and Dickey about Richard Whitney's financial troubles on March 6.

It also was disclosed Whitney's firm received $242,349 in brokerage commissions from Morgan between January, 1934, and March, 1938.

Gerhart A. Gesell, SEC counsel, had asked Bartow to tell of events leading up to the collapse of the Whitney firm on March 8 and Whitney's subsequent sentence to a prison term for misappropriation of customers' securities.

Reports He's "in a Jam."

Bartow said that on Saturday, March 5, Richard Whitney interrupted him at an afternoon bridge game at the Links club and asked for the loan of $280,000. Whitney, he testified, took a large sheet of paper from his pocket and said, "I'm in a jam."

"I said, 'Is your idea to borrow money?—if it is I will not agree to it'—I think I was a little impatient."

Whitney then started to tell him of charges of misconduct which were to come before the stock exchange business conduct committee the following Monday morning at 10 a. m. At that point, the witness said, "I said 'Stop right there—I am not the proper person for you to talk to—and at that he folded up his paper and left."

Admits His Wrongdoing.

Whitney came back "a considerable time" later and saw him again, Bartow said, and this time told him he had wrongfully pledged customers' securities.

Bartow continued: "I said that's serious and he said, 'It's criminal.'"

Bartow said he then told Whitney he "wouldn't discuss it any further," but nevertheless, Whitney told him that if he could borrow $280,000 it would enable him to restore securities he had misappropriated and then he could tell the stock exchange committee there were no "irregularities in my office." That evening, Bartow said, he consulted John W. Davis, attorney for the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

"Mr. Davis said neither I nor any one else could or should do anything—and that any one who did would run the risk of actions that would be misunderstood."

Gay Refuses Delay.

Later that evening at a meeting at the Metropolitan club, Charles R. Gay, president of the exchange, "emphatically" refused, Bartow said, to postpone the business conduct committee's meeting. The following day, Sunday, March 6, Bartow said he motored to see his senior partner, J. P. Morgan, at his Glen Cove, Long Island, home and told him what he knew.

"Mr. Morgan was naturally shocked beyond measure and said there was no course for us but to follow the advice of counsel," Bartow said.

CELOTEX BUYING OF CERTAIN-TEED STOCK APPROVED

Court Referee Rejects Minority Charge.

New York, April 20.—[Special.]—Referee Harry C. Kane today approved the acquisition by the Celotex corporation from Phoenix Securities corporation of 109,360 common and 9,496 preferred shares of Certain-teed Products corporation, for which Celotex will deliver to Phoenix 43,744 Celotex common shares and $569,760 in cash.

Referee Kane was appointed by Judge Pecora of the New York County Supreme court, to review the fairness of the acquisition, which was challenged by minority stockholders.

"Upon all the evidence," he said, "I respectfully report that the price proposed to be paid by Celotex [for the Certain-teed shares] was not unfairly arrived at and cannot be said to have resulted from any inequitable conduct."

Finds Board "Independent."

He also reviewed the question as to whether the Celotex board of directors was independent and disinterested, and concluded that "Celotex has been represented by a majority of independent and disinterested officers and directors." Finding also that a majority of Celotex stockholders had approved the acquisition, he said "the court should not disturb this transaction, since an overwhelming majority of the stockholders of Celotex have expressly approved the deal.

Walter S. Mack Jr., president of Phoenix Securities corporation, commented on Celotex at the annual meeting of Phoenix stockholders today. He said Celotex corporation had large sales in March and that improvement in the building trades was expected to improve its earnings.

Certain-teed Cuts Expenses.

Certain-teed corporation was engaged in an "uphill fight," he said, but added that the management had cut $600,000 from expenses in 1937 and hoped to reduce 1938 expenses by an additional $500,000.

With respect to Loft, Inc., another company in which Phoenix has an interest, he said the management was endeavoring to get store leases down by $200,000 to $300,000 annually, and that the reduction already effected was $115,000 annually. Some of the poorer stores had been closed, he said, and the officers were engaged in the work of rehabilitating the others and of testing improvements and additions of products at various locations.

Robert R. Guthrie, Pierpont M. Hamilton, and E. A. Leroy Jr. were elected directors of Phoenix, raising the board to seven members.

ALUMINUM CO.'S MONOPOLY LOST IN 1909, IT CLAIMS

New York, April 20.—[Special.]—The Aluminum Company of America has not been a monopoly in any sense since its patents for cheap production of aluminum expired in 1909, William Watson Smith, Pittsburgh attorney, told Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey today.

Watson outlined the company's defense in the government's suit to dissolve it as a monopoly, and Walter Rice, special assistant attorney general, appeared to outline the charges the government intends to prove when the case goes to trial in about a month.

Watson admitted that up to 1909 the company was a monopoly. But, he said, in 1912 the company signed a consent decree restraining it from carrying on any practices in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. He admitted the company is the only American producer of aluminum, but said it has keen competition from British, French, German, and Swiss aluminum companies and competes with producers of copper, brass, iron, and steel.

REHIRING OF 141 STRIKERS ASKED IN NLRB REPORT

Reinstatement with back pay of 141 workers who participated in a strike last March at the plant of the Stewart Die Casting corporation, 4535 Fullerton avenue, was recommended yesterday in a report by Henry J. Kent, trial examiner of the national labor relations board.

Kent began hearings last January on complaints brought against the company by employés discharged as a result of strike activities. Included among the workers for whom reinstatement is recommended as soon as business conditions permit are several who participated in the sitdown strike in the plant.

Under Kent's recommendations employés would be reimbursed for wages lost from the expiration of the strike to the date of the offer of reinstatement. The amount accrued to date is estimated at $70,000. If the company does not comply, the case will go to the labor board.

U. S. Dollar Moves Higher in Second Day of Rally

In the second day of a rally from recent weakness, the United States dollar advanced in terms of leading European currencies in foreign exchange transactions yesterday. The French franc lost 0.00⅛ of a cent, closing at 3.15 cents. Engagement of $5,800,000 of gold in Japan for shipment to the United States was reported by the New York Federal Reserve bank.

ROOMETTE CARS WILL BE USED BY PENNSY ROAD

Nine Streamline Trains to Start June 15.

One of the new streamlined cars which the Pennsylvania railroad will place in service on its nine streamlined trains, including the Broadway Limited, to go into operation June 15, is receiving a daily trial between Chicago and New York, it was disclosed yesterday.

The car, the City of Baltimore, is a roomette car, with eighteen small rooms in place of the conventional open section sleepers now in general use. Built by the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company, the cars that will make up the nine streamlined trains are constructed of high tensile alloy steels, which permit a savings in weight. There will be nine different types of sleeping, lounge, and observation cars, and a new style diner.

Will Make Faster Run.

The leaders in the group of new trains will be the two Broadway Limiteds, which will have their running time between Chicago and New York reduced by half an hour to sixteen hours. The Twentieth Century Limited of the New York Central also will make the Chicago-New York run in sixteen hours.

The other streamliners will be the two Generals, Chicago to New York; the two Liberty Limiteds, Chicago to Washington, and three Spirit of St. Louis trains, New York to St. Louis.

Other Features of Trains.

The Broadway Limited trains have sleeping cars of the bedroom type exclusively. The other trains in the new fleet, however, will have some open section Pullmans. Ease in riding will be helped by the use of special trucks and a new type of tight-lock coupler and rubber draft gear.

Among the novelties will be chimes for the summoning of the porter in place of the present shrill bells. Telephones will link all the cars in the trains to the engine and to the front and rear.

Handy, who is 49 years old, will continue as the senior executive officer. Part of the administrative duties, however, will pass to the new president, G. H. Niemeyer, native Chicagoan, who has been with the firm thirty-eight years, starting as office boy.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

So you want to be a farmer! For first-hand information about farm life from January to December, read "Day by Day on the Farm," by Frank Ridgway, Tribune agricultural editor. Its 94 pages and 58 photos tell a fascinating story of the farm. On sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 25 cents. Postpaid, 32 cents.

Buy Pure Bred Hefers.

April 20, 1938.

THE second step in establishment of a high grade pure bred herd of beef cattle was taken this week by THE TRIBUNE's experimental farms. Ten pure bred Aberdeen-Angus hefers have been bought by the Du Page county farm from Indiana breeders. It is expected that the animals will be delivered to the farm by tomorrow night.

Clarence Thurow, who bought the hefers, said the new animals would make a companion foundation herd to the herd of black cattle started at the Fox river farm in the fall of 1935. The hefers will be mated to Tribune Colonel or Black Scout, two young pure bred Angus bulls kept in the herd managed by Mr. Thurow.

Bought at Auction

The cattle were bought at two public sales held at La Fayette, Ind., the first of the week. Five of them are from the Marshall farm's herd of prize winning cattle, owned by Henry Marshall, president of the International Live Stock exposition. These five animals are registered with the American Aberdeen-Angus association of Chicago under the following names and numbers.

Mabel Erica, M. 525675, considered the best of the five bought at the Marshall sale Monday. Envious Marshall III., the bull that sired the sire of Mabel, won the grand championship bull award at the International in 1932.

Myrtle Queen, M. 525679, another outstanding animal in the Marshall group of hefers, which has winning blood in her family. Her dam, Queen of Rosemere 210th, is from the herd owned by Congdon & Battles, Yakima, Wash., exhibitors of more International grand champions than any other Angus breeders in the United States.

Revolution's Erica J. II., 520454, which has in her veins blood of old Blackcap Revolution, the 1923 International grand champion Angus bull.

Irene Marshall, M. 519571.

McHenry Princess, M. 533840.

From Champion Families.

The other five hefers were bought at the Indiana Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' annual spring sale Tuesday. They, too, are from champion families. They are registered under the following names and numbers:

Blackbird of Colemere V., 534175.

Kola's Mistress C. S., 519701.

Bendavis' Blackbird II., 532257.

Blackbird Bessie B. R. [number not yet assigned].

Erelite Energy, 516458.

W. H. Tomhave, secretary of the Angus association, says that in the family trees of every one of the ten hefers bought by the Du Page county farm there are to be found the blood lines of Earl Marshall, 183780, the bull that sired more International grand champion bulls and females than any other sire in the history of the breed.

Special preparations were being made at the farm today for receiving the hefers that are being trucked from Lafayette. Workers will give the animals special care to keep them in good health. All of them have been tested and found free of tuberculosis. This precaution is taken not only to protect the Angus, but to avoid infecting other animals on the farm.

National Cash Register.

Investors' Guide: I notice that National Cash Register stock was more stable than any other issue during the last break in stock prices. Would this not be a good stock to hold if business recovers from the present slump? Please give me a report on this stock.—J. L. P.

Answer: The National Cash Register company is one of the leading manufacturers of cash registers in the world. It also is an important producer of accounting machines, credit files, and other equipment used in offices and stores.

Business of the company is worldwide. Foreign business last year accounted for 46 per cent of total sales volume, and the company's total investment in foreign companies and branches was increased by $790,996 during 1937 to $9,930,323.

Business recovery would, of course, be highly beneficial to this company, because its business is dependent on the degree of activity in retail trade, banking, and other lines of commerce and industry. About half of domestic sales is represented by replacements of existing machines.

Domestic sales for the first three months of 1938 were 28.77 per cent below the corresponding 1937 periods. Sharp declines in domestic sales also were recorded late in 1937, although both foreign and domestic sales showed improvement for the year as a whole. The record of earnings in recent years:

	Sales.	Net income.	Earned per share.
1937	$51,430,862	$3,920,067	$2.41
1936	42,977,337	2,865,341	1.76
1935	35,119,128	1,520,409	0.93
1934	30,024,326	1,448,882	0.89
1933	22,774,437	*579,624	*0.36
1932	16,475,548	*3,309,264	*2.09
1929	57,607,181	8,339,640	5.25

*Deficit.

The sole capitalization consists of 1,628,000 shares of no par capital stock, on which two dividends of 25 cents each have been paid so far this year. Dividends last year totaled $1.25 a share.

Total assets were $47,030,320 at the end of 1937. Current assets were $26,435,346 and current liabilities were $6,651,655. The stock sold as low as 5⅛ in 1933 and as high as 38⅞ in 1937.

Bendix Dividends.

P. A. E.: The Bendix Aviation corporation has not paid a dividend so far this year. Payments were $1 a share in 1937, $1.50 in 1936, 25 cents in 1935, nothing in 1933 and 1934, 40 cents in 1932, $1 in 1931, $2 in 1930, and $1.50 in 1929.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Wholesale markets for most cuts of meats and prices of animals at the stockyards were lower again yesterday despite reduced slaughtering throughout the country. Aggregate receipts of cattle, hogs, and sheep at the twenty leading markets in the first three days of this week were below any corresponding period on record.

Trading in steers and yearlings at Chicago dragged yesterday at weak to 15 cent lower prices, the bulk selling 15 to 25 cents under Monday. Only a few outstanding consignments of heavy steers escaped the break.

Most transactions in fat sheep and lambs were about steady with the average of Tuesday.

OWENS-ILLINOIS GLASS DIVIDEND SET AT 25 CENTS

Earned by Slight Margin, Levis Indicates.

The Owens-Illinois Glass company declared a dividend of 25 cents a share on its common stock yesterday. This is the same amount as was paid Feb. 15, and compares with two quarterly payments of 75 cents each and one of $1 last year after a two for one stock split in the spring. The one 1937 payment before the split was of $1.50 a share.

William E. Levis, president of the company, told stockholders at the annual meeting in Toledo that the 25 cent dividend was earned in the first quarter or it could not have been paid because of an agreement made when $15,000,000 of 3½ per cent debentures were issued last year that no dividend can be paid on the stock unless it is earned, as long as any of the debentures are outstanding. Levis indicated, however, that the dividend was earned by only a slight margin.

Byron-Jackson Payment Cut.

Byron-Jackson company, makers of pumps and tools, largely for the oil industry, reduced its May 16 dividend to 25 cents. It had paid 50 cents in each of the three preceding quarters, and disbursements in 1937 totaled $2.50, including $1 extra.

Directors of the Neptune Meter company took no action on the $2 quarterly dividend due on the $8 preferred stock at this time. In addition to meeting prefererd requirements the company paid 50 cents a share on its common stock last December and 60 cents in December, 1936.

R. H. Macey & Co. ordered a dividend of 50 cents a share for June 1. This is the same as previous quarterly payments, but the dividend usually payable March 1 was paid Jan. 24 before the end of the company's fiscal year to avoid the undistributed profits tax.
